Investment Perspectives: Deflation and Negative Yields

Deflation has recently become an important issue for central governments and policy makers. "Good" deflation normally occurs when levels of productivity increase and purchasing power is increased. "Bad" deflation typically occurs in response to over-leveraging and can lead to severe recessions or even depressions. Preventing deflation is important because it avoids making existing debts more burdensome, which results in reduced levels of consumption and slowing economic growth. One recent development caused by post 2008 deflationary forces is the presence of negative yields on high quality bonds. In this edition of Investment Perspectives we provide a review of deflation and negative yields and present our current investment views in light of recent developments.

I like the white cover also. Similar to the color we have now.

Very cool. Muscle activation creates the lymph movement. Muscle pump function is the key. Rsting icing and compression does the opposite. Thanks for sharing. Share this with Alex he loves this stuff too. Love ya bud.

Tommy,

Sitting here and just got done watching you on Squawk Box...Nice segment. I think I need to learn more about TB12 so I can get the spare tire around my waste off (probably just need to put the cookies down).

Excited for the season and to watch you get on the field again. You look great and you can see the hard work you have putting in is paying off. Regarding the Vikes game next week, I'm taking Julie and the girls to the game as we are all very pumped up to see you play here in the great state of MN. I'm sure you will be swamped in prep but we would love to see you for a brief moment if possible and say hello. I would assume after the game you might have a small window as you get on the bus but would also image you might have a lot of family here to say hello to as well so want to be respectful of those obligations.

If your parents are planning on coming to this game, I would love to see them and grab a coffee/ lunch with them if they are free. If they are, I would love to send them an email and say hello.

As always, hope the fam and kids are well and look forward to seeing you in MN.

Love ya bud,
Kap

Hi Ben,

I have included recent properties that have sold in the last 12 months in Chapmans Reach. The sweet spot for the town homes in this area is high $500k to low $700k the normal price per sq ft are high $200-mid $300. Buyers that are paying high $300 sq ft are looking for PH units at 2001 Marina Drive building for instance with skyline views of the city. I would love to do a quick walk through to get a better sense of what it would take to get top dollar.

$789-$800k is my estimate for listing price . It would take creative marketing to get this price point but I would love the opportunity!

Let me know if you have any questions. Or any details on current condition of property!

Allison

Remarks

Move right in to this beautiful, spacious and modern end-unit townhome located in the Chapman's Reach neighborhood of Marina Bay. The first floor of the home bears an open-floor concept design complete with a gas fireplace and plenty of room to comfortably entertain guests. The kitchen is updated with polished stainless steel appliances and a gas-range stove top for cooking. The new owner of this home can enjoy the convenience of having an attached 2-car garage with easy access. Upstairs the home features 2 large bedrooms with attached full bathrooms and fresh new carpet through-out. The master bedroom also features a nice walk-off balcony that makes it possible for the new owners to experience the comfort of living next to the bay and enjoying the views that come with it. The townhome is complete with a in-unit laundry room and full sized basement. Look forward to seeing you at the first group showing.
