

City of Jacksonville Beach Ocean Rescue Division

NEWS RELEASE

LT. MAXWELL ERVANIAN
PREVENTION AND TRAINING OFFICER

JACKSONVILLE BEACH LIFEGUARD STATION
2 OCEANFRONT NORTH
JACKSONVILLE BEACH, FL 32250

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FRIDAY, JANUARY 15, 2021

NEW WEATHERSTEM WEATHER STATION IN JACKSONVILLE BEACH

The City of Jacksonville Beach has a new weather monitoring system, WeatherSTEM. The City of Jacksonville Emergency Preparedness Division and the Florida Division of Emergency Management has installed this Weather Station as part of the Florida Severe Weather Network Grant.

This state-of-the-art weather station will allow for more accurate weather forecasting of current and potential weather conditions, provide live-streaming high resolution weather cameras, weather health and safety alert notifications, lightning detection, heat level monitoring, and real-time and future-cast radar information.

“Having the WeatherSTEM Weather Station in Jacksonville Beach, on the beach, will provide the ability for the Ocean Rescue Division to monitor weather conditions that can cause a threat to bathers and beachgoers,” said Maxwell Ervanian, Prevention and Training Officer for the City of Jacksonville Beach Ocean Rescue Division. “The WeatherSTEM Weather Station will also provide the ability for visitors of Jacksonville Beach to view weather, beach, and ocean conditions looking East from the Pier and looking South down the beach, from the Pier.”

You can access the Jacksonville Beach WeatherSTEM Weather Station by visiting <https://duval.weatherstem.com/fswnjaxbeach> or by downloading the WeatherSTEM app through the Apple App Store or on Google Play. You can follow the Weather Station on Twitter (@fswnjaxbeach) and Facebook (@fswnjaxbeach). To view all WeatherSTEM Weather Stations in Duval County, visit <https://duval.weatherstem.com/>.

For more information on WeatherSTEM and how you can view forecasts, weather monitoring, and more, visit <http://weatherstem.com/>.

###

CONTACT: LT. MAX ERVANIAN

904-773-4914

MERVANIAN@JAXBCHFL.NET

BE AWARE • BE SAFE • BE SEEN

CALL 911 FOR EMERGENCIES!