"Six Pack"—Idea Storm Creations: No distribution; Producer Chris De Celle is seeking Marine Corps approval for (b)(6) of 1st Intel Battalion on Camp Pendleton to be one of six bodybuilding competitors featured in a reality TV series that follows the competitors as they train and prepare for the Yorton Cup International Championships. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders' top title. (b)(6) won the "Yorton Cup" title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA. As of 24 June, producers are currently searching for funding for this project.

“Band of Brides” – Filmed pitch reel at CPEN 10 April. Project is currently seeking distribution. Mollie Grossman, a former Marine (b)(6) and entertainer (comedian, motivational speaker), wants to build a reality show focusing on the life of Marine wives before, during and after a deployment. Project would require significant escort hours. LA PA to escort film crew 17 July aboard CPEN, Base PA is aware, to film their pitch reel.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Iraq After Saddam” – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers interviewed the Marines from 2004 Fallujah in early June. LAPA reviewed rough cut. While the film claims to take an “all-sides” approach to the issue of the Iraq War, there is an obvious anti-American (and anti-British) sentiment that comes through. The producers seem to take a very sympathetic view of the insurgency and give many insurgent leaders a voice on camera for the first time in this documentary.

“Bomb Hunters: The Real Hurt Locker” – National Geographic TV: Pacific Coast Video has requested to embed with the next deploying Marine EOD unit to document their mission. LA PA has begun coordination with I MEF and OSD to determine if the embed and production support are feasible.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of “Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story” is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine, ^{(b)(6)} in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July.

“Bravo Company” - Kenneth Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested support for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines, 1968 during the siege of Khe Sanh. Rodgers faxed a synopsis and proof of funding 28 June. LAPA sent a DSRF that same day. His project is being funded by the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation. LAPA called July 14 to find out if he is still interested in our support. He informed me that he was currently conducting interviews in Texas at the annual Khe Sanh Veterans Memorial in San Antonio. He returned the DSRF July 15 and has funding from the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation but there is no distribution. Dr. Charles Neimeyer, director of the Marine Corps History Division and Lt. Gen. (Ret) Ron Christmas, president and CEO of the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation are in support of this project. LAPA is creating an Imagery Authorization allowing Rodgers access to the Marine Corps History Division’s reference branch.

“LASIK The Right Stuff” – President of Patient Education Concepts Inc., Robert Watson, requested to film and interview Marine pilots and Naval aviators aboard MCAB Miramar at the end of July. The documentary focuses on the DoD’s involvement in procuring LASIK surgery for Navy SEALs and how it has progressed from that small community into having it available for all service members. Project is funded but there is currently no distribution. Navy LAPA is in contract with this production. On 14 July, LAPA provided Robert Watson with a Letter of Intent.

“Inside West Coast Customs” – Bull Run Productions: Producers will be shooting a one-day shoot at MARSOC BN Camp Pendleton in conjunction with West Coast Customs. The show centers around West Coast Customs retrofitting a HUMVEE type vehicle (civilian entity) and testing some of its functionality with MARSOC. LA PA contacted MARSOC to ensure this is something they would want to support and they are very positive about this production. Shoot will take place Thursday 24 June.

“John Basilone: The Legacy of A Hero” – Independent Distribution: Diane Hawkins, niece of Marine Corps legend Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone, is producing a documentary about her uncle's life and legacy as a Marine hero. Hawkins is "retracing her uncle's footsteps," visiting and documenting all the places Basilone served and carrying forward his legacy and that of the Marines of WWII who fought with him or in the same campaigns. LA PA is providing courtesy support so that Hawkins can produce a pitch reel, which will be used to get distribution. Hawkins interviewed the director of History and Museums at CPEN July 13 and recorded B-roll of the base and landmarks that bear Basilone's name.

"Restrepo" – Outpost Films: This documentary follows an Army unit in Afghanistan. Documentary won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and is an extraordinary film. Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

"Battle for Marjah" – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson emedded June 1-15. Email correspondence on 16 July has the project in the editing process, with a projected rough cut at the end of Sept.

"I'm Alive" – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Phone conversation on 26 July has the production still filming with an anticipated rough cut late this year.

"Impossible Routes" – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a "counter-insurrection" that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) approved the embed, which ended 30 June. Email from production on 15 July stated that they are returning to Afghanistan in order to embed with French troops to supplement the documentary. The production is also dedicating the documentary to an interviewed Marine that was KIA.

"Recon Challenge" – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Providing access to teams and providing additional footage. Currently scheduling a viewing of the rough cut.

"Dangerous Encounters" – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those use in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support. Production has inquired about the possibility of conducting the interviews/filming aboard MCB Quantico.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Producers informed LAPA they are creating a short trailer by mid-June for fundraising purposes to finish editing their project.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – PBS: Producers from Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Production successfully filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems. A new contract/addendum will be needed if they are able to film 3/5 during their Mojave Viper Exercise along with the possibility of embedding with the unit during their deployment.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email conversation on 24 May revealed production still filming with the anticipation of a rough cut near the end of the year.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of four Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM.

Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Awaiting final cut.

"Best of the Best ("Surviving the Cut"): Marine Recon" – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed. Filming began 30 April with BRC and ended 23 July. Awaiting rough cut.

The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6), who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years" – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico's archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. "Intersections" – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles "payload protection," so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on "heavy lifting" vehicles.

"Patrol Base Jaker" – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling's film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. He filmed 1/5's homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. "Marines in the South Pacific" – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

DENIED REQUESTS:

"Foreign & Domestic" - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. “The Troy Hartman Project” – SyFy Network: Snakeoil Productions contacted LA PA to seek assistance on an invention experimental show featuring Troy Hartman, an “X-Games Sky Surfing Gold Medalist.” The request was to have Troy launch a kayak, modified with glider capabilities, from a CH-46. A second request was for assistance in using a CH-46 to transport an “individual jet-powered wing” so that Troy could fly from Palos Verdes (LA) to Catalina Island. The production wanted to pitch the sales of such devices to DoD if the tests were successful. Request was denied as it did not portray the mission of the Corps and the inherent danger of the evolution.

SUPPORTING TELEVISION PROJECTS:

“America’s Next Top Model” – The girlfriend of a Reserve Marine assigned to MWSG-47 is a contestant on America's Next Top Model. Show producers wanted to conduct interviews with family members and friends of each contestant and had asked the Marine to sign a contract/release that would grant producers interviews and access to his home. LA PA will continue to monitor if a series develops.

Production went very well. Episode will air in November.

“NCIS” – CBS: Reviewed script for episode #167 “Dead Air.” No Marine depiction.

“NCIS Los Angeles” – CBS:

“Price is Right” – CBS: Producers of this game show have requested support again for their annual Salute to the Military episode. They want a Marine color guard and band and help filling their audience with service members from all five branches of the service. LA PA has the lead on coordination. The MCRD SD Band is supporting, and RS LA is providing the color guard. Audience coordination is coming together well. Filming will take place Sept. 20.

“Wheel of Fortune” – CBS: Producers decided not to pursue an all military audience for their Armed Forces Week episodes, citing “the level of complexity and short time window” for support coordination. Filming took place yesterday (Sept. 2), and LA PA checked uniforms of the three Marine contestants (all SNCOs) and provided standard PA brief.

“Pure Combat Mixed Martial Arts Fight” – SPIKE: LA PA was contacted by Pure Combat/Hitman Fights, Inc. productions shortly before a scheduled MMA event that took place 7 May in order to film the event aboard Camp Pendleton. PAA was executed and the event was successful. Email to producer on 27 Aug. to determine progress.

“Only in America” – History Channel: Pilgrim Films is pitching a show in order to build ratings and to bring a reality version to the network. In the series, Dan Whitney (aka “Larry the Cable Guy”), a well-known comedian, will use his humor to embarrass himself as he tours the nation and interacts with the “everyday person.” The production requested to highlight the Marine Corps and how Larry is unable to perform the functions of a Marine. Pilgrim Films also produces Dirty Jobs for Discovery. PAA executed. Shoot completed 5 Aug. with 1st Bn, 5th Marines, SOI-W, AAV School and 3rd AABn. Awaiting rough cut.

"SuperNanny" - ABC: The show designed to correct behavior of children has requested LA PA support for a Marine family aboard Camp Pendleton. (b)(6) (b)(6) have been selected as participants. (b)(6) (b)(6) s currently deployed and is at home wit (b)(6) Shooting took place May 7-19, highlighting the Family Readiness program as well as personnel connected to the program. Awaiting rough cut.

"A Boy and His Dog" – No Distribution: Met with producer Richard Cartwright this week to discuss his project which would highlight Marine MPs and their K-9 working dogs. Richard would like to pick a unit and cover the unit in Afghanistan. Project documentary would then develop into a feature film. No Marine Corps action until distribution is secured.

"Our Vietnam Generation" — NBC (affiliate WDIV): Producers from Visionalist Entertainment for Detroit NBC requested to film at the Marine House in Hanoi, Vietnam for their documentary on Marine Vietnam veterans and their families. LA PA worked with MSG Battalion officials and approved access. DSA executed. Producers contacted LA PA on 25 May to inform that they are awaiting funds to finish rough cut.

"Dirty Jobs" – Discovery Channel: Pilgrim Films is requesting to film any of the unsung, dirtier jobs the Marine Corps offers. The other military branches have successfully worked with this show. They are currently filming their fifth season. LA PA is waiting on a clearly defined date for shooting from the producers before we search for an interested helicopter squadron. The producers informed LA PA on 25 May that they expect to film in September.

"Master Chef"— FOX: 3 Ball Productions filmed episode at Camp Pendleton 26 March. Shoot went extremely well and we will be viewing rough cut next week. This will be another Gordon Ramsay show similar to Hell's Kitchen where the contestants compete for an award, but Master Chef is filmed in different locations instead of one restaurant. LA PA reviewed rough cut on 2 June at production office and submitted minor changes. Episode 1 will air in July. Marine Corps episode is #4.

"Six Pack"—Idea Storm Creations: No distribution; Producer Chris De Celle is seeking Marine Corps approval for (b)(6) (b)(6) of 1st Intel Battalion on Camp Pendleton to be one of six bodybuilding competitors featured in a reality TV series that follows the competitors as they train and prepare for the Yorton Cup International Championships. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders' top title. (b)(6) won the "Yorton Cup" title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA. As of 24 June, producers are currently searching for funding for this project.

“A Band of Brides”- Mollie Gross, a former Marine (b)(6) and a comedian is creating a pitch reel July 17 aboard MCB Camp Pendleton. This is the second pitch reel created for this show. The first, produced by M3 Creations, wasn't what the show's hostess had intended so they didn't go any further with the production company. Now, Mollie and Mark are trying to create a pitch reel and sell it to producers. LA PA has provided a letter of intent and imagery release authorization for DIMOC imagery.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Battle for Marjah” – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson embedded June 1-15. Email correspondence on 16 July has the project in the editing process, with a projected rough cut at the end of Sept.

“Secret Iraq” (formerly “Iraq After Saddam”) – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which tells the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. The production provides an account of the Iraq war, using a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers came to LA PA with OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. LAPA reviewed rough cut. While the film claims to take an “all-sides” approach to the issue of the Iraq War, there is an obvious anti-American (and anti-British) sentiment that comes through. The producers seem to take a very sympathetic view of the insurgency and give many insurgent leaders a voice on camera for the first time in this documentary.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of “Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story” is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial. LA PA has advised 2nd MarDiv PAO on the producers intentions and recommended not supporting the interview request, as it would politicize the CG.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine (b)(6) in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July.

“Bravo Company” - Kenneth Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested support for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines, 1968 during the siege of Khe Sanh. Rodgers faxed a synopsis and proof of funding 28 June. LAPA sent a DSRF that same day. His project is being funded by the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation. LAPA called July 14 to find out if he is still interested in our support. He informed me that he was currently conducting interviews in Texas at the annual Khe Sanh Veterans Memorial in San Antonio. He returned the DSRF July 15 and has funding from the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation but there is no distribution. Dr. Charles Neimeyer, director of the Marine Corps History Division and Lt. Gen. (Ret) Ron Christmas, president and CEO of the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation are in support of this project. LAPA is creating an Imagery Authorization allowing Rodgers access to the Marine Corps History Division’s reference branch.

“LASIK The Right Stuff” – President of Patient Education Concepts Inc., Robert Watson, requested to film and interview Marine pilots and Naval aviators aboard MCAS Miramar at the end of July. The documentary focuses on the DoD’s involvement in procuring LASIK surgery for Navy SEALs and how it has progressed from that small community into having it available for all service members. Project is funded but there is currently no distribution. Navy LAPA is in contract with this production. On 14 July, LAPA provided Robert Watson with a letter of intent.

“Inside West Coast Customs” – Bull Run Productions: Producers filmed with MARSOC BN on Camp Pendleton Aug. 18. This episode brought West Coast Customs’ star Ryan Friedlinghaus and Predator Inc. President Ryan Wilson to

Camp Pendleton to “get some inspiration” for an upcoming project in which Friedlinghaus will retrofit a civilian Hummer from Predator Inc. MARSOC demonstrated some of their vehicles and personnel on Red Beach, and producers also captured AAVs and a Cobra training on the same day. MARSOC was eager to support the production from the outset. LA PA executed the DSA and escorted the crew. MARSOC’s screening team handled the bulk of coordination, and all MARSOC Marines did well in promoting MARSOC. All went well. Awaiting air date.

“John Basilone: The Legacy of A Hero” – Independent Distribution: Diane Hawkins, niece of Marine Corps legend Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone, is producing a documentary about her uncle’s life and legacy as a Marine hero. Hawkins is “retracing her uncle’s footsteps,” visiting and documenting all the places Basilone served and carrying forward his legacy and that of the Marines of WWII who fought with him or in the same campaigns. LA PA is providing courtesy support so that Hawkins can produce a pitch reel, which will be used to get distribution. Hawkins interviewed the director of History and Museums at CPEN July 13 and recorded B-roll of the base and landmarks that bear Basilone’s name.

“Restrepo” – Outpost Films: This documentary follows an Army unit in Afghanistan. Documentary won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and is an extraordinary film. Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Phone conversation on 26 July has the production still filming with an anticipated rough cut late this year.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) approved the embed, which ended 30 June. Email from production on 15 July stated that they are returning to Afghanistan in order to embed with French troops to supplement the documentary. The production is also dedicating the documentary to an interviewed Marine that was KIA.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Providing access to teams and providing additional footage. Currently scheduling a viewing of the rough cut.

“Dangerous Encounters: Snake Bot” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those used in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. Producers initially wanted to film with Marines, but have changed their support request to just archival imagery release authorization. LA PA provided the release, and producers are working with DIMOC and DVIDS to acquire footage of EOD robots, which will be compared to the “Snake Bot.”

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Producers informed LAPA they are creating a short trailer by mid-June for fundraising purposes to finish editing their project.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – PBS: Producers from Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Production successfully filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems. A new contract/addendum will be needed if they are able to film 3/5 during their Mojave Viper Exercise along with the possibility of embedding with the unit during their deployment.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email correspondence on 17 Aug. has production in the latter parts of filming and initial editing process with an anticipated rough cut in Dec. and an air date at the beginning of the year.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of four Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Awaiting final cut.

"Surviving the Cut: Marine Recon" (formerly "Best of the Best") – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed. Filming began 30 April with BRC and ended 23 July. Rough cut was reviewed and changes were made by production. Show airs 1 Sept.

"Surviving the Cut: Marine Scout Snipers" (formerly "Best of the Best") – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed. TECOM PA and SOI-W approved filming of an additional episode covering the Scout Sniper course. Filming began 19 July and continues intermittently until Sept. 3.

"Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hodiern Productions LLC is producing a film that will focus on half a dozen or so grunts as main characters. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines. Interviews were facilitated successfully through 1st Marine Division PA. Producer is currently working with Army Public Affairs to access filming Arlington National Cemetery.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion produced four short documentary films (approximately 15 minutes each), which present applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes. The film series "Exercising the Real: Immersion" presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience and shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9, 2009. LA PA reviewed rough cuts. The production style is very unconventional – no voice over narration and no prepared interviews. Marines are shown training on virtual reality applications and at combat town during Exercise Mojave Viper. No corrections necessary.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept 09. Final interview completed on 2 Aug. Production is in the editing process.

“From Combat to The Classroom” – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, I MEF PA will provide coordination. Email conversation on 31 May has producer interviewing personnel aboard CLNC this week, expects to film more in the 2010/2011 spring semester with a rough cut approximately next summer.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a DSA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will not execute an agreement unless I MEF Forward approves Talley’s embed.

“In The Room” – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base).

Filming meant for military wives website, www.milwives.com <<http://www.milwives.com/>> and other outlets. LA PA provided a documentary support agreement with Robert Henry Nov. 20, 2009. LA PA waiting on full episode rough cut. As of June 24th, Producer is currently contacting television agencies for distribution.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States. Producers informed LAPA show aired in the UK and will not be airing in the United States.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Too Fat to Fight” – Yap Films requested support for a series that would focus on young men and women who are keen to join the Marines but who have recently failed to meet the minimum weight measurements and physical fitness tests during the recruitment process. LA PA denied support because the production would focus on under qualified prospective recruits during a time when the Corps is downsizing and tightening standards. Simply put, educating the American public about this issue is not a worthy investment of Marine Corps time and resources.

“Modern Marvels: What’s in Your Pocket” – Producers of this show contacted LA PA regarding an episode that looks at various professions (doctors, military, cops, construction workers, TSA) to find out what those people carry in their pockets to aid them in their jobs. Producers wanted to talk to Marines about what tools, gadgets and aids they carry around in the pockets of their combat uniforms and then go into the factories that make those products. LA PA denied support for this particular concept because of the unlikelihood that the contents of a Marine’s utilities would be particularly compelling or enhance public understanding of the Corps. However, LA PA did express the desire to work with Modern Marvels for another concept in the future, as the show is highly rated.

"Foreign & Domestic" - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. After review of script, request was denied because it had no distribution, is not of informational value and is not considered to be in the best interest of public understanding of the U.S. Armed Forces and the Department of Defense.

“Madden” – EA Sports: A Marine from First Recon had been working with an advertising agency to do a commercial for the game. Contacted both the Advertising Agency and the Division/MEF PAOs to tell them that we will not be supporting this production.

“Working Title” - Investigative Discovery Channel: Ben Sessoms, a producer with M2 Pictures, requested B-roll footage of Marine Corps basic training and a photograph of former Marine Skylar Deleon, a Marine who had gone UA after basic training and was later found guilty of murdering a married couple. SNM is currently serving a life sentence and the bodies were never found. This was denied due to the fact that his being a Marine had no relation to the fact he murdered a married couple.

“The Troy Hartman Project” – SyFy Network: Snakeoil Productions contacted LA PA to seek assistance on an invention experimental show featuring Troy Hartman, an “X-Games Sky Surfing Gold Medalist.” The request was to have Troy launch a kayak, modified with glider capabilities, from a CH-46. An second request was for assistance in using a CH-46 to transport an “individual jet-powered wing” so that Troy could fly from Palos Verdes (LA) to Catalina Island. The production wanted to pitch the sales of such devices to DoD if the tests were successful. Request was denied as it did not portray the mission of the Corps and the inherent danger of the evolution.

PENDING AIR DATE:

“Hell’s Kitchen” – FOX: Upper Ground Enterprises requested to have 12 Marines sit in audience on 26 Feb for production. PAA executed. Email conversation on 25 May revealed that the production just started the editing process for this episode. Reviewed rough cut on 23 June with no discrepancies. Awaiting air date.

“Master Chef”— FOX: 3 Ball Productions filmed episode at Camp Pendleton 26 March. Shoot went extremely well and we will be viewing rough cut next week. This will be another Gordon Ramsay show similar to Hell’s Kitchen where the contestants compete for an award, but Master Chef is filmed in different locations instead of one restaurant. LA PA reviewed rough cut on 2 June at production office and submitted minor changes. Episode 1 will air in July. Marine Corps episode is #4.

“Armed Forces Championship Fight Series”—Versus TV: Producers from AIM Sports TV filmed the Armed Forces Championship Fight Series aboard Camp Pendleton, March 6 at the Paige Field House. Footage will be edited into an hour special about the championship. LA PA escorted the film crew March 6. Reviewed rough cut and submitted minor changes. Producer contacted LA PA and notified that corrections have been made. LAPA called again to discuss possible distribution to AFN and Versus Television. Waiting on response.

“Outrageous Foods” – Food Network: Food Network filmed four service members at a local restaurant “McGuire’s” stationed in Pensacola for a new series. Col Richards, CO, MATSG participated for the Marine Corps. Taping completed January 22d. Rough cut reviewed with no discrepancies. Air date is TBD.

“Breakthrough with Tony Robbins” – NBC: Motivation Guru Tony Robbins is developing a new show for NBC this fall. Series will take a single individual each episode and ‘motivate’ them to turn their lives around. Producers are targeting an individual and would like to have him ‘live and train’ with Marines as part of his motivation. Filming was completed aboard Camp Pendleton 7 Aug. 2009. Finale shoot completed 17 Aug. 2009 in Los Angeles. Email reply on July 7 from production confirmed air date of Aug. 17.

“Warrior”- Lionsgate: LA PA helped producers locate and solicit Marine extras for this movie, which is filming in Pittsburgh, Penn., and also sent a representative June 15 to advise on a battle scene set in Iraq. The film is very wholesome and the only DoD subject matter is a scene depicting opening day of the 2002 MLB season at Oakland Coliseum. Production assistance agreement was completed, and DoD provide a Marine color guard and a joint-service detail to stretch out a garrison flag in center field Aug. 3. Shoot went well.

“Alpha” – Paramount Pictures: Contacted by Paramount for permission to scout the Military Working Dog kennels aboard Camp Pendleton for the possibility of a motion picture involving the Marines and MWDs. LA PA has reviewed the script with slight, minor changes. Currently coordinating date with production for scout.

“Transformers 3” – Paramount Pictures: LA PA met with Production Offices to discuss V-22 Osprey support to the picture. We are waiting for time/date specifics to see if request is even feasible. LA PA has declined support of MV-22 Ospreys for shoot in Long Beach due to OpTempo and value. I MEF provided three MTRVs and six Marines from 7-11 June in Long Beach. Working with DoD and producers to coordinate additional support in Chicago. Support would be minimal (personnel) and we are trying to vie for a more impactful role prior to finalizing support.

“Battleship” – Universal Pictures: Initial requests are for static air assets in Hawaii, and static air assets in Baton Rouge, LA. Taken from the concept of the childhood game, a force of aliens attack the infrastructure of Earth by first destroying the military capabilities of the U.S. Distribution is in place. MCB Kaneohe Bay is evaluating request.

Working to schedule viewing of rough cut.

SUPPORTING TELEVISION PROJECTS:

“America’s Next Top Model” – The girlfriend of a Reserve Marine assigned to MWSG-47 is a contestant on America's Next Top Model. Show producers wanted to conduct interviews with family members and friends of each contestant and had asked the Marine to sign a contract/release that would grant producers interviews and access to his home. LA PA advised MARFORES PAO that the producers needed to come through LA PA to interview the Marine. The Marine’s adjutant (b)(6) advised him of the requirements, and the producers and the Marine no longer wish to conduct the interview.

“Down the Aisle in Style” – TLC: Film Garden Entertainment contacted LA PA to determine if they could film a Marine wedding for their series before the end of Sept. The request comes with a two-day shoot with the first day interviewing the couple and determining the best make-up for the bride. The second day would be the wedding with filming the bride and bride’s maids preparing for the event. The production will also interview the couple immediately after the ceremony, then depart. They have also requested to film the couple on base to develop b-roll of their military environments. The initial couple that was pitched to the network could not be filmed due to location permit issues. Request was sent to all CPEN PA offices on 28 July for feasibility of support. PAA will be executed once it is determined that Marine wedding has been chosen to cover.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine, (b)(6) in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July. LA PA called production to determine progress and was informed that the production assistant that approached LA PA was unaware that this was a pitch reel interview. LA PA will continue to monitor if a series develops.

“Biggest Loser” — NBC: Show has an average rating of 10.2 million viewers each week. Supported an episode that demonstrates the quality of Marine Corps physical fitness. Contestants spent a week with combat instructors from the School of Infantry, the highlight of which was a challenge that featured Camp Pendleton’s training areas on and around Red Beach, rotary-wing aviation assets, LAVs and Marine personnel. Production went very well. Episode will air in November.

“NCIS” – CBS: Reviewed script for episode #167 “Dead Air.” No Marine depiction.

“NCIS Los Angeles” – CBS:

“Price is Right” – CBS: Producers of this game show have requested support again for their annual Salute to the Military episode. They want a Marine color guard and band and help filling their audience with service members from all five branches of the service. LA PA has the lead on coordination. The MCRD SD Band is supporting, and RS LA is providing the color guard. Audience coordination is coming together well. Filming will take place Sept. 20.

“Wheel of Fortune” – CBS: Producers decided not to pursue an all military audience for their Armed Forces Week episodes, citing “the level of complexity and short time window” for support coordination. Filming took place yesterday (Sept. 2), and LA PA checked uniforms of the three Marine contestants (all SNCOs) and provided standard PA brief.

“Pure Combat Mixed Martial Arts Fight” – SPIKE: LA PA was contacted by Pure Combat/Hitman Fights, Inc. productions shortly before a scheduled MMA event that took place 7 May in order to film the event aboard Camp Pendleton. PAA was executed and the event was successful. Email to producer on 27 Aug. to determine progress.

“Only in America” – History Channel: Pilgrim Films is pitching a show in order to build ratings and to bring a reality version to the network. In the series, Dan Whitney (aka “Larry the Cable Guy”), a well-known comedian, will use his humor to embarrass himself as he tours the nation and interacts with the “everyday person.” The production requested to highlight the Marine Corps and how Larry is unable to perform the functions of a Marine. Pilgrim Films also produces Dirty Jobs for Discovery. PAA executed. Shoot completed 5 Aug. with 1st Bn, 5th Marines, SOI-W, AAV School and 3rd AABn. Awaiting rough cut.

Richard would like to pick a unit and cover the unit in Afghanistan. Project documentary would then develop into a feature film. No Marine Corps action until distribution is secured.

"Our Vietnam Generation" — NBC (affiliate WDIV): Producers from Visionalist Entertainment for Detroit NBC requested to film at the Marine House in Hanoi, Vietnam for their documentary on Marine Vietnam veterans and their families. LA PA worked with MSG Battalion officials and approved access. DSA executed. Producers contacted LA PA on 25 May to inform that they are awaiting funds to finish rough cut.

"Dirty Jobs" – Discovery Channel: Pilgrim Films is requesting to film any of the unsung, dirtier jobs the Marine Corps offers. The other military branches have successfully worked with this show. They are currently filming their fifth season. LA PA is waiting on a clearly defined date for shooting from the producers before we search for an interested helicopter squadron. The producers informed LA PA on 25 May that they expect to film in September.

"Master Chef"— FOX: 3 Ball Productions filmed episode at Camp Pendleton 26 March. Shoot went extremely well and we will be viewing rough cut next week. This will be another Gordon Ramsay show similar to Hell's Kitchen where the contestants compete for an award, but Master Chef is filmed in different locations instead of one restaurant. LA PA reviewed rough cut on 2 June at production office and submitted minor changes. Episode 1 will air in July. Marine Corps episode is #4.

"Six Pack"—Idea Storm Creations: No distribution; Producer Chris De Celle is seeking Marine Corps approval for (b)(6) of 1st Intel Battalion on Camp Pendleton to be one of six bodybuilding competitors featured in a reality TV series that follows the competitors as they train and prepare for the Yorton Cup International Championships. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders' top title. (b)(6) won the "Yorton Cup" title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA. As of 24 June, producers are currently searching for funding for this project.

“A Band of Brides”- Mollie Gross, a former Marine (b)(6) and a comedian is creating a pitch reel July 17 aboard MCB Camp Pendleton. This is the second pitch reel created for this show. The first, produced by M3 Creations, wasn't what the show's hostess had intended so they didn't go any further with the production company. Now, Mollie and Mark are trying to create a pitch reel and sell it to producers. LA PA has provided a letter of intent and imagery release authorization for DIMOC imagery.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Battle for Marjah” – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson embedded June 1-15. Email correspondence on 16 July has the project in the editing process, with a projected rough cut at the end of Sept.

“Secret Iraq” (formerly “Iraq After Saddam”) – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which tells the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. The production provides an account of the Iraq war, using a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers came to LA PA with OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. LAPA reviewed rough cut. While the film claims to take an “all-sides” approach to the issue of the Iraq War, there is an obvious anti-American (and anti-British) sentiment that comes through. The producers seem to take a very sympathetic view of the insurgency and give many insurgent leaders a voice on camera for the first time in this documentary.

“Bomb Hunters: The Real Hurt Locker” – National Geographic TV: Pacific Coast Video has requested to embed with the next deploying Marine EOD unit to document their mission. LA PA has begun coordination with I MEF and OSD to determine if the embed and production support are feasible.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of “Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story” is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial. LA PA has advised 2nd MarDiv PAO on the producers intentions and recommended not supporting the interview request, as it would politicize the CG.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine ^{(b)(6)} in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July.

“Bravo Company” - Kenneth Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested support for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines, 1968 during the siege of Khe Sanh. Rodgers faxed a synopsis and proof of funding 28 June. LAPA sent a DSRF that same day. His project is being funded by the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation. LAPA called July 14 to find out if he is still interested in our support. He informed me that he was currently conducting interviews in Texas at the annual Khe Sanh Veterans Memorial in San Antonio. He returned the DSRF July 15 and has funding from the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation but there is no distribution. Dr. Charles Neimeyer, director of the Marine Corps History Division and Lt. Gen. (Ret) Ron Christmas, president and CEO of the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation are in support of this project. LAPA is creating an Imagery Authorization allowing Rodgers access to the Marine Corps History Division’s reference branch.

“LASIK The Right Stuff” – President of Patient Education Concepts Inc., Robert Watson, requested to film and interview Marine pilots and Naval aviators aboard MCAS Miramar at the end of July. The documentary focuses on the DoD’s involvement in procuring LASIK surgery for Navy SEALs and how it has progressed from that small community into having it available for all service members. Project is funded but there is currently no distribution. Navy LAPA is in contract with this production. On 14 July, LAPA provided Robert Watson with a letter of intent.

“Inside West Coast Customs” – Bull Run Productions: Producers filmed with MARSOC BN on Camp Pendleton Aug. 18. This episode brought West Coast Customs’ star Ryan Friedlinghaus and Predator Inc. President Ryan Wilson to

Camp Pendleton to “get some inspiration” for an upcoming project in which Friedlinghaus will retrofit a civilian Hummer from Predator Inc. MARSOC demonstrated some of their vehicles and personnel on Red Beach, and producers also captured AAVs and a Cobra training on the same day. MARSOC was eager to support the production from the outset. LA PA executed the DSA and escorted the crew. MARSOC’s screening team handled the bulk of coordination, and all MARSOC Marines did well in promoting MARSOC. All went well. Awaiting air date.

“John Basilone: The Legacy of A Hero” – Independent Distribution: Diane Hawkins, niece of Marine Corps legend Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone, is producing a documentary about her uncle’s life and legacy as a Marine hero. Hawkins is “retracing her uncle’s footsteps,” visiting and documenting all the places Basilone served and carrying forward his legacy and that of the Marines of WWII who fought with him or in the same campaigns. LA PA is providing courtesy support so that Hawkins can produce a pitch reel, which will be used to get distribution. Hawkins interviewed the director of History and Museums at CPEN July 13 and recorded B-roll of the base and landmarks that bear Basilone’s name.

“Restrepo” – Outpost Films: This documentary follows an Army unit in Afghanistan. Documentary won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and is an extraordinary film. Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Phone conversation on 26 July has the production still filming with an anticipated rough cut late this year.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) approved the embed, which ended 30 June. Email from production on 15 July stated that they are returning to Afghanistan in order to embed with French troops to supplement the documentary. The production is also dedicating the documentary to an interviewed Marine that was KIA.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Providing access to teams and providing additional footage. Currently scheduling a viewing of the rough cut.

“Dangerous Encounters: Snake Bot” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those used in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. Producers initially wanted to film with Marines, but have changed their support request to just archival imagery release authorization. LA PA provided the release, and producers are working with DIMOC and DVIDS to acquire footage of EOD robots, which will be compared to the “Snake Bot.”

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Producers informed LAPA they are creating a short trailer by mid-June for fundraising purposes to finish editing their project.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – PBS: Producers from Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Production successfully filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems. A new contract/addendum will be needed if they are able to film 3/5 during their Mojave Viper Exercise along with the possibility of embedding with the unit during their deployment.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email correspondence on 17 Aug. has production in the latter parts of filming and initial editing process with an anticipated rough cut in Dec. and an air date at the beginning of the year.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of four Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Awaiting final cut.

"Surviving the Cut: Marine Recon" (formerly "Best of the Best") – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed. Filming began 30 April with BRC and ended 23 July. Rough cut was reviewed and changes were made by production. Show airs 1 Sept.

"Surviving the Cut: Marine Scout Snipers" (formerly "Best of the Best") – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). "Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hodiern Productions LLC is producing a film that will focus on half a dozen or so grunts as main characters. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines. Interviews were facilitated successfully through 1st Marine Division PA. Producer is currently working with Army Public Affairs to access filming Arlington National Cemetery.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion produced four short documentary films (approximately 15 minutes each), which present applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes. The film series "Exercising the Real: Immersion" presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience and shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9, 2009. LA PA reviewed rough cuts. The production style is very unconventional – no voice over narration and no prepared interviews. Marines are shown training on virtual reality applications and at combat town during Exercise Mojave Viper. No corrections necessary.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States. Producers informed LAPA show aired in the UK and will not be airing in the United States.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Too Fat to Fight” – Yap Films requested support for a series that would focus on young men and women who are keen to join the Marines but who have recently failed to meet the minimum weight measurements and physical fitness tests during the recruitment process. LA PA denied support because the production would focus on under qualified prospective recruits during a time when the Corps is downsizing and tightening standards. Simply put, educating the American public about this issue is not a worthy investment of Marine Corps time and resources.

“Modern Marvels: What’s in Your Pocket” – Producers of this show contacted LA PA regarding an episode that looks at various professions (doctors, military, cops, construction workers, TSA) to find out what those people carry in their pockets to aid them in their jobs. Producers wanted to talk to Marines about what tools, gadgets and aids they carry around in the pockets of their combat uniforms and then go into the factories that make those products. LA PA denied support for this particular concept because of the unlikelihood that the contents of a Marine’s utilities would be particularly compelling or enhance public understanding of the Corps. However, LA PA did express the desire to work with Modern Marvels for another concept in the future, as the show is highly rated.

"Foreign & Domestic" - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. After review of script, request was denied because it had no distribution, is not of informational value and is not considered to be in the best interest of public understanding of the U.S. Armed Forces and the Department of Defense.

“Madden” – EA Sports: A Marine from First Recon had been working with an advertising agency to do a commercial for the game. Contacted both the Advertising Agency and the Division/MEF PAOs to tell them that we will not be supporting this production.

“Working Title” - Investigative Discovery Channel: Ben Sessoms, a producer with M2 Pictures, requested B-roll footage of Marine Corps basic training and a photograph of former Marine Skylar Deleon, a Marine who had gone UA after basic training and was later found guilty of murdering a married couple. SNM is currently serving a life sentence and the bodies were never found. This was denied due to the fact that his being a Marine had no relation to the fact he murdered a married couple.

“The Troy Hartman Project” – SyFy Network: Snakeoil Productions contacted LA PA to seek assistance on an invention experimental show featuring Troy Hartman, an “X-Games Sky Surfing Gold Medalist.” The request was to have Troy launch a kayak, modified with glider capabilities, from a CH-46. An second request was for assistance in using a CH-46 to transport an “individual jet-powered wing” so that Troy could fly from Palos Verdes (LA) to Catalina Island. The production wanted to pitch the sales of such devices to DoD if the tests were successful. Request was denied as it did not portray the mission of the Corps and the inherent danger of the evolution.

“In The Pursuit of Happiness” – Mayfair Films: Producers from Mayfair Film Partnership and Vanity Projects approached LA PA concerning a film featuring Russell Brand, an award-winning comic and actor. SUPPORTING TELEVISION PROJECTS:

“Price is Right” – CBS: Producers of this game show have requested support again for their annual Salute to the Military episode. They want a Marine color guard and band and help filling their audience with service members from all five branches of the service. LA PA has the lead on coordination. The MCRD SD Band is supporting, and RS LA is providing the color guard. Audience coordination is coming together well. Filming will take place Sept. 20.

“Wheel of Fortune” – CBS: Producers decided not to pursue an all military audience for their Armed Forces Week episodes, citing “the level of complexity and short time window” for support coordination. Filming took place Sept. 2 and LA PA checked uniforms of the three Marine contestants (all SNCOs) and provided standard PA brief.

“Only in America” – History Channel: Pilgrim Films is pitching a show in order to build ratings and to bring a reality version to the network. In the series, Dan Whitney (aka “Larry the Cable Guy”), a well-known comedian, will use his humor to embarrass himself as he tours the nation and interacts with the “everyday person.” The production requested to highlight the Marine Corps and how Larry is unable to perform the functions of a Marine. Pilgrim Films also produces Dirty Jobs for Discovery. PAA executed. Shoot completed 5 Aug. with 1st Bn, 5th Marines, SOI-W, AAV School and 3rd AABn. Awaiting rough cut.

“America’s Next Top Model” – The girlfriend of a Reserve Marine assigned to MWSG-47 is a contestant on America's Next Top Model. Show producers wanted to conduct interviews with family members and friends of each contestant and had asked the Marine to sign a contract/release that would grant producers interviews and access to his home. LA PA advised MARFORES PAO that the producers needed to come through LA PA to interview the Marine. The Marine’s adjutant, ^{(b)(6)} advised him of the requirements, and the producers and the Marine no longer wish to conduct the interview.

“Biggest Loser” — NBC: Show has an average rating of 10.2 million viewers each week. Supported an episode that demonstrates the quality of Marine Corps physical fitness. Contestants spent a week with combat instructors from the School of Infantry, the highlight of which was a challenge that featured Camp Pendleton’s training areas on and around Red Beach, rotary-wing aviation assets, LAVs and Marine personnel. Production went very well. Episode will air in November.

“NCIS” – CBS: Reviewed script for episode #167 “Dead Air.” No Marine depiction.

“NCIS: Los Angeles” – CBS: Reviewed script for episode 206-30 “Standoff.” No Marine depiction.

"Pure Combat Mixed Martial Arts Fight" – SPIKE: LA PA was contacted by Pure Combat/Hitman Fights, Inc. productions shortly before a scheduled MMA event that took place 7 May in order to film the event aboard Camp Pendleton. PAA was executed and the event was successful. Email to producer on 27 Aug. to determine progress.

"SuperNanny" - ABC: The show designed to correct behavior of children has requested LA PA support for a Marine family aboard Camp Pendleton. (b)(6) (b)(6) have been selected as participants. (b)(6) s currently deployed and (b)(6) is at home with (b)(6) Shooting took place May 7-19, highlighting the Family Readiness program as well as personnel connected to the program. Awaiting rough cut.

"A Boy and His Dog" – No Distribution: Met with producer Richard Cartwright this week to discuss his project which would highlight Marine MPs and their K-9 working dogs. Richard would like to pick a unit and cover the unit in Afghanistan. Project documentary would then develop into a feature film. No Marine Corps action until distribution is secured.

"Dirty Jobs" – Discovery Channel: Pilgrim Films is requesting to film any of the unsung, dirtier jobs the Marine Corps offers. The other military branches have successfully worked with this show. They are currently filming their fifth season. LA PA is waiting on a clearly defined date for shooting from the producers before we search for an interested helicopter squadron. Currently in contact with production company on possible shoot dates.

"A Band of Brides"- Mollie Gross, a former Marine (b)(6) and a comedian is creating a pitch reel July 17 aboard MCB Camp Pendleton. This is the second pitch reel created for this show. The first, produced by M3 Creations, wasn't what the show's hostess had intended so they didn't go any further with the production company. Now, Mollie and Mark are trying to create a pitch reel and sell it to producers. LA PA has provided a letter of intent and imagery release authorization for DIMOC imagery.

DOCUMENTARIES:

"Surviving the Cut ("Best of The Best"): Marine Scout Snipers" – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed. TECOM PA and SOI-W approved filming of an additional episode covering the Scout Sniper course. Filming began 19 July. Production to film 13-15 Sept. for the last segment of the episode.

"Battle for Marjah" – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson embedded June 1-15. Email correspondence on 16

July has the project in the editing process, with a projected rough cut at the end of Sept.

“Secret Iraq” (formerly “Iraq After Saddam”) – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which tells the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. The production provides an account of the Iraq war, using a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers came to LA PA with OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. LAPA reviewed rough cut. While the film claims to take an “all-sides” approach to the issue of the Iraq War, there is an obvious anti-American (and anti-British) sentiment that comes through. The producers seem to take a very sympathetic view of the insurgency and give many insurgent leaders a voice on camera for the first time in this documentary.

“Bomb Hunters: The Real Hurt Locker” – National Geographic TV: Pacific Coast Video has requested to embed with the next deploying Marine EOD unit to document their mission. LA PA has begun coordination with I MEF and OSD to determine if the embed and production support is feasible.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of “Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story” is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial. Currently working with MARFORPAC, JPAC, and 2nd MarDiv on developing a PA Plan for the recovery efforts.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine ^{(b)(6)} in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July.

“Bravo Company” - Ken Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested assistance in acquiring archival footage from the Gray Research Center for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines during the siege of Khe Sanh in 1968. LA PA provided Rodgers an imagery release authorization.

“Inside West Coast Customs” – Bull Run Productions: Producers filmed with MARSOC BN on Camp Pendleton Aug. 18. This episode brought West Coast Customs’ star Ryan Friedlinghaus and Predator Inc. President Ryan Wilson to Camp Pendleton to “get some inspiration” for an upcoming project in which Friedlinghaus will retrofit a civilian Hummer from Predator Inc. MARSOC demonstrated some of their vehicles and personnel on Red Beach, and producers also captured AAVs and a Cobra training on the same day. MARSOC was eager to support the production from the outset. LA PA executed the DSA and escorted the crew. MARSOC’s screening team handled the bulk of coordination, and all MARSOC Marines did well in promoting MARSOC. All went well. Awaiting air date.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Phone conversation on 26 July has the production still filming with an anticipated rough cut late this year.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) approved the embed, which ended 30 June. Email from production on 15 July stated that they are returning to Afghanistan in order to embed with French troops to supplement the documentary. The production is also dedicating the documentary to an interviewed Marine that was KIA.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – PBS: Producers from Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion

June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB's self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Production successfully filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems.

"Surviving D-Day" – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email correspondence on 17 Aug. has production in the latter parts of filming and initial editing process with an anticipated rough cut in Dec. and an air date at the beginning of the year.

"Sniper: Deadliest Mission" – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) This two-hour special is a highly polished production that provides an unprecedented look at some of the most dangerous sniper missions carried out by some of the Corps' most famous snipers, including Carlos Hathcock, Chuck Mawhinney and Ethan Place. LA PA reviewed rough cut. No changes necessary. Program will air Sept. 14 at 8 p.m.

"Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hodiernie Productions LLC is producing a character-driven documentary about grunts serving in Afghanistan. Producers recently concluded their second round of shooting with 2nd Platoon, A Co., 2/1 and plan to shoot the unit's homecoming in late September. The two-hour film focuses on three main characters and about six supporting characters. It will air on PBS in the winter of 2011.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines. Interviews were facilitated successfully through 1st Marine Division PA. Producer is currently working with Army Public Affairs to access filming Arlington National Cemetery.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion produced four short documentary films (approximately 15 minutes each), which present applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes. The film series "Exercising the Real: Immersion" presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience and shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9, 2009. LA PA reviewed rough cuts. The production style is very unconventional – no voice over narration and no prepared interviews. Marines are shown training on virtual reality applications and at combat town during Exercise Mojave Viper. No corrections necessary.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept 09. Final interview completed on 2 Aug. Production is in the editing process.

VIDEO GAMES:

“Ace Combat 7”—Namco: Production team contacted our office to gather sound and video of fixed and rotary wing assets for their latest game. Waiting for story board of game prior to making decision.

“Call of Duty—Modern Warfare 3: -- Infinity Ward: Producers originally made contact at E3 to gather footage of LCACs for CGI purposes. Working with producers to discuss potential Marine Corps inclusion of the game.

PROJECTS COMPLETE:

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States. Producers informed LAPA show aired in the UK and will not be airing in the United States.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Too Fat to Fight” – Yap Films requested support for a series that would focus on young men and women who are keen to join the Marines but who have recently failed to meet the minimum weight measurements and physical fitness tests during the recruitment process. LA PA denied support because the production would focus on under qualified prospective recruits during a time when the Corps is downsizing and tightening standards. Simply put, educating the American public about this issue is not a worthy investment of Marine Corps time and resources.

“Modern Marvels: What’s in Your Pocket” – Producers of this show contacted LA PA regarding an episode that looks at various professions (doctors, military, cops, construction workers, TSA) to find out what those people carry in their pockets to aid them in their jobs. Producers wanted to talk to Marines about what tools, gadgets and aids they carry around in the pockets of their combat uniforms and then go into the factories that make those products. LA PA denied support for this particular concept because of the unlikelihood that the contents of a Marine's utilities would be particularly compelling or enhance public understanding of the Corps. However, LA PA did express the desire to work with Modern Marvels for another concept in the future, as the show is highly rated.

"Foreign & Domestic" - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. After review of script, request was denied because it had no distribution, is not of informational value and is not considered to be in the best interest of public understanding of the U.S. Armed Forces and the Department of Defense.

"Madden" – EA Sports: A Marine from First Recon had been working with an advertising agency to do a commercial for the game. Contacted both the Advertising Agency and the Division/MEF PAOs to tell them that we will not be supporting this production.

"Working Title" - Investigative Discovery Channel: Ben Sessoms, a producer with M2 Pictures, requested B-roll footage of Marine Corps basic training and a photograph of former Marine Skylar Deleon, a Marine who had gone UA after basic training and was later found guilty of murdering a married couple. SNM is currently serving a life sentence and the bodies were never found. This was denied due to the fact that his being a Marine had no relation to the fact he murdered a married couple.

PENDING AIR DATE:

"Hell's Kitchen" – FOX: Upper Ground Enterprises requested to have 12 Marines sit in audience on 26 Feb for production. PAA executed. Email conversation on 25 May revealed that the production just started the editing process for this episode. Reviewed rough cut on 23 June with no discrepancies. Awaiting air date.

"Warrior"- Lionsgate: LA PA helped producers locate and solicit Marine extras for this movie, which is filming in Pittsburgh, Penn., and also sent a representative June 15 to advise on a battle scene set in Iraq. LA PA was present at final shoot in Pittsburgh, PA. Movie is anticipated to come out in Summer of 2011.

Filming began 19 July. Production filmed 13-15 Sept. for the last segment of the episode. Reviewed rough cut 14 Sept. LA PA to review final cut 17 Sept. Show to air 22 Sept.

“Secret Iraq” (formerly “Iraq After Saddam”) – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which tells the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. The production provides an account of the Iraq war, using a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers came to LA PA with OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their "curve ball" question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. LAPA reviewed rough cut. While the film claims to take an "all-sides" approach to the issue of the Iraq War, there is an obvious anti-American (and anti-British) sentiment that comes through. The producers seem to take a very sympathetic view of the insurgency and give many insurgent leaders a voice on camera for the first time in this documentary.

"Bomb Hunters: The Real Hurt Locker" – National Geographic TV: Pacific Coast Video has requested to embed with the next deploying Marine EOD unit to document their mission. LA PA has begun coordination with I MEF and OSD to determine if the embed and production support is feasible.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of "Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story" is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial. Currently working with MARFORPAC, JPAC, and 2nd MarDiv on developing a PA Plan for the recovery efforts.

"Alternative History" – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine, (b)(6) in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July. Awaiting rough cut.

"Bravo Company" - Ken Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested assistance in acquiring archival footage from the Gray Research Center for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines during the siege of Khe Sanh in 1968. LA PA provided Rodgers an imagery release authorization.

“Inside West Coast Customs” – Bull Run Productions: Producers filmed with MARSOC BN on Camp Pendleton Aug. 18. This episode brought West Coast Customs’ star Ryan Friedlinghaus and Predator Inc. President Ryan Wilson to Camp Pendleton to “get some inspiration” for an upcoming project in which Friedlinghaus will retrofit a civilian Hummer from Predator Inc. MARSOC demonstrated some of their vehicles and personnel on Red Beach, and producers also captured AAVs and a Cobra training on the same day. MARSOC was eager to support the production from the outset. LA PA executed the DSA and escorted the crew. MARSOC’s screening team handled the bulk of coordination, and all MARSOC Marines did well in promoting MARSOC. All went well. Awaiting rough cut and air date.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Phone conversation on 26 July has the production still filming with an anticipated rough cut late this year.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) approved the embed, which ended 30 June. Email from production on 15 July stated that they are returning to Afghanistan in order to embed with French troops to supplement the documentary. The production is also dedicating the documentary to an interviewed Marine that was KIA.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – PBS: Producers from Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email correspondence on 17 Aug. has production in the latter parts of filming and initial editing process with an anticipated rough cut in Dec. and an air date at the beginning of the year.

“Combat Outpost: Afghanistan” – PBS: Hodierna Productions LLC is producing a character-driven documentary about grunts serving in Afghanistan. Producers recently concluded their second round of shooting with 2nd Platoon, A Co., 2/1 and plan to shoot the unit’s homecoming in late September. “The Western Front” (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. successfully through 1st Marine Division PA. Producer is currently working with Army Public Affairs to access filming Arlington National Cemetery.

LA PA reviewed rough cut. No changes necessary. Program premiered Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. and brought in 1.3 million viewers.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Modern Marvels: What’s in Your Pocket” – Producers of this show contacted LA PA regarding an episode that looks at various professions (doctors, military, cops, construction workers, TSA) to find out what those people carry in their pockets to aid them in their jobs. Producers wanted to talk to Marines about what tools, gadgets and aids they carry around in the pockets of their combat uniforms and then go into the factories that make those products. LA PA denied support for this particular concept because of the unlikelihood that the contents of a Marine's utilities would be particularly compelling or enhance public understanding of the Corps. However, LA PA did express the desire to work with Modern Marvels for another concept in the future, as the show is highly rated.

"Foreign & Domestic" - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. After review of script, request was denied because it had no distribution, is not of informational value and is not considered to be in the best interest of public understanding of the U.S. Armed Forces and the Department of Defense.

"Working Title" - Investigative Discovery Channel: Ben Sessoms, a producer with M2 Pictures, requested B-roll footage of Marine Corps basic training and a photograph of former Marine Skylar Deleon, a Marine who had gone UA after basic training and was later found guilty of murdering a married couple. SNM is currently serving a life sentence and the bodies were never found. This was denied due to the fact that his being a Marine had no relation to the fact he murdered a married couple.

(b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. “Military Marriage” – No distribution: Production Partners, Inc. requested support in producing a pilot for a reality series that would take a realistic look at the challenges of marriage and significant others within the military during long absences from each other. “Desert Shot” – independent internet distribution: D2D Films requested support for a short film that “has a primary purpose of demonstrating the love of God being acted out by a Marine who's just seen his friend presumably killed in combat. Instead of carrying out instant justice after catching the Afghan gunman, the Marine demonstrates a gift of self control that could only have been enabled by God.” LA PA denied this request because the production has no distribution.

“Foreign & Domestic” - Producers with Broken Doll Entertainment requested to film aboard MCB Camp Pendleton for their film about two Marines who were torn apart because of their views on Operation Iraqi Freedom. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. DENIED REQUESTS:

“Military Wives” – E! Entertainment: John Formichella of Comcast Entertainment Group was initially working direct with the Officer Wives Club in order to film the life of military wives. LA PA became involved and learned that the production wanted to base a majority of their interviews on troops that suffered from PTSD. The support request did not state this and after communicating with Army LA PA, it was determined that the production had the intentions of making a mockery of the medical treatment for those that suffer from PTSD. Since the production approached more than one branch, request was sent to Terry Mitchell and was denied due to the nature of the request and it not being our target audience. LA PA informed the commands in So Cal that no USMC support was given, although that did not preclude spouses from being interviewed.

“GSN Live” – Public Relations with the Game Show Network requested the Marine Corps sponsors a week of their “Live” show, a short, live question-and-answer segment prior to commercials during the break from the recorded show. They requested their television network hosts the Marine Corps during the week of the Marine Corps Ball for the promotional price of $65,000 or its equivalency in dual – promotion. LA PA informed GSN they do not promote nor advertise companies.

"Bomb Squad" –Producer Nick Verbitsky proposed a reality series on Marine EOD. LA PA denied this request because Verbitsky has no distribution agreement, and LA PA is already working with DoD/CENTCOM/I MEF to support similar production requests that have distribution.

“Wheel of Fortune” – CBS: Producers decided not to pursue an all military audience for their Armed Forces Week episodes, citing “the level of complexity and short time window” for support coordination. Filming took place Sept. 2 and LA PA checked uniforms of the three Marine contestants (all SNCOs) and provided standard PA brief. Episodes will air Nov. 15-19.

The series features a “famous and award-winning” Choir Master Gareth Malone, in his attempts to create choirs in the unlikeliest of places and inspire participants “to come together and express themselves as a community.” Producers request to film approximately 2-3 weeks aboard Camp Pendleton to capture training events and life aboard the base, to add context to the show. The two-hour film focused on Marines and corpsmen from 2nd Platoon, A Co., 2/1. The producer was embedded during the company's 7-month deployment to Helmand province. LA PA reviewed rough cut on 9 April and had major concerns with both the message behind the film and multiple OPSEC violations. Overall intent behind the movie seemed to be a condemnation of policy and of the USMC’s mission in Afghanistan. The overall tone was failure and hopelessness despite the efforts of the Marines and Navy corpsmen. LA PA is re-engaging Production Company to discuss rough cut corrections.

“American Couples” – HBO/BBC: HBO interviewed numerous couples from Camp Pendleton for a documentary that explores strong relationships. Pool of couples from 3rd Amphibious Assault BN were interviewed Wednesday, 11 April. LA PA escorted additional shoot of one Marine family on Monday, 16 April.

LA PA and production team met with 15th MEU CO and staff 17 January to discuss possible filming timeline. CHINFO denied support and LAPA is evaluating whether to support.

“Preserve, Protect, and Defend” – Oregon Public Broadcasting: CineGroup Films, evaluating request to for access to Marine Corps installations and SMEs for preproduction and story development regarding environmental and cultural resource conservation programs available in the Marine Corps. The documentary will also highlight how two seemingly diametrically opposed entities, the military and conservation groups are working together to preserve the environments and natural resources. This is a Joint Forces project with the Navy as lead. Producer toured Camp Pendleton and spoke with environmental staff 18 April. He was impressed and wants to revisit base and focus on encroachment and the existence of steel trout at CPEN, a fish long believed to be extinct in the area. LAPAO coordinated visits to MCAS Yuma and 29 Palms 24-25 April, and local PAOs provided tours. Producer is interested in returning to get more details on desert pronghorn sheep recovery and flat-tailed horned lizard protection projects and other environmental programs. LAPA contacted producers 21 June for follow up. Awaiting response.

“Operation Surf” – Currently no distribution: PGA Films contacted LA PAO through Wounded Warrior Battalion West, seeking approval to film surfing-based therapy programs that the WWB Marines and Sailors currently participate in every week aboard Camp Pendleton. Signed Documentary Support Agreement and are currently coordinating schedule of filming with Producers.

“To Save A Life” – Army Medical Historical Division: Patrick Fries, a producer with Arrowhead Films, has been contracted by the AMHD to create a documentary on the Army’s Medevac Dustoff teams. DSA executed. Denver OSO (PAO) escorted film crew. Followed up with producers on 21 May 2012. Standing by for rough cut.

“Female Engagement Team” – potential DVD distribution: DSA executed. Production (Fidelis Arts) aims to tell the story of the pre-deployment training of various FET Marines. They hope to put a human face on their mission by recording training and conducting a series of interviews that capture the individual growth of these women. Production crew filmed with the team in Nov-Dec 2011 and will check in with LA PAO for possible DVIDS follow-up interviews while the Marines are deployed ISO OEF. They would ideally like to conduct post-deployment interviews when the Marines return, in order to highlight how their pre-deployment training prepared them for their forward mission.

In addition to this surprise, they are requesting the Marine to surprise his spouse as she would be unaware of his homecoming. LA PAO denied this because the Marine Corps does not deny Marines who recently returned from a combat deployment, the right to see their family as quickly as possible. In addition, redeployments typically have an 18-hour window, which the show would not be flexible enough to work around.

“Stars Earn Stripes”- NBC: Producers Dick Wolf (“Law and Order”) and Mark Burnett (“Survivor”) in collaboration with Mark Burness Productions requested active duty and retired service members and first responders to take part in a reality show competition. The series will pair celebrities from music, sports, and Hollywood, with ‘trainers’ from each military branch and various law enforcement agencies. The trainers will prepare the celebrities physically and mentally to compete and earn prize money for their favorite charity. Producers have requested HM3 Talon Smith, a corpsman with 1st Recon and 1st MarDiv BAS, to be a contestant on the show. Enlistment Policies and CONGRINT (MCRC Lead): MC Times queried HQMC about a month ago on the USMC policy prohibiting enlistment if someone has an illegal immigrant dependent. There have been previous stories about it recently, and this query was due to a large group of members of Congress sending a letter to the service secretaries challenging the policy. M&RA and MCRC are working this.

Uniform Matters (HQMC Lead): NSTR.

(b)(6) Award Determination (OSD Lead): SecDef announced 6-7 Jan14 that he will reopen the case to assess whether or not an upgrade is warranted.

At this time, no final decisions have been made on the Department of Defense's fiscal year 2015 budget submission. Therefore, it would be inappropriate to discuss any specific budget decisions."
