Hello all,

Just to keep everyone updated on the device we've been working with on [redacted] the device began communicating and locating at 2:07 AM EDT last night after the device was plugged in. As soon as the device was plugged in, many store and forward points from April were sent as well. Everything appears to operating properly as of now for this device. I will keep an eye on it in the meantime to ensure we see no further issues. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,
