

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF VIRGINIA

Alexandria Division

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA)

KEVIN PATRICK MALLORY,) Defendant)

UNDER SEAL

Criminal No. 1:17-~~ms~~-288

AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF AN APPLICATION FOR A CRIMINAL COMPLAINT AND ARREST WARRANT

I, Stephen Green, being first duly sworn, hereby depose and state as follows:

INTRODUCTION AND AGENT BACKGROUND

1. I am a Special Agent with the FBI, and have been since 2012. Since 2012, I have been assigned to the Washington Field Office, Counterintelligence Division. Since October 2016, I have investigated offenses involving espionage and the unlawful retention or disclosure of classified information.

2. I have training in the preparation, presentation, and service of criminal complaints, and have been involved in the investigation of numerous types of offenses against the United States. I have also been trained in the preparation, presentation, and service of arrest and search warrants, and have executed both arrest warrants and search warrants in previous cases.

3. The facts in this affidavit are based on my personal observations, my training and experience, and information obtained from other witnesses and law enforcement agents. This affidavit is intended to show merely that there is sufficient probable cause for the requested criminal complaint and warrant and does not set forth all of my knowledge about this matter.

PURPOSE OF AFFIDAVIT

4. Based on my training and experience and the facts as set forth in this affidavit, there is probable cause to believe that Mallory violated 18 U.S.C. § 1001 (Making Material False Statements) and 18 U.S.C. § 794 (Gathering or Delivering Defense Information to Aid a Foreign Government). I therefore make this affidavit in support of a criminal complaint charging Mallory with these offenses.

STATUTORY AUTHORITY AND DEFINITIONS

5. For the reasons set forth below, there is probable cause to believe that Mallory committed violations of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1001, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 794(a).

6. Under 18 U.S.C. § 1001, “whoever, in any matter within the jurisdiction of the executive, legislative or judicial branch of the Government of the United States, knowingly and willfully makes any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representation” shall be fined or imprisoned for a term of not more than five years.

7. Under 18 U.S.C. § 794(a), “whoever, with intent or reason to believe that it is to be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of a foreign nation, communicates, delivers or transmits, or attempts to communicate, deliver or transmit, to any foreign government . . . or to any representative, officer, agent, employee, subject, or citizen thereof . . . any document, writing, . . . or information relating to the national defense” shall be imprisoned “for any term of years or for life[.]”

8. Under Executive Order 13526, information in any form may be classified if it: (1) is owned by, produced by or for, or is under the control of the United States Government; (2) falls within one or more of the categories set forth in the Executive Order [Top Secret, Secret, and Confidential]; and (3) is classified by an original classification authority who determines that its unauthorized disclosure reasonably could be expected to result in damage to the national security.

9. Where such unauthorized disclosure could reasonably result in damage to the national security, the information may be classified as “Confidential” and must be properly safeguarded. Where such unauthorized disclosure could reasonably result in serious damage to the national security, the information may be classified as “Secret” and must be properly safeguarded. Where such unauthorized disclosure could reasonably result in exceptionally grave damage to the national security, the information may be classified as “Top Secret” and must be properly safeguarded.

10. Classified information of any designation may be shared only with persons determined by an appropriate United States Government official to be eligible for access, and who possess a “need to know.” Among other requirements, in order for a person to obtain a security clearance allowing that person access to classified United States Government information, that person is required to and must agree to properly protect classified information by not disclosing such information to persons not entitled to receive it, by not unlawfully removing classified information from authorized storage facilities, and by not storing classified information in unauthorized locations. If a person is not eligible to receive classified information, classified information may not be disclosed to that person. In order for a foreign government to receive access to classified information, the originating United States agency must determine that such release is appropriate.

PROBABLE CAUSE

Relevant Parties:

11. Kevin Patrick Mallory is a 60-year-old self-employed consultant with GlobalEx, LLC. He is a United States citizen who resides and works at 16621 Elk Run Court, Leesburg, Virginia 20176. Mallory graduated from Brigham Young University in 1981 with a B.A. degree in Political Science. After graduation, Mallory worked full time in an active duty military position until 1986. After he left active duty, Mallory continued his military service as an Army reservist. From 1987 through 1990, Mallory worked as a Special Agent for the State Department Diplomatic Security Service. From 1990 to 2013, Mallory worked at various government agencies, for U.S. cleared defense contractors, and on U.S. Army active duty deployments. Mallory was stationed in locations including Iraq, the People's Republic of China ("PRC"), Taiwan, and the greater Washington D.C. area. During much of that time, Mallory held a TOP SECRET security clearance. Mallory has language fluency in Mandarin Chinese.

12. In March and April 2017, while visiting Shanghai, China, Mallory met with an individual (hereinafter "PRC1") who represented himself to Mallory as working for a PRC think tank, the Shanghai Academy of Social Sciences ("SASS").

Chinese Institutions, Intelligence Services and Associated Terms:

13. According to its public website, SASS was "founded in 1958 and administered by the Municipal Government of Shanghai," and "receives most of its funds from the municipal government of Shanghai." According to a 2007 report on Chinese think tanks by the Center for Naval Analysis, a federally funded research and development center, SASS is one of the two largest and most established Shanghai think tanks. That report also noted "all provincial- and municipal-level think tanks are affiliated with the provincial or municipal government they serve. That government is their primary client.”

14. The FBI has described SASS as a leading think tank and distinguished academic institution that specializes in humanities and social sciences to include economics, history, philosophy, journalism, international relations, and sociology. PRC policy-makers utilize SASS publications. Since at least 2014, the FBI has assessed that the Shanghai State Security Bureau (“SSSB”), a sub-component of the Ministry of State Security (“MSS”), has a close relationship with SASS and uses SASS employees as spotters and assessors. FBI has further assessed that SSSB intelligence officers have also used SASS affiliation as cover identities.

15. The PRC intelligence services (“PRCIS”) encompass both the civilian and military components of Chinese intelligence programs. Civilian intelligence collection is handled by the MSS. The MSS can be described as an institution similar to the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency (“CIA”) combined under one intelligence directorate responsible for counter-intelligence, foreign intelligence, and political security. The MSS consists of a central ministry, provincial state security departments, and municipal state security bureaus, such as the Beijing State Security Bureau (“BSSB”) and the SSSB.

16. Among other things, the MSS and its regional bureaus are focused on identifying and influencing the foreign policy of other countries, including the United States. The MSS and its bureaus seek to obtain information on political, economic, and security policies that might affect the PRC, foreign intelligence operations directed at the PRC, and biographical profiles of foreign politicians and intelligence officers.

17. Additionally, the MSS and its bureaus are tasked with conducting clandestine and overt human source operations, of which the United States is a principal target. These operations use trained intelligence officers, as well as non-professional collectors called “cut-outs” or “co-optees.” A cut-out or co-optee is a person trusted by both the source and the intelligence officer who helps to provide a layer of insulation between an intelligence officer and a source, and thereby increases operational security. Cut-outs or co-optees can operate under a variety of covers, posing as diplomats, journalists, academics, or business people both at home and abroad. These individuals are tasked with spotting, assessing, targeting, collecting, and handling sources or assets with access to classified, open-source, proprietary, or sensitive information that the government of the PRC can utilize for economic, political, or military decision-making or advantage. Sources or assets are people who agree to help a foreign intelligence service by providing information to that service in response to taskings from foreign intelligence officers or agents.

18. PRCIS source operations tend to originate inside the PRC, where the PRCIS prefers to meet with its sources or assets. To facilitate continued meetings inside the PRC, the PRCIS will arrange and/or pay for travel and expenses. The PRCIS is known to pay their sources not only in cash, but also through other means, including business considerations or other types of assistance within the PRC.

Mallory’s U.S. Government Security Clearances:

19. As required for his various government positions, Mallory obtained a TOP SECRET security clearance, which was active during various assignments during his career. Mallory’s security clearance was terminated in October 2012 when he left government service.

20. Because Mallory held a security clearance and was assigned to various government agencies, both as an employee and as a private contractor, the U.S. Government entrusted Mallory with access to sensitive government materials, including information relating to the national defense that was closely held by the government (“National Defense Information”) and classified documents and materials.

Timeline of Mallory’s Contacts with Individuals He Believed To Be PRCIS Agents

21. On or about April 21, 2017, after a return flight to the United States from Shanghai, Mallory was subjected to a U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”) secondary search and interview by CBP at Chicago O’Hare Airport. Mallory was informed that CBP policy and procedure dictated that anyone crossing the border was subject to inspection, including an inspection of all of their belongings and electronic devices.

22. During the CBP interview, Mallory stated that he was outside the United States for one week, and he was returning from Shanghai. Mallory stated that it was a business trip as well as a father/son vacation. Mallory stated that he was currently a consultant for “GlobalEx,” which was a company he founded in 2010. While in the PRC on this trip, Mallory said he met with an individual whom he knew through Mallory’s church, and stated that he was consulting with this individual on anti-bullying/family safety development. Mallory also stated that he did not receive anything from this individual during his trip.

23. Mallory checked “no” in response to question no. 13 on the CBP Customs Declaration Form 6059b, which asked whether he was carrying over $10,000 in U.S. or foreign currency. CBP, however, found $16,500 U.S. Dollars (“USD”) in Mallory’s two carry-on bags. Mallory was allowed to amend his customs declaration to reflect the correct amount of money he was bringing into the United States.

24. On May 24, 2017, Mallory submitted to a voluntary interview with the FBI in Ashburn, Virginia. Mallory told the FBI agents he had been contacted on a social media site by a Chinese recruiter (hereinafter “PRC2”) in or around February 2017. Mallory recounted that, over the next several days, he had phone interviews with PRC2 and was introduced by PRC2 to a potential client (PRC1, discussed above). Mallory told the agents that he travelled to Shanghai separately in March 2017 and April 2017 to meet with PRC1 and PRC1's boss (hereinafter "PRC3").

25. Mallory told the agents that he had reached out in or around March 2017 to one or more former co-workers (to include two individuals, hereinafter "Employee1" and "Employee2") from a U.S. government agency (hereinafter "USGA1") requesting they help him get in contact with a specific department in USGA1. Mallory told agents that Employee1 and Employee2 did not facilitate any contact with the specific department, or anyone at USGA1, as he had requested. Mallory described to the agents how he again contacted Employee1 in April 2017 requesting help arranging a meeting with USGA1 to discuss people Mallory had recently met with in the PRC. Based on its investigation, the FBI knows this contact to have occurred after Mallory was subjected to a secondary search and interview by CBP.

26. Mallory told the agents that Employee1 facilitated a meeting for him at USGA1, which the FBI knows to have been on May 12, 2017, where he met with an employee of USGA1 (hereinafter "Employee3"). Recounting that meeting to the agents, Mallory said that he had informed Employee3 that he now believed that individuals he had met with in Shanghai (previously identified as PRC1 and PRC3) were affiliated with the PRCIS. Mallory stated that he had told Employee3 about receiving a communication device from PRC1, and that he had been trained in how to use it. According to Mallory, he had agreed with Employee3 to meet again with U.S. government employees to allow the device to be technically examined.

27. Mallory told the FBI Agents that he had come to the May 24, 2017 meeting voluntarily, expecting to meet with Employee3. Upon arrival, he was introduced to the FBI agents.

During the May 24 meeting with the FBI agents, Mallory signed a voluntary consent form permitting the FBI to search the device provided to Mallory by PRC1, which he had brought to the meeting. At that time, the FBI extracted an image of the device, and returned the device to Mallory. The FBI conducted further technical examination of the imaged copy of the device after the interview.

28. During the May 24, 2017 interview with the FBI, Mallory told the agents that during his most recent trip to the PRC in April 2017, he had been given the device by PRC1 and was trained to use it specifically for private communications with PRC1, an individual he believes works for the PRCIS. Mallory based this assessment on the multiple examples of PRCIS tradecraft and taskings which would be consistent with PRC government officials or intelligence officers (hereinafter "IOs"), and would be inconsistent with the practices of a legitimate commercial company. Mallory told the FBI agents that he was a former U.S. government employee who had training and overseas operational experience, which made it easy for him to spot tradecraft.

29. Mallory told agents that he was encouraged by the PRC IOs to pursue employment with the U.S. Government, which he was already in the process of doing prior to meeting these individuals. When asked where he thought the PRC IOs would like this relationship to go, Mallory told the FBI that he believes they would like to see him obtain a position of access in the U.S. Government.

30. Mallory also told the agents that he received taskings from the individuals he believed were PRC IOs to write papers about U.S. policy matters, and that he responded by writing and delivering two short, unclassified white papers, using information in his head as well as open source information. He stated that he did not retain copies of those documents. Mallory told agents multiple times that he did not provide the PRC IOs with any other documents in any format, whether in paper or electronic form, beyond these two white papers.

31. Mallory told the FBI agents that he had received cash payments of $10,000USD in March 2017 and $15,000USD in April 2017 from the individuals he believed to be PRC IOs. These payments were based on his daily billable rate plus some expenses, and no other payments were due or expected to be paid prior to his anticipated travel in June 2017. In an upcoming trip to the PRC in June, Mallory said that he expected to receive his daily billable rate again. According to Mallory, no payments were due to him from the PRC IOs for work done while Mallory was in the United States.

32. While demonstrating the capabilities of the device at the meeting on May 24, 2017, Mallory voluntarily showed agents how to move from normal message mode to secure message mode. When doing this, Mallory expressed surprise at seeing some secure message history. Prior to the demonstration, he had told the agents that he believed the communication system was designed to delete all previous history. When questioned on the secure messages which were visible on the device, Mallory pointed out to the agents which messages he had sent and which messages PRC1 had sent. One message he had sent stated, "I can also come In the middle of June I can bring the remainder of the documents I have at that time."

33. Upon questioning, Mallory said that comment was a reference to the two white papers he had already told agents about regarding open source U.S. policy information. Mallory stated that the reference to the "remainder of the documents" was just stringing PRC1 along, and that he did not actually have anything to give PRC1.

Passage of Classified Documents Via Device

34. In or around June 2, 2017, upon subsequent technical review of the device that Mallory voluntarily allowed the FBI to search, additional secure message history was recovered. The message history was part of the same string of messages Mallory had shown the FBI agents on May 24, 2017, between himself and PRC1.

35. In a recovered secure message sent from the device on or about May 1, 2017, Mallory wrote, "Also, we may need to go again step by step in my getting the document to become part of the image. Then sending it to you."

36. In messages sent on or about May 3, 2017, PRC1 and Mallory discussed two documents, "no1 and no2," which Mallory had provided to PRC1.

37. During the May 3, 2017 communication, PRC1 wrote, "I suggest you send all and retype the handwriting. And NO1 is obvious the first page of a complete article, where the else is and why it is black on top and bottom....We will try our best to apply for another sum of amount, as you required. However, I'm not sure it will be the same amount for now and I will try, and for safety, we cannot send u in one time or in a short period altogether, need to figure out a better way."

38. In messages sent on or about May 3, 2017, Mallory responded, "The black was to cross out the security classification (TOP SECRET//ORCON//...I had to get it out without the chance of discovery. Unless read in detail, it appeared like a simple note...I have arranged for a USD account in another name. You can send the funds broken into 4 equal payments over 4 consecutive days...When you agree I will send you the bank E.g. instructions."

39. Later in this same conversation, Mallory stated, "It was dicey (look it up) when they asked for me by name. If they we looking for me in terms of State Secrets, and found the SD card..., we would not be talking today. I am taking the real risk as you, [PRC3], and higher up bosses know... "When you get the OK to replace the prior payment, then I will send more docs. I will also type my notes. NOTE: In the future, I will destroy all electronic records after you confirm receipt...I already destroyed the paper records. I cannot keep these around, too dangerous."

40. In messages sent on or about May 5, 2017, Mallory wrote, "your object is to gain information, and my object is to be paid for." PRC1 responded, "My current object is to make sure your security and try to reimburse you."

41. In messages sent on or about May 5, 2017, Mallory wrote, "I can also come In the middle of June. I can bring the remainder of the documents I have at that time."

42. Analysis of the device revealed a handwritten index describing eight different documents. Four of the eight documents on this list were found stored on the device.

43. USGA1 analyzed the four documents found on the device and confirmed that three of the documents are USGA1 documents, containing classified information. USGA1 further confirmed that one of the three documents was classified at the TOP SECRET level at the time it was transmitted to PRC1 in early May 2017 and continues to be classified at that level. USGA1 further confirmed that the remaining two documents were classified at the SECRET level at the time they were transmitted to PRC1 in early May 2017 and continue to be classified at that level.

CHARGES

False Statements – 18 U.S.C. § 1001

44. Mallory made materially false statements during the FBI interview on May 24, 2017 in Ashburn, Virginia. After being informed of the identities of federal agents, Mallory knowingly and willfully made numerous materially false statements about sending documents to presumed PRC IOs, including by:

- Claiming to FBI agents that he had not provided additional documents, beyond two unclassified white papers, to individuals he identified as PRC IOs.
- Claiming to FBI agents that he had never transmitted documents, other than a test message, using the device.

Delivering Defense Information To Aid Foreign Government – 18 U.S.C. § 794

45. With reason to believe it would be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of the PRC, Mallory transmitted national defense information in the form of documents classified at the SECRET and TOP SECRET level to an agent of the PRC.

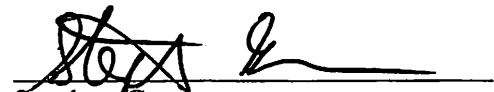

CONCLUSION AND SEALING REQUEST

46. For all the reasons stated above, there is probable cause to believe that from in or about April 2017 through in or about May 2017, Mallory made materially false statements to federal law enforcement officers, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1001, and transmitted national defense information to an agent of the PRC in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 794. These criminal violations were either begun or committed in the Eastern District of Virginia, or were begun or committed overseas, out of the jurisdiction of any particular state or district, and your affiant expects that Mallory will be arrested in the Eastern District of Virginia.

47. I ask that this affidavit be sealed, until further order of the court, to protect this investigation. I am aware from my training and experience that evidence is destroyed, individuals flee, and witnesses may be tampered with or become uncooperative when the details known to law enforcement become prematurely available to the targets of a criminal investigation.

48. I declare under the penalty of perjury that the information provided above is true and correct.
