Mandy Wright put her union politics ahead of our children's education.

- Instead of teaching her students, she called in "sick" for work and then went to a protest in Madison.[1]
- When it looked like Wisconsin might have a surplus, Mandy Wright wanted to spend that money on helping pay off the student loans of teachers rather than return that money to the taxpayers.[2]
- And once in Madison, Mandy Wright voted against cutting your property taxes because she thinks your tax dollars are better spent on more big government programs.[3]

Mandy Wright needs to learn our classrooms are no place for her politics:
