The powder came from $200 worth of fireworks JAHAR and TAMERLAN purchased in New Hampshire.

Since he had a roommate and little privacy, JAHAR did not construct any explosive devices in his college dorm room. However, he did leave behind one firework that he claimed was just to have some fun with by lighting off at some point.

JAHAR stayed at UMass on Tuesday and Wednesday night. He did not attend any classes on those days, but he may have attended one class on Thursday.

JAHAR made many calls and sent many texts during this period, but they were to social contacts only. He was simply checking up on friends or making arrangements to grab lunch or dinner. None of the people he contacted were involved in or aware of what he and TAMERLAN had done. On Thursday night, he contacted some of these same people to give away his laptop and other items in his dorm room as he did not expect to survive.

JAHAR recognized an unlabeled photograph of Dias Kadyrbayev as his friend from school. He described him as a "dumbass." JAHAR had a conversation with DIAS about religion, how people make bombs, jihad, and the ways of the world. JAHAR stated that the conversation was not related to the attacks he and TAMERLAN conducted because it was meant as a broader discussion of religion.

JAHAR recognized an unlabeled photograph of Saya Murzalina as Dias' mother.

JAHAR recognized an unlabeled photograph of Bayan Kumiskali as Dias' girlfriend.

JAHAR recognized an unlabeled photograph of Azamet Tazhayakov as his friend from school.

JAHAR recognized an unlabeled photograph of Robel Phillipos as his friend from school.
