“How to Look Good Naked” – Lifetime Television: Reality television show that gives makeovers to women who are dissatisfied with their appearance. (Note: there is no actual nudity). A Marine wife from MCB Camp Pendleton applied to be on the show and was accepted (though she doesn't know yet). Since the woman and her family live in base housing, they've asked to film aboard base and film her husband during the reveal time. Forwarded to HQMC for their opinion, because the host is Carson Kressley, former host of Queer Eye for the Straight Guy. HQMC said they are okay with proceeding, and so support is expected to be given on three separate occasions during the month of July. Production Assistance Agreement has been sent to the production company, awaiting signature. MTF as it develops.

“Transformers 2” – Paramount Pictures: Joint planning held Feb. 13 to discuss the military's role in the sequel, due out in June 2009. Production is expected to begin this summer, most likely in June. At the meeting we pitched the idea of having some of the lead military characters to be MARSOC portrayals, and most seemed to like it. Script is in development right now due to the Writers strike just being lifted. DoD has given support agreement letter, (b)(6) has been appointed the Marine Corps Project Officer. So far, it looks like they want to use Marine extras in several scenes; they want to film a CH-53 in several different locations; they want to use tanks doing an amphibious landing on an LCAC; and they potentially want to film using one of the beaches at Camp Pendleton. MTF as situation develops. Production has begun and should carry through the fall. New projected for CH-53 in San Diego is early October (no solid dates as of yet). <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt1055369/> /Z

They will be filming in New Mexico, and have not revised the first draft of their script due to the Writer's Guild strike. It appears there will be little to no support required of the Marine Corps (almost exclusively Air Force). They are working with the Army, and have been passed to us by DoD, but do not have a distribution deal yet. Everything is initial coordination, and preparing for the potential that the show will get picked up. Hearst Corporation will begin to pitch the project to major stations to see if any will pick it up and run with it. Producers are interested in finding Marines who write/sing music prior to their unit deploying, so that once the unit deploys they can request an embed with that unit, go to Iraq, and film how the Marine uses music as an outlet in theater. They are working with the Army, and have been passed to us by DoD, but do not have a distribution deal yet. Everything is initial coordination, and preparing for the potential that the show will get picked up. Hearst Corporation will begin to pitch the project to major stations to see if any will pick it up and run with it. MTF. /K

They are working with the Army, and have been passed to us by DoD, but do

“Military Heroes” – FOX: Veterans Day special – MyNetwork TV contacted our office with vague ideas of what type of features they would like to include in their two-hour special. We have provided courtesy support so far and advised the producers to compile specific requests for support so we can work a production assistance agreement and DoD can task all the services individually. The show is sponsored by Sears, and the producers are trying to feature stories that help out military members and their families (ie. connect a deployed service member with his wife and newborn via video-teleconference and then build the family a nursery). They may also compile some simple, "feel-good" package stories. MTF as it develops. /R

Danny must deal with the demons of his troubled childhood, including confronting his small-time drug dealer father again and struggling to rescue his younger brother Rico from the rough life of the streets. Danny may suffer from PTSD, either combat-related or from his childhood. Cajayon has requested courtesy support from the Marine Corps in order to make Danny and his mental health issues as realistic as possible. Research assistance only, MTF as it develops. /R

The film is being made in association with the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum and has been forwarded to our office for support by (b)(6). BACKBURNER:

"Voices from the Frontline"- Voices from the Frontline is a series that follows the lives of U.S. soldiers & Marines stationed in Iraq as they craft their musical messages to loved ones back home. Inspired by the hip hop album of the same name that sold over 30,000 CDs through AAFES & Softland; this project began as a way for soldiers & Marines to tell their stories using music. Producers are interested in finding Marines who write/sing music prior to their unit deploying, so that once the unit deploys they can request an embed with that unit, go to Iraq, and film how the Marine uses music as an outlet in theater. They are working with the Army, and have been passed to us by DoD, but do not have a distribution deal yet. Everything is initial coordination, and preparing for the potential that the show will get picked up. Hearst Corporation will begin to pitch the project to major stations to see if any will pick it up and run with it. MTF. /K

SCHEDULED TO AIR OR RELEASE:

LAPAO SUPPORT:

"The Price is Right" – CBS: Show producers requested 30 Marine audience members / potential contestants for an all-military special to be filmed Sept. 10 (Note: when show producers contacted the Marine liaison office, they informed us that they had already found Navy, Air Force and Army contestants – 30 from each service – without going through the respective liaison offices. We informed them of proper protocols). Producers also requested a Marine band. Thirty Marine volunteers from Camp Pendleton units will appear in dress blue bravo uniform in the audience, and any of those Marines can be called up as contestants. The 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing band from MCAS Miramar will march out with former Marine host Drew Carey to start the show, and the band will take the show into commercials. Show will air on Veteran's Day.

"True Life" – MTV: Wounded Warrior Regiment PAO received a request to film a Marine for a show entitled "I Have PTSD." The production crew wished to follow three young veterans of different branches for a period of five months as they cope and receive treatment for PTSD. Currently looking internally for potential Marines, still determining if support will be provided.

"America United: In Support of Our Troops" - ABC: Concert that was filmed at CPEN will air September 7th. Footage screened and approved with no objections. Show to air Sept. 7.

"Military Heroes" – FOX: Veterans Day special – MyNetwork TV contacted our office with vague ideas of what type of features they would like to include in their two-hour special. We have provided courtesy support so far and advised the producers to compile specific requests for support so we can work a production assistance agreement and DoD can task all the services individually. The show is sponsored by Sears, and the producers are trying to feature stories that help out military members and their families (ie. connect a deployed service member with his wife and newborn via video-teleconference and then build the family a nursery). They may also compile some simple, "feel-good" package stories. Support cancelled due to subject being too broad. Requested producers develop a more detailed idea of the show, rather than placing the work upon the branches of service.

"Glass Street" - 5 Card Productions: Independent film maker Gene Cajayon has requested an interview with one or two combat arms Marines who have seen combat in the current conflicts. Cajayon has also requested an interview with a military mental health professional at Balboa who has experience treating service members for combat stress. Cajayon has requested courtesy support from the Marine Corps in order to make Danny and his mental health issues as realistic as possible. Research assistance only until distribution has been acquired.

"Transformers 2" – Paramount Pictures: Support ongoing. Filming of 3d MAW CH-53 conducting external load on or about 8 Oct in San Diego. Production crew will conference call or visit squadron to plan the details of the shoot). Cobra, Huey, LCAC and tank shoot also approximately Oct. 8 at Camp Pendleton, depending on additional scout on Monday 25 Aug. Production crew will resume filming with main actors and Marine actors approximately Sept. 19, in New Mexico. Projected having actual Marine extras (15 or 50 personnel) in White Sands, NM, at the same time. Contacted Btry D, 2/14 for support. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt1055369/>

"One Tree Hill" - CW: Producers would like to put on an actual USO type conference at Camp Lejeune and use it in an upcoming episode. Initial script has been reviewed and approved. Initial coordination made with Camp Lejeune and MCAS New River Public Affairs. Producer wishes to film show with use of amphitheater at New River. Currently awaiting final revision of script in order to establish a production agreement. Date is TBD but anticipating late September. <http://www.cwtv.com/shows/one-tree-hill>

"Military Canines" – Dreamworks: Research team was aboard Camp Pendleton to develop a storyline for military working dogs July 28 and 29. No actual filming took place and Camp Pen PAO was made aware to not allow coverage of canine IED training.

"AH-1W/AH-1Z Cobra Helicopter" – Military Tech Television: G4 productions wishes to broadcast a four minute segment highlighting the capabilities of the AH-1 Cobra. Coordination between 4th MAW PAO and squadron established. Filming is projected to take place around Sept. 15. Currently working with squadron for air support. Upon confirmation of feasible support, production agreement will be completed. <http://pro.imdb.com/company/co0049882/>

“Cold Case” – Episode 5: Network show involving fictional law enforcement investigations will focus on a case where a Marine committed a murder, during the Korean War era, at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, Philadelphia. Script received 2 July and is currently under review. Network is currently working with Navy LA PAO on this series. Recommended changes to script have been returned to writers. Note that some scenes have been previously shot and changes may not take affect. Shooting resumed on Aug. 9 at the shipyard.

“How to Look Good Naked” – Lifetime Television: Reality television show that gives makeovers to women who are dissatisfied with their appearance. (Note: there is no actual nudity). A Marine wife from MCB Camp Pendleton applied to be on the show and was accepted (though she doesn't know yet). Since the woman and her family live in base housing, they've asked to film aboard base and film her husband during the reveal time. Forwarded to HQMC for their opinion, because the host is Carson Kressley, former host of Queer Eye for the Straight Guy. HQMC said they are okay with proceeding, and so support is expected to be given on three separate occasions during the month of July. Final shoot happened 15 July with air date around the end of August to early Sept. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt1001474/>

“Snoop Dogg's Father Hood” – E!: Snoop Dogg's reality show made a last minute request to film Snoop's participation in the America United Concert May 8 and we were able to accommodate it. They just wanted to film everything relating to his set up and appearance. They have asked for him to be able to come back to Camp Pendleton with Snoop's two sons (ages 11 and 14) in tow. Originally planned for June 11, but because of touring conflicts, the visit won't happen until September.

“Jeopardy!” – Sony Pictures Television: Jeopardy! asked to have access to MCB Quantico and the National Museum of the Marine Corps to film answers for upcoming episodes where the questions pertain to the Marine Corps. (b)(6) at Quantico was named the project officer; production assistance agreement was signed April 29, 2008; escort went well. Air date TBD. Addendum page added on Aug. 5 to PAA for footage of Marine One being used in the show. Additional addendum established for use of Marine Corps symbol (Eagle, Globe and Anchor). Filming took place Aug. 19.

“Taking Chance” – HBO Films: HBO green lit an original film about (b)(6) experience serving as an escort officer for the body of Lance Cpl. Chance Phelps. Producers attended chow hall dedication to Lance Cpl. Phelps in 29 Palms April 2006, and conducted background interviews with friends and family. Kevin Bacon has been cast to play the part of (b)(6). Anticipate this to be a very positive movie for the Marine Corps and the DoD as a whole. Screened the movie April 29, 2008, and it looks great. Anticipate this will be a very good film for the Marine Corps when it releases. The producers said that when they've screened it for various audiences, they have gotten really amazing feedback, and a lot of times people say they had no idea the military did what they do for every service member that is KIA. Release date on HBO is expected to be sometime in January or February

2009. Once the air date gets set, we will begin to coordinate DoD screenings and USMC-specific screenings. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt1019454/>

“Terminator 4: Salvation” – Warner Bros.: Newest Terminator movie is expected to begin production in May 2008. We had an initial, joint meeting with the producers of the show to discuss their idea of the kind of support they are looking for. From the Marine Corps’ perspective, they’ve asked to have Hueys and potentially Cobras be a part of filming sometime in May or June 2008. They will be filming in New Mexico, and have not revised the first draft of their script due to the Writer’s Guild strike. It appears there will be little to no support required of the Marine Corps (almost exclusively Air Force). MTF if that changes. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt0438488/>

“TapouT” – Pilgrim Films and Television: Reality show about three UFC celebrities scouring the country to find the next UFC champions. The three hosts were going to be aboard Camp Pendleton for a book signing Feb. 15. In an effort to give them a real taste of the Marine Corps, the public affairs shop down at Camp Pendleton decided to line up a chance for the reality show hosts to: visit the infantry immersion; ride aboard an AAV and meet that the Marines of that unit; fire a grenade launcher simulator; and observe a Marine Corps Martial Arts demonstration. When the producers heard what they were doing, they asked if they could film the whole day’s events. It will have nothing to do with what the reality show does (look for the next UFC fighter), but will simply be showing the ethos of the Corps to a different (and very recruitable) target audience. Production assistance agreement signed Feb. 13, 2008. Filming went well Feb. 15. Air date is unknown at this time, but season two will beginning airing in July. <http://www.tapout.com>

“American Ninja Challenge” – G4 TV channel: A nationally aired show in its second season that reaches over a million viewers. It is a reality/game show based on athletic adventure that encourages endurance and commitment for competing contestants. They have requested to film for half of a day at one of the Camp Pendleton obstacle courses. Their six finalists would compete by doing the obstacle course and the best three times would advance to their next round, to be filmed off base. Camp Pendleton has decided that the request is supportable, and held a scout visit for them last week, which the network loved. Production assistance agreement was signed Feb. 14, 2008. Filmed at the end of February. Everything went well, according to plan, and the production was really happy with what they got. Air date to be determined. <http://www.g4tv.com/ninjawarrior/index.html>

“Frost/Nixon” – Universal Pictures: Directed by Ron Howard, A dramatic retelling of the post-Watergate television interviews between British talk-show host David Frost and former president Richard Nixon. The production company would like to use the Marine One VH-3 helicopter that is a Marine Corps artifact on loan to the Nixon Presidential Library in Yorba Linda, Calif., for one scene of the film. From a Marine Corps perspective, there are no concerns about the portrayal. The request was reviewed by the Aviation Curator at the National Museum of the Marine Corps. Production assistance agreement signed Sept. 21, 2007. (b)(6) (from the Miramar museum) were on set for prep and filming Sept. 25 and 26. All filming went well and according to plan. Film is in post-production, expected release date Dec. 5, 2008. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt0870111/>

"The Pacific War" (2009 TV mini-series) - DreamWorks & HBO: A 10-part mini-series from the creators of Band of Brothers telling stories of America's battle with the Japanese in the Pacific during World War II, focusing on Marines. Based on the books "With the Old Breed: At Okinawa and Peleliu" and "Helmet for my Pillow." Dale Dye is the military technical adviser, and the production has decided to film in Australia. They will follow the 1st Marine Division, and specifically, (b)(6) and (b)(6). Will begin at Guadalcanal and hit most of the major battles 1st Marine Division experienced to the end of the war. Assistance ongoing as required. <http://pro.imdb.com/title/tt0374463/>

DENIED REQUESTS:

"Fat Free Fiances" – Style Network: Requested to "challenge" one of their couples to go through a Camp Pendleton obstacle course. The production would not further the American public's understanding of the Marine Corps' core values, roles and/or missions and, due to operational commitments, CPAO does not have the personnel available to support their request.

Magical Elves, Inc.: Requested filming of docu-drama style show about a general public company that hosts parties of various sorts. The company was hosting a party for a family member aboard Camp Pendleton. The request did not meet our mission criteria and Camp Pendleton ComRel did not have personnel to support such a request that did not benefit the Corps. Camp Pendleton denied the request which prompted the show's producer to contact LAPAO, which was subsequently denied.

DENIED REQUESTS:

Request from Lexi Meece, a casting agent working for director Nicolai Fuglsig on a yet-to-be-named film with an unfinished script. Fuglsig wanted to meet with and interview a small unit of combat-arms Marines who recently returned from a combat deployment to better understand the inner-workings and operating procedures of such units. Explained to Miss Meece that we cannot move forward to officially support until we can see a script. We did, however, offer courtesy support in the form of an interview by Mr. Fuglsig with Marines from our office. Have not received a response to our courtesy support offer.

(b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Pit Boss”—Intuitive Entertainment for Animal Planet: Producers with Intuitive Entertainment requested to film their host “rescuing a pit bull” from a deploying Marine who is not allowed to keep his canine on a military base. This was denied due to the short deadline of their request and the potential travel required required by the Marine participant and the DoD project officer (Los Angeles) and manpower issues due to our full effort for the West Coast Media Symposium. LA PA also informed the producers and the Marine participant’s chain of command about Marine Corps Order 11000.22 CH6 stating that any canine breed with dominant traits of aggression presents an unreasonable risk to the health and safety of personnel in family housing areas aboard a Marine Corps base. The Marine informed his chain of command he no longer expresses interest in the show.

The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders’ top title. Ricardo won the “Yorton Cup” title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office.

“D-Day documentary” – Dangerous Entertainment for Discovery Channel: Producers contacted LA PA March 25 to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. LA PA will likely take request to HQMC to identify the ideal SME and then go forward with support.

“From Combat to The Classroom” – Lou Buttino Films for PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, I MEF PA will provide coordination.

“Recon Challenge Project” – Zaragoza Pictures, Inc. for Military.com: Independent producer Michael L. Slee wants to produce a webisode program that focuses on the Recon Challenge aboard Camp Pendleton May 8. Project is currently only in the research and development phase. LA PA is helping Slee with his research in hopes that he will be able to move forward with the production. Slee also reached out to MCRC PAO to solicit Marine Corps advertising investment on the webisode. Slee has not yet decided to go forward with the production.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – Karga-7 Pictures for History Channel: This follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. LA PA is in contact with CPEN Sniper School officials and trying to lock in two consecutive shooting days toward the end of April. LA PA is trying to facilitate directly with the Marines and their PAOs.

“Best of the Best” – Discovery: Series features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series. Conducted site visit at the Basic Reconnaissance School, SOI-West, on Mar. 1. “The Western Front” (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Iraq After Saddam” – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews at an undetermined date.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. “Intersections” — Blue Chip Films, LLC for Speed Channel: Producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

“America: The Story of Us” – History Channel: Nutopia Productions approached LA PAO to have a Marine, (b)(6) interview for their series covering the history of how our country came about. (b)(6) was suggested by THC executives to provide a military aspect of battle throughout our history that shaped the U.S. DSA has been executed and interviews were conducted Nov. 2, 2009. Reviewed two episodes on 10 March featuring (b)(6) with no corrections. Series premieres Apr. 25.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. Scantling shot the 1/5 Memorial Ceremony Feb. 5 and the battalion’s change of command ceremony Feb. 19. LA PA is awaiting rough cut for review.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. LA PA executed a DSA, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process.

Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to be in rough edit by May.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Expect to review a rough cut soon.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews took place in Sept. TECOM PAO and MARDET Lackland are onboard with support. Filming at Yuma Proving Grounds completed in Nov., filming at CPEN complete in Feb, filming complete at Ft. Leonard Wood in Feb. Filming aboard Lackland AFB Mar. 24-26 complete. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler at Yuma Proving Grounds for first week of April.

“Toughest Jobs” – Military Channel: This Indigo Films production will highlight the military’s “most extreme,” “dirtiest,” and “biggest” jobs. Episodes will feature Marine Recon and Martial Arts Instructor Trainers in the “most extreme” category and CH-53 mechanics in the biggest category. DSA has been executed. LA PA facilitated support for episodes that will feature Marine Recon, CH-53 crews, martial arts instructor trainers and the Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport. Producers mistakenly delivered the four 1-hour-long episodes to the network without providing rough cut for review. When the error was discovered, producers immediately put a rough cut in the mail. LA PA reviewed the episodes and found a handful of discrepancies, including the misspelling of Marine’s name in the title graphic. LA PA confirmed with Indigo yesterday that all discrepancies have been fixed. Awaiting air date.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary – Tango Alpha Productions: After nearly a year of seeking a distributor, Producer Joe Talley finally has one. Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley requested to embed with 1/6 in Afghanistan to cover the upcoming offensive, but the MEB in Afghanistan is at full capacity with media. Talley has redirected his focus toward one of his other proposed Marine-centric episodes. Talley would like to embed with MARSOC units in Afghanistan. MARSOC PAO requested embed, but SOCOM has halted all embeds until April. Meanwhile, Talley is in Afghanistan covering Army units for his Army-centric episodes.

“In The Room” – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base). Filming meant for military wives website, www.milwives.com and other outlets. LA PA provided a documentary support agreement with Robert Henry Nov. 20, 2009. Documentary is in post-production. LA PA has reviewed the short rough cut for distribution. LA PA waiting on full episode rough cut.

DENIED REQUESTS:

“Pit Boss”—Intuitive Entertainment for Animal Planet: Producers with Intuitive Entertainment requested to film their host “rescuing a pit bull” from a deploying Marine who is not allowed to keep his canine on a military base. This was denied due to the short deadline of their request and the potential travel required required by the Marine participant and the DoD project officer (Los Angeles) and manpower issues due to our full effort for the West Coast Media Symposium. LA PA also informed the producers and the Marine participant’s chain of command about Marine Corps Order 11000.22 CH6 stating that any canine breed with dominant traits of aggression presents an unreasonable risk to the health and safety of personnel in family housing areas aboard a Marine Corps base. The Marine informed his chain of command he no longer expresses interest in the show.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Sayonara, Daddy-san” – Leslie Asako Gladsjo (independent producer): This documentary film, which targets the PBS audience, aims to use the family story of Ms. Gladsjo, who is herself the daughter of a sergeant who served with the 12th Marines in Okinawa, to explore the broader social and political history of America's and Japan's complicated relationship since the second world war, and to look at the unique culture that grew up around some of the meeting points of the two nations – such as the American military bases. Producers are filming protests of MCAS Futenma at the end of April and have requested interviews with Marine officials for the purpose of providing a balanced view of the issues. LA PA sent the support request proposal to III MEF PAO and recommended support based on the belief that a pro-active approach will ensure U.S. command messages are heard in the film. III MEF cannot support due to current heavy op tempo in III MEF CPAO. Their media section is currently inundated with requests, and a documentary without distribution is not a priority.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists who are due back to the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH today. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed PAA and MARFORRES is handling support.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office.

“D-Day documentary” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA March 25 to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME for this interview (b)(6) is coordinating directly with producers, and interview will take place around April 30. LA PA will execute PAA next week.

"From Combat to The Classroom" – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, I MEF PA will provide coordination.

"Recon Challenge Project" – Military.com: Independent producer Michael L. Slee of Zaragoza Pictures, Inc wants to produce a webisode program that focuses on the Recon Challenge aboard Camp Pendleton May 8. Project is currently only in the research and development phase. LA PA is helping Slee with his research in hopes that he will be able to move forward with the production. Slee also reached out to MCRC PAO to solicit Marine Corps advertising investment on the webisode. Slee has not yet decided to go forward with the production.

"Sniper: Deadliest Mission" – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM.
Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune PA and is awaiting an answer on whether or not Lejeune Sniper School can support.

"Best of the Best" – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series. Conducted site visit at the Basic Reconnaissance School, SOI-West, on Mar. 1. DSA executed and producer has BRC's training schedule to determine timeline for filming. Expect filming to start 3 May.

"Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hodierna Productions LLC is producing a film that will focus on half a dozen or so grunts as main characters. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. PAA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Iraq After Saddam” – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews at an undetermined date.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

“America: The Story of Us” – History Channel: Nutopia Productions approached LA PAO to have a Marine, (b)(6) interview for their series covering the history of how our country came about. (b)(6) was suggested by THC executives to provide a military aspect of battle throughout our history that shaped the U.S. DSA has been executed and interviews were conducted Nov. 2, 2009. “Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. Scantling shot the 1/5 Memorial Ceremony Feb. 5 and the battalion’s change of command ceremony Feb. 19. LA PA is awaiting rough cut for review.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. LA PA executed a DSA, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to be in rough edit by May.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Expect to review a rough cut soon.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews took place in Sept. TECOM PAO and MARDET Lackland are onboard with support. Filming at Yuma Proving Grounds completed in Nov., filming at CPEN complete in Feb, filming complete at Ft. Leonard Wood in Feb. Filming aboard Lackland AFB Mar. 24-26 complete. Episodes will feature Marine Recon and Martial Arts Instructor Trainers in the “most extreme” category and CH-53 mechanics in the biggest category. DSA has been executed. LA PA facilitated support for episodes that will feature Marine Recon, CH-53 crews, martial arts instructor trainers and the Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport. Producers mistakenly delivered the four 1-hour-long episodes to the network without providing rough cut for review. When the error was discovered, producers immediately put a rough cut in the mail. LA PA reviewed the episodes and found a handful of discrepancies, including the misspelling of Marine’s name in the title graphic. LA PA confirmed with Indigo yesterday that all discrepancies have been fixed. Awaiting air date.

Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a PAA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will execute a PAA early next week.

“Iraq After Saddam” – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They have requested to interview EOD Marines to explain their crucial role in Iraq War. Producers have also requested HD footage from the initial invasion, such as that which appears in the Navy/Marine Corps Team short films. LA PA is working the new requests.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck. The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles. Producers want to compare a vehicle that moves huge loads of mining material to a CH-53 and its role as the Corps’ “heavy lifter.” LA PA is still reviewing the request.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

“America: The Story of Us” – History Channel: Nutopia Productions approached LA PAO to have a Marine (b)(6) interview for their series covering the history of how our country came about. (b)(6) was suggested by THC executives to provide a military aspect of battle throughout our history that shaped the U.S. DSA has been executed and interviews were conducted Nov. 2, 2009. Reviewed two episodes on 10 March featuring (b)(6) with no corrections. Series premieres Apr. 25.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. Scantling shot the 1/5 Memorial Ceremony Feb. 5 and the battalion’s change of command ceremony Feb. 19. LA PA is awaiting rough cut for review.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. LA PA executed a DSA, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to be in rough edit by May.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Expect to review a rough cut soon.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews took place in Sept. Filming at Yuma Proving Grounds completed in Nov., filming at CPEN complete in Feb, filming complete at Ft. Leonard Wood in Feb. Filming aboard Lackland AFB Mar. 24-26 complete. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler at Yuma Proving Grounds for sometime in May.

“Toughest Jobs” – Military Channel: This Indigo Films production will highlight the military’s “most extreme,” “dirtiest,” and “biggest” jobs. Episodes will feature Marine Recon and Martial Arts Instructor Trainers in the “most extreme” category and CH-53 mechanics in the biggest category. DSA has been executed. LA PA facilitated support for episodes that will feature Marine Recon, CH-53 crews, martial arts instructor trainers and the Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport. Producers mistakenly delivered the four 1-hour-long episodes to the network without providing rough cut for review. When the error was discovered, producers immediately put a rough cut in the mail. LA PA reviewed the episodes and found a handful of discrepancies, including the misspelling of Marine's name in the title graphic. LA PA confirmed with Indigo yesterday that all discrepancies have been fixed. Awaiting air date.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: After nearly a year of seeking a distributor, Producer Joe Talley finally has one. Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a PAA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will not execute an agreement unless I MEF Forward approves Talley's embed. Awaiting answer from I MEF Forward PA.

"In The Room" – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base). Filming meant for military wives website, www.milwives.com <<http://www.milwives.com/>> and other outlets. LA PA provided a documentary support agreement with Robert Henry Nov. 20, 2009. Documentary is in post-production. LA PA has reviewed the short rough cut for distribution. LA PA waiting on full episode rough cut.

VIDEO GAMES:

"Halo—Reach" - Microsoft Games: Contacted by Microsoft development team who is currently working on the next Halo video game. They are looking to add sound and visuals of the MV-22 Osprey into their game. Currently coordinating with 3d MAW for support as details develop.

"Fallout: New Vegas" – Obsidian Entertainment: Producers would like to conduct sound recordings of demolitions for upcoming video game. No Marine Corps portrayal or equity in the game however will most likely approve support due to future projects with this studio. 1st MarDiv PA has obtained range waivers for crew to bring a sound team out to record at a demo range. Support was scheduled for March 10, but producers had to cancel. Support is halted until Division has another demo range scheduled, which may not be for some time. Division PAO will contact LA PA when a range is scheduled.

"Avatar" – 20th Century Fox: Film is currently in theaters and surpassed the $1 billion mark. LA PA is in discussions with Producers to bring "Avatar" and actors to CENTCOM AOR. Actors and Producers returned from Navy Entertainment Program visit to 11th MEU and other units in the AOR. DVD release set for 22 April.

DENIED REQUESTS:

"Amazing Race" – CBS: LA PA was contacted by the casting department of the reality show in order to conduct interviews for active duty Marines for future seasons. The production wanted to premiere Phil Keoghan's recent documentary in the base theater while the casting call took place on May 2. LA PA denied the request for several factors. The documentary was not of a military theme and was not supported by any DoD component. Casting calls for future seasons would be impossible due to the rotational cycle of our operating forces. Due to the short amount of turnaround time, the base theater could not fit this into the schedule.

"Louis Theroux; Marine Recruit Training" – BBC: BBC Documentaries requested to follow a company of Marine recruits through boot camp for this documentary-style show, which injects host Louis Theroux into the action, where he observes and asks questions about the subject he's covering in order to give the viewer an immersive perspective. LA PA denied request based on the scope of support and because it violates the Corps' standard of maintaining a "pure" training environment in boot camp, in which no outsiders disrupt or alter the transformation process.

"Mitchel, Mitchel, Mitchel and Mitchel" – Producer Ricky Faust: This was a request for support of a sitcom pilot. Producers wanted to use a Marine recruiting office to film a scene in which military recruiters agree to illegally enlist a bum in place of one of the privileged, upper class main characters. LA PA denied support because of the mischaracterization of recruiters.

"Sayonara, Daddy-san" – Leslie Asako Gladsjo (independent producer): This documentary film, which targets the PBS audience, aims to use the family story of Ms. Gladsjo, who is herself the daughter of a sergeant who served with the 12th Marines in Okinawa, to explore the broader social and political history of America's and Japan's complicated relationship since the second world war, and to look at the unique culture that grew up around some of the meeting points of the two nations – such as the American military bases. Producers are filming protests of MCAS Futenma at the end of April and have requested interviews with Marine officials for the purpose of providing a balanced view of the issues. LA PA sent the support request proposal to III MEF PAO and recommended support based on the belief that a pro-active approach will ensure U.S. command messages are heard in the film. III MEF cannot support due to current heavy op tempo in III MEF CPAO. Their media section is currently inundated with requests, and a documentary without distribution is not a priority. LA PA turned down the request

“Six Pack”—Idea Storm Creations: No distribution; Producer Chris De Celle is seeking Marine Corps approval for (b)(6) of 1st Intel Battalion on Camp Pendleton to be one of six bodybuilding competitors featured in a reality TV series that follows the competitors as they train and prepare for the Yorton Cup International Championships. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders’ top title. (b)(6) won the “Yorton Cup” title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA.

“Band of Brides” – M3-Creative.com <<http://m3-creative.com/>: Filmed pitch real at MCB Camp Pendleton Saturday 10 April. Project is currently seeking distribution. Mollie Grossman, a former Marine (b)(6) and entertainer (comedian, motivational speaker), wants to build a reality show focusing on the life of Marine wives before, during and after a deployment. Project would require significant escort hours. LA PA escorted film crew around Camp Pendleton to film their pitch real. Awaiting rough cut of pitch real.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Will be conducting scout on 4 May. Shoot has been tentatively approved by SOI.

“Dangerous Encounters” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those used in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists who are due back to the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH today. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed PAA and MARFORRES is handling support.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office.

“D-Day documentary” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA March 25 to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME for this interview. (b)(6) is coordinating directly with producers, and interview will take place around April 30. PAA executed 28 April. HQMC PA to escort during the interview 29 April.

“From Combat to The Classroom” – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, II MEF PA will provide coordination.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the

3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers also had to drop the story of the 3/5 "Dark Horse" snipers because most of the Marines they need to interview are either deployed or unreachable since separating from the Corps. LA PA will still support the production by getting reserve Marines for a reenactment toward mid to late May.

"Best of the Best" – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series. Conducted site visit at the Basic Reconnaissance School, SOI-West, on Mar. 1. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. PAA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They have requested to interview EOD Marines to explain their crucial role in Iraq War. Producers have also requested HD footage from the initial invasion, such as that which appears in the Navy/Marine Corps Team short films. LA PA is working the new requests.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles. Producers want to compare a vehicle that moves huge loads of mining material to a CH-53 and its role as the Corps’ “heavy lifter.” LA PA is still reviewing the request for the CH-53.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Whitewolf Entertainment (in conjunction with Blue Chip Films, LLC) requested to film an LAV as a armored vehicle and compare it to a civilian armored truck. This project is being produced by a separate production, but similar to the above “Intersections.” 29 Palms PA onboard with 3 rd LAR Battalion as the host. PAA executed. Filming to take place as 29 Palms’ schedule permits.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. “Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. LA PA facilitated support for episodes that will feature Marine Recon, CH-53 crews, martial arts instructor trainers and the Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport. Producers mistakenly delivered the four 1-hour-long episodes to the network without providing rough cut for review. When the error was discovered, producers immediately put a rough cut in the mail. LA PA reviewed the episodes and found a handful of discrepancies, including the misspelling of Marine’s name in the title graphic. LA PA confirmed with Indigo yesterday that all discrepancies have been fixed. Awaiting air date.

The documentary was not of a military theme and was not supported by any DoD component. Casting calls for future seasons would be impossible due to the rotational cycle of our operating forces. Due to the short amount of turnaround time, the base theater could not fit this into the schedule.

“Louis Theroux; Marine Recruit Training” – BBC: BBC Documentaries requested to follow a company of Marine recruits through boot camp for this documentary-style show, which injects host Louis Theroux into the action, where he observes and asks questions about the subject he's covering in order to give the viewer an immersive perspective. “Mitchel, Mitchel, Mitchel and Mitchel” – Producer Ricky Faust: This was a request for support of a sitcom pilot. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders’ top title. (b)(6) won the “Yorton Cup” title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. B/1/6 commander has extended the invite. Anderson has mentioned that he has distribution with HBO and BBC, but a PAA is on hold until proof of distribution has been established. Once a PAA has been executed, I MEF (FWD) will approve the embed.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) PAA executed and a date for interview is being scheduled.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. PAA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Will be conducting scout on 4 May. Shoot has been tentatively approved by SOI.

“Dangerous Encounters” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those use in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists who are due back to the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH today. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed PAA and MARFORRES is handling support.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA March 25 to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME for this interview (b)(6) is coordinating directly with producers, and interview will take place around April 30. PAA executed 28 April. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April.

“From Combat to The Classroom” – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, II MEF PA will provide coordination.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers also had to drop the story of the 3/5 “Dark Horse” snipers because most of the Marines they need to interview are either deployed or unreachable since separating from the Corps. LA PA will still support the production by getting reserve Marines for a reenactment toward mid to late May.

“Best of the Best” – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series. Conducted site visit at the Basic Reconnaissance School, SOI-West, on Mar. 1. DSA executed and

The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. PAA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their "curve ball" question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They have requested to interview EOD Marines to explain their crucial role in Iraq War. Producers have also requested HD footage from the initial invasion, such as that which appears in the Navy/Marine Corps Team short films. LA PA is working the new requests.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles. Producers want to compare a vehicle that moves huge loads of mining material to a CH-53 and its role as the Corps’ “heavy lifter.” LA PA is still reviewing the request for the CH-53.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Whitewolf Entertainment (in conjunction with Blue Chip Films, LLC) requested to film an LAV as a armored vehicle and compare it to a civilian armored truck. This project is being produced by a separate production, but similar to the above “Intersections.” 29 Palms PA onboard with 3rd LAR Battalion as the host. PAA executed. Filming to take place as 29 Palms’ schedule permits.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton's submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

"Patrol Base Jaker" – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling's film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5's homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. Scantling shot the 1/5 Memorial Ceremony Feb. 5 and the battalion's change of command ceremony Feb. 19. LA PA reviewed the rough cut on 11 May, noting a few discrepancies. Mr. Scantling has been made aware of such discrepancies for correction.

"California Gold" – PBS: Huell Howser Productions' "California's Gold" explores California's rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. LA PA executed a DSA, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

"Marines in the South Pacific" – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to be in rough edit by May.

"Exercising the Real: Immersion" – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Expect to review a rough cut soon.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews took place in Sept. Filming at Yuma Proving Grounds completed in Nov., filming at CPEN complete in Feb, filming complete at Ft. Leonard Wood in Feb. Filming aboard Lackland AFB Mar. 24-26 complete. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler at Camp Pendleton for sometime in June.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: After nearly a year of seeking a distributor, Producer Joe Talley finally has one. Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a PAA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will not execute an agreement unless I MEF Forward approves Talley’s embed. Awaiting answer from I MEF Forward PA.

“In The Room” – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base). In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists who are due back to the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH today. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed PAA and MARFORRES is handling support.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA March 25 to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. “Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren’t on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn’t decided how many extras they would need.

“Best of the Best” – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series. Conducted site visit at the Basic Reconnaissance School, SOI-West, on Mar. 1. DSA executed and producer has BRC’s training schedule to determine timeline for filming. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. PAA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their "curve ball" question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. LAPA is currently in contact with the 1stSgt and the academy's public affairs office, along with the Army PAO's entertainment office here. (b)(6)

LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage.

LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. LA PA executed PAA, and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Whitewolf Entertainment (in conjunction with Blue Chip Films, LLC) requested to film an LAV as a armored vehicle and compare it to a civilian armored truck. This project is being produced by a separate production, but similar to the above “Intersections.” 29 Palms PA onboard with 3rd LAR Battalion as the host. PAA executed. Filming to take place as 29 Palms’ schedule permits.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA currently awaiting the rough cut for review.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. LA PA executed a DSA for the documentary film after producer Dave Scantling (Brothers at War producer) got clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded for three weeks in October and is now back stateside. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming at Camp Pendleton Dec. 17. Documentary in post-production. Scantling shot the 1/5 Memorial Ceremony Feb. 5 and the battalion’s change of command ceremony Feb. 19. LA PA reviewed the rough cut on 11 May, noting a few discrepancies. Mr. Scantling has been made aware of such discrepancies for correction. Mr. Scantling is requesting interviews with the 3 main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PAO to facilitate the interviews with the 3 main characters of the film.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. LA PA executed a DSA, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to be in rough edit by May.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Expect to review a rough cut soon.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews took place in Sept. Filming at Yuma Proving Grounds completed in Nov., filming at CPEN complete in Feb, filming complete at Ft. Leonard Wood in Feb. “Fallout: New Vegas” – Obsidian Entertainment: Producers would like to conduct sound recordings of demolitions for upcoming video game. No Marine Corps portrayal or equity in the game however will most likely approve support due to future projects with this studio. 1st MarDiv PA has obtained range waivers for crew to bring a sound team out to record at a demo range. Support was scheduled for March 10, but producers had to cancel. Support is halted until Division has another demo range scheduled, which may not be for some time. Division PAO will contact LA PA when a range is scheduled.

Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren’t on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn’t decided how many extras they would need. LAPA waiting on response from reserve battalion 2/23 about Marines wanting to stand in as extras.

“Best of the Best” – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed and producer has

DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their "curve ball" question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. LA PA is currently in contact with the 1stSgt and the academy's public affairs office, along with the Army PA entertainment office here. (b)(6)
(b)(6) Wounded Warrior Regiment, is in contact with the former Marine and will assist in facilitating the interview.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Whitewolf Entertainment (in conjunction with Blue Chip Films, LLC) requested to film an LAV as a armored vehicle and compare it to a civilian armored truck. This project is being produced by a separate production, but similar to the above “Intersections.” 29 Palms PA onboard with 3rd LAR Battalion as the host. DSA executed. Filming to take place as 29 Palms’ schedule permits. Phone conversation with the executive producer of Blue Chips Films noted that they have released Whitewolf Entertainment from production of this episode. Email sent to Whitewolf to annotate that support from LA PA will no longer be provided. This episode will fall under the series contract already in place with Blue Chips.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews Marines.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

"Marine K-9" – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the "owner meets dog" and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled "War Dogs of The Pacific." DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler from Camp Pendleton and is due to depart for Afghanistan sometime in June. Due to the location of departure, USAF LA PA coordination has been made. Producer realizes that date of departure cannot be released and is prepared to leave at a moments notice to film.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Producer is currently contacting television agencies for distribution.

VIDEO GAMES:

"Halo—Reach" - Microsoft Games: Contacted by Microsoft development team who is currently working on the next Halo video game. They are looking to add sound and visuals of the MV-22 Osprey into their game. Currently coordinating with 3d MAW for support as details develop.

“Fallout: New Vegas” – Obsidian Entertainment: Producers would like to conduct sound recordings of demolitions for upcoming video game. No Marine Corps portrayal or equity in the game however will most likely approve support due to future projects with this studio. 1st MarDiv PA has obtained range waivers for crew to bring a sound team out to record at a demo range. Support was scheduled for March 10, but producers had to cancel. Support is halted until Division has another demo range scheduled, which may not be for some time. Division PAO will contact LA PA when a range is scheduled.

Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers are requesting to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo.

Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren't on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn't decided how many extras they would need. Three Marines from 2/23 stood in as extras June 3rd and four are playing extras today.

"Best of the Best" – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. LA PA is currently in contact with the 1stSgt and the academy’s public affairs office, along with the Army PA entertainment office here. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews Marines.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

"Marine K-9" – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the "owner meets dog" and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled "War Dogs of The Pacific." DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler from Camp Pendleton and is due to depart for Afghanistan sometime in June. Due to the location of departure, USAF LA PA coordination has been made. Producer realizes that date of departure cannot be released and is prepared to leave at a moments notice to film. K9 handlers were called out early, therefore unable to obtain interviews. Plan to re-engage in July with return of previously interviewed handlers.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. The production requested to embed with Marines in Afghanistan for five days in early July. Due to the size of the production team, the producers being unaware of the dangers of combat, and the production not wanting to "leave the wire," LA PA denied the request. Additionally, I MEF (Fwd) could not logistically handle an embed this size and being that it was not of a documentary or news nature, MEF PA elected not to place an embed of this size to an infantry unit.

"World Strictist Parents" – Shed Media: Producers approached the services to participate in an episode next season. Their idea was to have wayward teens "embed" with military families for a period of 5 days. All four services denied due to thesis of the production.

The producers informed LA PA on 25 May that they expect to film in September.

“Master Chef”— FOX: 3 Ball Productions filmed episode at Camp Pendleton 26 March. Shoot went extremely well and we will be viewing rough cut next week. This will be another Gordon Ramsay show similar to Hell’s Kitchen where the contestants compete for an award, but Master Chef is filmed in different locations instead of one restaurant. LA PA reviewed rough cut on 2 June at production office and submitted minor changes. Episode 1 will air in July. Marine Corps episode is #4.

“Six Pack”—Idea Storm Creations: No distribution; Producer Chris De Celle is seeking Marine Corps approval for (b)(6) of 1st Intel Battalion on Camp Pendleton to be one of six bodybuilding competitors featured in a reality TV series that follows the competitors as they train and prepare for the Yorton Cup International Championships. The Yorton Cup is the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilders’ top title (b)(6) won the “Yorton Cup” title in 2007. The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA. Producers are currently searching for funding for this project.

“Band of Brides” – M3-Creative.com <<http://m3-creative.com/>>: Filmed pitch real at MCB Camp Pendleton Saturday 10 April. Project is currently seeking distribution. Mollie Grossman, a former Marine (b)(6) and entertainer (comedian, motivational speaker), wants to build a reality show focusing on the life of Marine wives before, during and after a deployment. Project would require significant escort hours. LA PA escorted film crew around Camp Pendleton to film their pitch reel. Awaiting rough cut of pitch reel.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Restrepo” – Outpost Films: This documentary follows an Army unit in Afghanistan. Documentary won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and is an extraordinary film. Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

“Battle for Marjah” – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson will embed June 1-15.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. Crew will also film the awards presentation.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Production to embed June 1-30.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Providing access to teams and providing additional footage. Currently scheduling a viewing of the rough cut.

“Dangerous Encounters” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those used in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support. Production has inquired about the possibility of conducting the interviews/filming aboard MCB Quantico.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Producers informed LAPA they are creating a short trailer by mid-June for fundraising purposes to finish editing their project.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military’s response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD’s risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers are requesting to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email conversation on 24 May revealed production still filming with the anticipation of a rough cut near the end of the year.

“From Combat to The Classroom” – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, II MEF PA will provide coordination. Email conversation on 31 May has producer interviewing personnel aboard CLNC this week, expects to film more in the 2010/2011 spring semester with a rough cut approximately next summer.

“Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo.

Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren't on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn't decided how many extras they would need. Three Marines from 2/23 stood in as extras June 3rd and four are playing extras today.

"Best of the Best" – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed and producer has BRC's training schedule to determine timeline for filming. Filming began 30 April. Crew to return to SOI-W to join BRC on 8-10 June and 16-17 June. LAPA escorted film crew onto NAB Coronado June 8-10. No issues with filming.

"Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hoderne Productions LLC is producing a film that will focus on half a dozen or so grunts as main characters. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

"Iraq After Saddam" – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. LA PA is currently in contact with the 1stSgt and the academy’s public affairs office, along with the Army PA entertainment office here. (b)(6) Wounded Warrior Regiment, is in contact with the former Marine and will assist in facilitating the interview.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut. Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

"Marine K-9" – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the "owner meets dog" and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled "War Dogs of The Pacific." DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler from Camp Pendleton and is due to depart for Afghanistan sometime in June. Due to the location of departure, USAF LA PA coordination has been made. Producer realizes that date of departure cannot be released and is prepared to leave at a moments notice to film. K9 handlers were called out early, therefore unable to obtain interviews. Plan to re-engage in July with return of previously interviewed handlers.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a DSA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will not execute an agreement unless I MEF Forward approves Talley's embed. Awaiting answer from I MEF Forward PA.

"In The Room" – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base). Filming meant for military wives website, www.milwives.com <<http://www.milwives.com/>> and other outlets. LA PA provided a documentary support agreement with Robert Henry Nov. 20, 2009. Documentary is in post-production. LA PA has reviewed the short rough cut for distribution. LA PA waiting on full episode rough cut. Producer is currently contacting television agencies for distribution.

DENIED REQUESTS:

"World of Jenks" – MTV: Producers from MTV/Viacom contacted LA PA seeking support of a television series where the host, Andrew Jenks, meets with average, everyday people to break stereotypes that may exist. The production requested to embed with Marines in Afghanistan for five days in early July. Due to the size of the production team, the producers being unaware of the dangers of combat, and the production not wanting to "leave the wire," LA PA denied the request. Additionally, I MEF (Fwd) could not logistically handle an embed this size and being that it was not of a documentary or news nature, MEF PA elected not to place an embed of this size to an infantry unit.

"World Strictist Parents" – Shed Media: Producers approached the services to participate in an episode next season. Their idea was to have wayward teens "embed" with military families for a period of 5 days. All four services denied due to thesis of the production.

Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

“Battle for Marjah” – HBO: Roadwork Films contacted LA PA in order to film Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 6th Marines on their return from Afghanistan. The producer, Ben Anderson, was embedded with B/1/6 a few months back as a reporter, but would now like to re-engage with a documentary. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Anderson emedded June 1-15. Currently awaiting rough cut.

“I’m Alive” – Animal Planet: Feeding Time Productions contacted LA PA in order to interview (b)(6) and his recent actions on the Zambezi River during a recent vacation. (b)(6) rescued a man after his canoe was attacked by a hippo, and although (b)(6) lost his foot, he is alive due to the actions of (b)(6) DSA executed. Interview took place after the awards ceremony at US Embassy in Pretoria. Crew also filmed the awards presentation. Currently awaiting rough cut.

“Impossible Routes” – France 5 Television: Comiti Productions contacted LA PA in order to film a documentary while embedded with Marines in Afghanistan. The production would cover the implementation of a “counter-insurrection” that has proven efficient in Iraq, the major role taken by the Marines in southern Afghanistan and the importance of the new strategy and the area. DSA executed and I MEF (FWD) has approved the embed. Production embedded June 1st. Production is currently embedded until June 30th.

“Recon Challenge” – Pratt Productions: Documentary will cover the 2nd Annual Recon Challenge being conducted at Camp Pendleton on 7-8 May. Providing access to teams and providing additional footage. Currently scheduling a viewing of the rough cut.

“Dangerous Encounters” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those used in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support. Production has inquired about the possibility of conducting the interviews/filming aboard MCB Quantico.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Producers informed LAPA they are creating a short trailer by mid-June for fundraising purposes to finish editing their project.

“Earth – The Operator’s Manual” – Geoff Haines-Stiles Productions: Producers have proposed a two-part television documentary targeted to air on PBS in Spring of 2011. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers are also requesting to embed with 3/5 to film Marines using the self-sustaining methods of Ex-FOB while in Afghanistan. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Film crew filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems. Shoot was successful. A new contract/addendum will be needed if they are able to film 3/5 during their Mojave Viper Exercise along with the possibility of embedding with the unit during their deployment.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. HQMC Media Section identified (b)(6) from Current Ops (next command is 24th MEU) as the SME. DSA executed. HQMC PA escorted crew during the interview 29 April. Email conversation on 24 May revealed production still filming with the anticipation of a rough cut near the end of the year.

"From Combat to The Classroom" – PBS: Dr. Lou Buttino, of Lou Buttino Films from UNCW, will focus on the partnership between Coastal Carolina Community College, UNCW and the Marines of Camp Lejeune. The main theme will be how area colleges are seeing an increase in enrollment of previously-deployed Marines. DSA executed, II MEF PA will provide coordination. Email conversation on 31 May has producer interviewing personnel aboard CLNC this week, expects to film more in the 2010/2011 spring semester with a rough cut approximately next summer.

"Sniper: Deadliest Mission" – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren't on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn't decided how many extras they would need. Marine Reservists stood in as extras last week. Awaiting final cut.

"Best of the Best" – Discovery: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). DSA executed and producer has BRC's training schedule to determine timeline for filming. Filming began 30 April. LAPA escorted film crew onto NAB Coronado June 16,17. No issues with filming. Next shoot scheduled for July 2nd at the BRC, Camp Pendleton.

"Combat Outpost: Afghanistan" – PBS: Hodiern Productions LLC is producing a film that will focus on half a dozen or so grunts as main characters. The plan is to spend six weeks in the spring and early summer of 2010 near the start of the unit's rotation and return at the end of the tour. Producers hope to visit with some of the Marines and their families before, during and after their tours. The end result will be a character-driven two-hour film that will air on PBS in the winter of 2011. I MEF PA has approved the crew for embed. DSA has been executed, and LA PA has made the handoff to I MEF.

"The Western Front" (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

“Iraq After Saddam” – BBC and TBC: UK-base production company Quicksilver Media is producing this 2-part series, which will tell the story of Iraq after the invasion up until the present day. The series will consist of two one-hour documentaries for BBC Television to be broadcast in the fall of 2010. This project sets out to provide an authoritative account of what happened in Iraq. It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. LA PA is currently in contact with the 1stSgt and the academy’s public affairs office, along with the Army PA entertainment office here. (b)(6) Wounded Warrior Regiment, is in contact with the former Marine and will assist in facilitating the interview.

“Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years” – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico’s archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. LAPA recently contacted Vic Bulluck, the executive director of the NAACP Hollywood Bureau about receiving a rough cut of the documentary and they have not called back our office.

“Intersections” – Speed Channel: Blue Chip Films, LLC producers requested to film an M1 Abrams tank to compare it to a Virginia Class submarine. LAPAO worked with 29 Palms to set up a shoot with 1st Tank Battalion Feb. 18. DSA executed and 29 Palms PA said the shoot went very well. Episode is in post production. Awaiting rough cut.

Producers have requested support for two more episodes. One episode will compare an MRAP or LAV to a civilian armored truck (see below). The idea is to compare the vehicles “payload protection,” so LA PA is pushing the MRAP vice the LAV. Twentynine Palms PA is trying to facilitate support. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Modern Weapons” – NHK Broadcasting (Japan Public TV): This documentary, which will focus on how U.S. forces are fighting and winning the war on terror, has been approved by OSD. Bulk of the documentary will be Army-centric because producers have settled on a storyline that focuses on a terrorist/insurgent force called the “Haqqani Network.” The network operates primarily in an Army AOR in Afghanistan. Producers filmed IED training at CPEN, and I MEF said shoot went well. LA PA also worked with WWR PA to set up a visit to Balboa NMC to show our medical treatment/rehabilitative processes and to interview wounded warriors who were wounded by RPGs/IEDs in Afghanistan. First shadow day/interview with 1 wounded warrior took place March 18. Producers violated several ground rules set forth by Balboa PAO, who had to stop the interview at one point to remind producers and the Marine what they were there to talk about. Line of questioning was not consistent with that which was agreed upon between LA PA and NHK. Due to the “bait and switch” tactics of the producers, LA PA cancelled second round of interviews with wounded warriors and terminated support of the production.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. Executed DSA after Scantling received clearance from ISAF and 2nd MEB to embed with Marines in Afghanistan. Scantling was embedded in October 09. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines.

“California Gold” – PBS: Huell Howser Productions’ “California’s Gold” explores California’s rich history, cultural diversity and natural wonders. It holds the distinction of being the only statewide television series in California, about California and airs regularly on all 13 PBS affiliates in California. Producers would like a historian to take them on a tour of the historic buildings on Camp Pendleton, including the Las Flores Ranch House, the Chapel, and the Las Flores Adobe. DSA executed, but producers have pushed the production window to spring 2010. CPEN will provide the escort when the production goes forward.

“Marines in the South Pacific” – Military Channel: SFR Productions is producing a documentary using Marine Corps Museum footage and photographs to highlight the island-hopping campaign of World War II, with a focus on the struggle endured by the men fighting in the South Pacific. DSA executed and production will work with the USMC museum PAO to obtain materials. Production is currently in the editing process. Due to recent gain in other employment ventures, producer has pushed the project to the right for full rough cut review. Email conversation on 24 May has the production still in progress. LA PA was provided the first one-third of the rough cut to show progress with no discrepancies noted.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. Documentary will bring the audience up to modern day combat following the success of his previous documentary entitled “War Dogs of The Pacific.” DSA executed. Initial filming/interviews started in Sept. LA PA is coordinating an interview of a Marine K9 handler from Camp Pendleton and is due to depart for Afghanistan sometime in June. Due to the location of departure, USAF LA PA coordination has been made. Producer realizes that date of departure cannot be released and is prepared to leave at a moments notice to film. K9 handlers were called out early, therefore unable to obtain interviews. Plan to re-engage in July with return of previously interviewed handlers.

Marine Infantry Squad/MARSOC Ops Documentary: – Tango Alpha Productions: Producer Joe Talley has been commissioned to make six 1-hour documentaries for MavTV, all of which will focus on Army and Marines in Afghanistan. Talley completed work with Army units in Afghanistan and now needs LA PA to execute a DSA IOT embed with Marines there. LA PA will not execute an agreement unless I MEF Forward approves Talley's embed. Awaiting answer from I MEF Forward PA.

"In The Room" – Carriage House Media, LLC: Robert Henry requested to film Lisa Roberts while she shot photographs for Military Wives magazine aboard Kaneohe Bay in December, during the HL-37 homecoming (naval squadron attached to base). Filming meant for military wives website, www.milwives.com <<http://www.milwives.com/>> and other outlets. LA PA provided a documentary support agreement with Robert Henry Nov. 20, 2009. Documentary is in post-production. LA PA has reviewed the short rough cut for distribution. LA PA waiting on full episode rough cut. Producer is currently contacting television agencies for distribution.

“World of Jenks” – MTV: Producers from MTV/Viacom contacted LA PA seeking support of a television series where the host, Andrew Jenks, meets with average, everyday people to break stereotypes that may exist. The production requested to embed with Marines in Afghanistan for five days in early July. Due to the size of the production team, the producers being unaware of the dangers of combat, and the production not wanting to “leave the wire,” LA PA denied the request. Additionally, I MEF (Fwd) could not logistically handle an embed this size and being that it was not of a documentary or news nature, MEF PA elected not to place an embed of this size to an infantry unit.

“World’s Strictest Parents” – Shed Media: Producers approached the services to participate in an episode next season. Their idea was to have wayward teens “embed” with military families for a period of 5 days. All four services denied due to thesis of the production.

“Dangerous Encounters” – National Geographic: Anisa Peters of NatGeo contacted LA PA to highlight an unmanned robot, similar to those use in the military for EOD, that allows the user to approach deadly animals to prevent injury to humans. In this episode, host Brady Barr would allow Marines to use his “Snake Bot” to determine if the robot would meet their standards in order to prevent human injury. Proposal sent to SYSCOM PA on 28 April for feasibility, SYSCOM PA responded 10 May that they are onboard, pitching it to 29 Palms to determine support. Production has inquired about the possibility of conducting the interviews/filming aboard MCB Quantico.

“Haiti One” – No Pulp Productions for independent release: Producers of this documentary film followed independent volunteers during Haiti earthquake relief efforts, including two Marine reservists from the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. Producers requested to film the reservists during their return to the reserve center and their life in the US. LA PA executed DSA and MARFORRES is handling support. Production is being funded by the National Science Foundation. One segment of the broadcast deals with the military's response to climate change and sustainable energy innovations, DoD's risk assessment in terms of national security, and plans for both adapting to and mitigating the effects of climate change. OASD PA is lining up DoD officials as potential interview subjects on background and on camera. LA PA worked with MCB Lejeune PA to set up a background/research interview with an official from Lejeune’s environmental office. Producers requested to film 3/5 battalion June 15-17 as they learn how to utilize the Ex-FOB’s self-sustaining capabilities while aboard Camp Pendleton, prior to their deployment. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of 4 Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Producers had expressed interest in using Marine Reservists on film but after LAPA had explained that if these Marines weren’t on duty or training, they would need to be paid as extras; the production company hasn’t decided how many extras they would need. Marine Reservists stood in as extras last week. Awaiting final cut.

Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. LA PA set up four interviews with Marine officers at CPEN and 29 Palms this week (2 per base). PAOs at both installations said interviews went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers are back in the UK now but plan to return for another round of interviews in early June. They are requesting to interview any Marines from 2004 Fallujah. One 1stSgt (currently in SgtMaj Academy) and one former Marine are interested in filming for show. The other episode focuses on “heavy lifting” vehicles.

“Alex Reid: The Fight For His Life” – UK BRAVO: Producers requested to film Alex Reid, a popular mixed martial arts fighter in the UFC, to train with MCMAP instructor trainers. The show will consist of Reid learning western forms of martial arts to incorporate into his MMA matches. DSA executed. LA PA coordinated with Marine Corps martial arts instructor trainers from Camp Pendleton’s submission team, who demonstrated some moves for Alex and put him through some MCMAP training regimens March 12. Shoot went well. LA PA reviewed rough cut and is currently waiting on final cut. LAPA contacted their producer for possible air date and to see if it will be airing online or in the United States.

image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their “curve ball” question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers interviewed the Marines from 2004 Fallujah in early June. Shoot is currently in post-production. LAPA currently awaiting rough cut.

“Patrol Base Jaker” – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling’s film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. He filmed 1/5’s homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN's AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LAPA is currently fielding this request. Production successfully filmed Company I, 3/5 learning how to set up solar-powered tents and mobile water filtration systems. A new contract/addendum will be needed if they are able to film 3/5 during their Mojave Viper Exercise along with the possibility of embedding with the unit during their deployment.

“Surviving D-Day” – Discovery Channel: Dangerous Entertainment contacted LA PA to request an interview with a seasoned Marine officer who can speak in depth about amphibious operations, specifically beach raids similar to that of Omaha Beach on D-Day. “Sniper: Deadliest Mission” – History Channel: Karga-7 Pictures (follow-up to Sniper: Inside the Crosshairs) will combine a gritty, realistic look at the men who pulled the trigger in some of the most dangerous battles in history. Producers want to feature several stories about Marine snipers in the 2-hour program, including the story of the 3/5 snipers who took out the insurgents responsible for the death of four Headhunter Two snipers from 2/4 in 2004. Production has been approved by HQMC and TECOM. Leadership at CPEN’s AITB (Sniper School) turned down support. LA PA sent request to MCB Lejeune, and Lejeune Sniper School cannot support due to op tempo. Producers are seeking support from the Army, and it looks like an Army sniper school will likely provide the support. Awaiting final cut.

“Best of the Best” – Discovery Channel: 2 Roosters Media Productions is producing a series that features advance military training schools and will be a 10-part series that covers covert units within various organizations (military, police). “The Western Front” (formerly Trigger Lines, which was formerly Checkpoints) – Independent Release: This documentary film is produced by and features former Marine (b)(6) and focuses on his experiences as an infantry officer. (b)(6) who fought in the Battle of Fallujah in November 2004, goes back to Iraq to document the successes of the Anbar awakening. The film will pose questions about counterinsurgency tactics and training, highlighting the point that brute force is not always the best means by which battles/wars are won. (b)(6) produced most of his film without LA PA support, but he approached us late in his production requesting to film Mojave Viper training at Twentynine Palms. Film is in post-production, and a rough cut has been selected to screen as a work in progress at the Tribeca Film Festival. LA PA provided archival footage from the Battle of Fallujah (II), LA PA reviewed rough cut. While the film is critical of American foreign policy WRT the War on Terror, most of the criticism focuses on the prosecution of the Iraq war in the earlier years. Much attention is paid to the adoption of the COIN doctrine and how current strategy is a vast improvement from previous years.

It will use a mixture of eyewitness testimony and footage that illustrates key episodes - from all sides, British, Iraqi, and American. Producers have OSD approval and a letter authorizing imagery release for B-roll footage. PAOs at CPEN and 29 Palms said interviews with Marine officers (two at each base) went very well, although 29 Palms PAO mentioned that the producers seemed very interested in making the highly-publicized Fallujah mosque shooting incident their "curve ball" question. All Marines were ready and handled the questions well. Producers interviewed the Marines from 2004 Fallujah in early June. Shoot is currently in post-production. LAPA currently awaiting rough cut.

"Eye of The Storm: NAACP First Hundred Years" – Vicangalo Films: No distribution; producer Lawrence Bowie requested footage of the invasion of Haiti 1915-1920 for a portion of the documentary on James Weldon Johnson, a former president of the organization who was in Haiti during that time. LA PA has given Mr. Bowie authorization to extract footage from the Marine Corps Research Center Archives Branch in Quantico. LA PA is awaiting rough cut. LA PA has allowed their producers to use the original imagery release form to access Quantico's archival footage of African American Marines for the NAACP website homepage. The other episode focuses on "heavy lifting" vehicles.

"Patrol Base Jaker" – Independent Release: Producer Dave Scantling's film documents the US Marines and their current counter-insurgency activities in Helmand Province in support of the overall International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) mission in Afghanistan. He filmed 1/5's homecoming Dec. 17, Memorial Ceremony 5 Feb., and Change of Command 19 Feb. Reviewed the rough cut on 11 May noting a few discrepancies and Scantling has been made aware. Documentary back in production as Scantling has requested interviews with the three main characters from the film. LAPA contacted 1st Marine Division PA to facilitate the interviews with Marines. Interviews were facilitated successfully through 1st Marine Division PA. Producer is currently working with Army Public Affairs to access filming Arlington National Cemetery.

“Exercising the Real: Immersion” – German/European Public TV/Discovery Enterprises International: Harun Farocki Filmproduktion is producing this film, which presents applications that make use of immersive technology and simulation for training purposes at U.S. Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms. Documentary presents how exercising in an artificial world leads warriors as close as possible to the reality they will experience. "Exercising the Real: Immersion" shows how image worlds of computer games as well as simulated scenery of building and objects are used seriously - namely in preparing U.S. Marines for deployment to combat zones. LA PA and 29 Palms PAO escorted crew aboard MCAGCC Oct. 5-9. LA PA requested release of training videos on behalf of producers, and the office of primary responsibility (which has authority over the videos) denied release. Producers were very displeased, but LA PA explained that the Army Entertainment Office would handle any further petition for reconsideration of the decision. Awaiting rough cut.

“Marine K-9” – Military Channel: Harris Done Productions has requested to interview Marine K-9 trainers at Lackland AFB to showcase the “owner meets dog” and how K-9s have been used for combat in OEF and OIF. One Marine became a conscientious objector and the other deployed to Fallujah, Iraq. The deployed Marine became a paraplegic due to his combat wounds and they reunited at the end of the film to protest OIF. "The Troy Hartman Project" – SyFy Network: Snakeoil Productions contacted LA PA to seek assistance on an invention experimental show featuring Troy Hartman, an "X-Games Sky Surfing Gold Medalist." The request was to have Troy launch a kayak, modified with glider capabilities, from a CH-46. "NCIS" – CBS: Reviewed script for episode #165 "Short Fuse." Episode depicts a female EOD tech (sergeant) who is squared away but somewhat irreverent/unorthodox. By the end of the episode, we find out that she seduced a high-ranking FBI official to get him to reveal the identity of a small-time gangster who ratted out his buddies in exchange for immunity and entry into the witness protection/relocation program. The sergeant's motive for finding the gangster was so she could torture him psychologically for two days to exact revenge for her brother who became a paraplegic after he was caught in the crossfire of one of the gangster's drive-by shootings. The episode ends with NCIS doing nothing to prosecute her, saying "Good luck finding a jury who'll convict." "Wheel of Fortune" – CBS: Producers want an all-military (or just a many-military member) audience for their Armed Forces Week episodes, being filmed in early September. LA PA discussed with producers the different possibilities for the DoD's level of support. To guarantee an all-military audience in all the same uniform, the show has to pay for charter busses for transportation and meals for the service members. The other option is to simply distribute the call for military audience members through internal marketing channels. LA PA is waiting to hear how producers want to proceed.

"Pure Combat Mixed Martial Arts Fight" – SPIKE: LA PA was contacted by Pure Combat/Hitman Fights, Inc. productions shortly before a scheduled MMA event that took place 7 May in order to film the event aboard Camp Pendleton. PAA was executed

The show stresses a purely natural approach to bodybuilding, and (b)(6) participation could reflect well for the Marine Corps. IMEF has approved (b)(6) to be in the show. In the event the show is picked up for distribution, LA PA will speak with the producers about a PAA. As of 24 June, producers are currently searching for funding for this project.

DOCUMENTARIES:

“Bomb Hunters: The Real Hurt Locker” – National Geographic TV: Pacific Coast Video has requested to embed with the next deploying Marine EOD unit to document their mission. LA PA has begun coordination with IMEF and OSD to determine if the embed and production support are feasible.

Tarawa JPAC Mission: Steven Barber, producer of “Return to Tarawa: The Leon Cooper Story” is returning to the island again to produce a follow-up to his previous documentary. JPAC has cleared Barber to accompany their official trip to excavate the remains of service members killed during the battle. The original documentary was politically charged; its subject, former Navy Higgins boat commander Leon Cooper, went there to raise awareness about the hundreds of Americans still buried there without proper cemetery markers. Cooper is also highly critical of the fact that the invasion beaches are filthy and covered in trash and that the memorial marker for the Americans who fought there is a modest pillar in a parking lot. He blames the US government for what he sees as grave injustices. Barber has made clear that he will be attempting to promote those causes further during this next trip/film and he has requested to interview the 2nd MarDiv CG to get him to say we (the American government/Marine Corps) should clean up the beaches and build a better memorial.

“Alternative History” – SPIKE TV: Flight 33 Productions – approached LA PA on 20 July to interview a Marine, (b)(6) in order to comment on how the military role comes into play for a series that looks at an alternative outcome of past wars and battles. Each episode will open with a key moment in history where the production changes or reverses the outcome, and then builds a plausible yet alternative history that is grounded in the realities of a particular era. DSA executed and interview took place 28 July.

“Bravo Company” - Kenneth Rodgers, a former Marine Vietnam veteran, requested support for his documentary on Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marines, 1968 during the siege of Khe Sanh. Rodgers faxed a synopsis and proof of funding 28 June. LAPA sent a DSRF that same day. His project is being funded by the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation. LAPA called July 14 to find out if he is still interested in our support. He informed me that he was currently conducting interviews in Texas at the annual Khe Sanh Veterans Memorial in San Antonio. He returned the DSRF July 15 and has funding from the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation but there is no distribution. Dr. Charles Neimeyer, director of the Marine Corps History Division and Lt. Gen. (Ret) Ron Christmas, president and CEO of the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation are in support of this project. LAPA is creating an Imagery Authorization allowing Rodgers access to the Marine Corps History Division’s reference branch.

“LASIK The Right Stuff” – President of Patient Education Concepts Inc., Robert Watson, requested to film and interview Marine pilots and Naval aviators aboard MCAB Miramar at the end of July. “John Basilone: The Legacy of A Hero” – Independent Distribution: Diane Hawkins, niece of Marine Corps legend Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone, is producing a documentary about her uncle’s life and legacy as a Marine hero. Hawkins is “retracing her uncle’s footsteps,” visiting and documenting all the places Basilone served and carrying forward his legacy and that of the Marines of WWII who fought with him or in the same campaigns. LA PA is providing courtesy support so that Hawkins can produce a pitch reel, which will be used to get distribution. Hawkins interviewed the director of History and Museums at CPEN July 13 and recorded B-roll of the base and landmarks that bear Basilone’s name.

“Restrepo” – Outpost Films: This documentary follows an Army unit in Afghanistan. Documentary won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and is an extraordinary film. Producers would like to screen the documentary at Camp Pendleton. Uncertain if this film would be appropriate for a screening, however have contacted I MEF to determine if they would want it for PME.

Request was denied as it did not portray the mission of the Corps and the inherent danger of the evolution.
