STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

SUPERIOR COURT

V.

OWEN LABRIE

Docket No. 14- CR-617

2015 OCT 29 AM 11 12

STATE'S SENTENCING MEMORANDUM

NOW COMES the State of New Hampshire, by and through the Office of the Merrimack County Attorney, and respectfully adopts the sentencing recommendation outlined in the Department of Corrections Pre-sentence Investigation. In support thereof, the State provides the following information for this Honorable Court's consideration;

1. Following trial by jury, the defendant is convicted of one felony count of Computer Use Prohibited, one misdemeanor Endangering Welfare of a Child, and three misdemeanor Sexual Assaults. At the time the verdicts were handed down, the defendant, through his counsel, requested a Pre-sentence Investigation Report. The State respectfully adopts the sentencing recommendation outlined in the PSI report.

"Senior Salute"

2. It has been the State's theory that the sexual assault in this case occurred as part of a "game" the defendant engaged in with his closest friends, competing "to break the slaying records in the spring." [See Attachment A.]
3. The defendant and his friends ritualized their "game" and relished the tradition by passing down stolen keys to buildings on campus , a paper mache "slaying mask," as well as templates to be used for Senior Salute invitations, and maintaining the practice of rubbing the engraved name of graduate "Slaymaker." This ""game" was so important to the defendant that he memorializes "Slaymaker '47: Nuff said" in his yearbook message. [See Attachment B].
4. The exchange of messages between the defendant and his friends show a callous, disrespect for young women. The defendant states that his style is to "feign intimacy... then stab them in the back...THROW EM IN THE DUMPSTER... I lie in bed with them... and pretend like I'm in love." [See Attachment C.]

5. The State further believes that the victim was targeted by the defendant, in part, because he was attracted to her, but also because he'd been previously involved with her sibling and wanted the elevated status of 'slaying sisters.' In addition to this particular motivation, the defendant's messages demonstrate an attitude of defiance and arrogance after being accepted into college; " you slaying both [sisters] in one night? ...that's the plan... now that I'm in to schools... imma do absolutely whatever..."[See Attachment D]
6. The defendant asserts that he has suffered sufficient punishment as his admission to Harvard may likely be rescinded. However, he knowingly engaged in risky, immoral behavior. In a statement issued by Faculty of Arts and Sciences spokesperson Rachael Dane wrote, " An offer of admission may rescinded if a student engages in behavior that brings into question his or her honesty, maturity, or moral character." It seems disingenuous for the defendant to argue that he was unaware of this risk.
7. As the defendant rallied in the competition for sexual conquests, the messages display his outrage at being turned down; " she turned me down...fucking hate forbidden fruit...fuckin girls so much... another dumb cum-bucket struck from my nut sucking, suck it slut, slut fucking bucket list..." [See Attachment E].
8. The messages also show a complete disregard for the legal age of consent, and again, further defiance ; "junior boarding school... 15...and a half... You could be thrown in jail bro... pretty sure the [_____] was 12" [See Attachment F]. "... and the { _____ } bum is great...hahaha... HER PREPUBESCENT BUM... LOVE IT... MCCARTHY AND I ARE GONNA BE BAILIN YOU OUT OF JAIL..." [See attachment G].
9. Despite defense counsel's attempt to minimize the defendant's conduct by stating " this was something he did one night as an 18 year old high school student," these accounts offer an alarming glimpse of calculated, strategic behavior targeted toward young women prior to the assault that occurred against the victim in this case.

DEFENDANT'S LACK OF CANDOR

10. It is clear from the resulting verdicts that the jury did not find the defendant's testimony credible, particularly in regard to the pivotal issue of sexual penetration. Throughout the investigation, the trial, and the PSI, the defendant has continued to deny that penetration occurred during the assault. He has maintained the mantra "deny till you die."

11. The PSI also includes a psychosexual evaluation conducted by David Cantegallo, LCMHC, MLADAC, dated 8/1/14. The defendant also denied that penetration occurred during his self-report to the examiner. The State argues that the opinion of the examiner cannot be relied upon for the purpose of this sentencing, as Mr. Cantegallo was not provided complete discovery and was not truthfully or fully informed about the facts of this case prior to issuing his report.
12. The defendant's continuous denials demonstrate credibility issues and raise concern for his successful rehabilitation. As this Honorable Court considers the factors of punishment, deterrence and rehabilitation, the State argues that the component of rehabilitation requires the defendant to participate meaningfully in an updated psychosexual evaluation. "Meaningful participation" requires truthfulness and candor.
13. His representations appear to be self-serving and portray him as the victim in this case, rather than the offender. During the past 18 months, he has not taken the opportunity to reflect on the harm he has caused to the victim, her family or others.
14. Due to the defendant's lack of candor and his lack of reflection on the harm he has inflicted on the victim, the State cannot, in good faith, recommend the defendant be released into the community without successful completion of sex offender treatment. He has been given an opportunity to participate meaningfully in a psychosexual evaluation, and failed to do so. Therefore, the State supports the sentencing recommendation proposed in the PSI, and asserts that the defendant has demonstrated it is necessary for him to be evaluated by the Sex Offender Program at the New Hampshire State Prison, and meaningfully complete all recommended treatment.

Respectfully Submitted,

Catherine J. Ruffle

Deputy Merrimack County Attorney

as we're both intellectual sorts, it seems to me that we, together, in the words of Rivers Cuomo, "Would make a good team."

I understand the moral dilemma that I am forcing upon you by sending this email of unabashed insistence and desperation but know that long have I admired your radiance from far-off and am compelled by time to take action. human life is (fortunately) a cycle of resistance followed by short periods of indulgence, to the like of which I am inviting you tomorrow at 9 o'clock. what does indulgence involve, perhaps you ask? wild honey, mango nectar, darkness and the utterest clarity of a cluttered mind.

there are some buddhists who call that combination enlightenment. rethink.
