4 INTRODUCTION

5 At issue before this Court is whether on balance there is a compelling 6 governmental interest in acquiring evidence of criminal activity contained solely on 7 the specific San Bernardino County-owned iPhone, seized<sup>1</sup> and ordered searched 8 by a lawful search warrant issued by a United States Magistrate, that outweighs any 9 real or imagined interest that Apple, a for-profit California-based corporation, 10 asserts to deny assistance to the FBI, San Bernardino County District Attorney's 11 forensic partners<sup>2</sup>, and by extension the San Bernardino County District Attorney 12 and our client, the People of the State of California, in acquiring this evidence.

13 To be clear, the information that is sought from the phone is information
14 contained solely on the San Bernardino County-owned iPhone, and that information 15 can only be forensically extracted from the unlocked iPhone itself. Nothing more 16 is before this court.

17 It is the District Attorney's position that the reasons for acquiring the 18 information contained on the iPhone are compelling and outweigh any interests that 19 Apple advances. Moreover, these compelling reasons support the Court's order.
20 As detailed below, the contents of the iPhone may contain evidence of as of yet 21 undetected, and therefore unpunished, criminal activity, Cal. Penal Code §§ 187(a), 22 189, 190.2(3), 664/187, 182 & 502 (Lexis 2016), and possible unidentified 23 coconspirators and damage to San Bernardino's infra structure. Apple's refusal to 24 assist in unlocking this phone prevents this prosecution. The District Attorney and 25 _____

26 <sup>1</sup> Although correctly recorded in the search warrant attached to the United States Attorney's Ex 27 Parte application to compel, the vehicle license plate noted in the court caption is incorrect. The correct number is California 5KGD203.

28 <sup>2</sup> The San Bernardino County District Attorney has a formal partnership agreement with the FBI-Orange County Regional Computer Forensics Laboratory.

1 its client, the People of the State of California have a compelling interest in 2 prosecuting these individuals. This outweighs any interest that Apple asserts.

3 Apple's refusal to assist in acquiring access to the iPhone infringes on the 4 California's constitutionally-granted due process rights of California victims of 5 crime. Cal. Const. Art. I, § 28. The preservation of those of due process rights and 6 the termination of that infringement is a compelling interest that outweighs any 7 interest that Apple asserts.

8 Apple, by refusing to assist in acquiring access to the iPhone is further 9 infringing and usurping statutory powers reserved solely to the District Attorney, 10 Cal. Govt. Code § 26500 (Lexis 2016), which Apple, a private person, Cal. Penal 11 Code § 7 (Lexis 2016), has no legal authority to do. The termination of this 12 infringement is a compelling interest that outweighs any interest that Apple asserts.

14 II

15 THERE IS A COMPELLING STATE INTEREST IN ACQUIRING EVIDENCE 16 CONTAINED SOLELY ON THE IPHONE

17 The District Attorney is the public prosecutor charged with attending the 18 courts and, within his discretion, initiating and conducting on behalf of The People 19 all prosecutions for public offenses. Cal. Govt. Code § 26500 (Lexis 2016). Every 20 person who commits a public offense in the State of California is liable for 21 punishment in this State. The jurisdiction for prosecution of public offenses is in 22 the jurisdictional territory in which it is committed. Cal. Penal Code § 777 (Lexis 23 2016). The San Bernardino County District Attorney has a specific, unique, and 24 compelling interest in acquiring the evidence of criminal activity that may be 25 contained on the Apple iPhone before the Court, which is owned by San Bernardino 26 County, who has consented to its search,<sup>3</sup> and was issued to one of its employees.

27 _____
28 <sup>3</sup> Declaration of Christopher Pluhar 3:1-6, attached to Government's Ex Parte Application for Order.

1 At the time that the murders in San Bernardino County were being perpetrated on 2 December 2, 2015, at least two 911 calls to the San Bernardino Police Dispatch<sup>4</sup>
3 Center reported the involvement of three perpetrators. Although the reports of three 4 individuals were not corroborated, and may ultimately be incorrect, the fact remains 5 that the information contained solely on the seized iPhone could provide evidence 6 to identify, as of yet, unknown co-conspirators who would be prosecuted by the 7 District Attorney for multiple murders and attempted murders in San Bernardino 8 County.

9 In addition, the iPhone is a county telephone that may have connected to the 10 San Bernardino County computer network. The seized iPhone may contain 11 evidence, that can only be found on the seized phone, that it was used as a weapon 12 to introduce a lying-dormant cyber pathogen endangering San Bernardino County's 13 infrastructure, a violation of Cal. Penal Code § 502 (Lexis 2016), and which would 14 pose a continuing threat to the citizens of San Bernardino County.

15 Apple has not advanced a single argument to indicating why the 16 identification and prosecution of any outstanding coconspirators, or to detect and 17 eliminate cyber security threats to San Bernardino County's infrastructure 18 introduced by its product and concealed by its operating system, and Apple's refusal 19 to assist in acquiring that information, is not a compelling governmental interest.
20 To the extent that Apple states in its brief at page 33 that there is no compelling 21 state interest because the government "has produced nothing more than speculation 22 that this iPhone might contain potentially relevant information," Apple completely 23 forgets that a United States Magistrate has issued a search warrant based on a 24 finding of probable cause that the iPhone does contain evidence of criminal activity.
25 The reason we search is to find out if the device contains evidence or is an 26 instrumentality of the crime. Such authority is granted by the United States 27 Constitution. U.S. Const. Amend. IV.

III

2 THERE IS A COMPELLING STATE INTEREST IN THE PROTECTION AND 3 ENFORCEMENT OF THE DUE PROCESS RIGHTS OF THE VICTIMS AND 4 THE ABBROGRATION OF APPLE’S INTERFERENCE OF THOSE RIGHTS

5 The California Constitution guarantees victims of crimes committed in 6 California a Victims’ Bill of Rights. Cal. Const. Art. I, § 28. These rights include 7 those shared by all people of the State of California, “that persons who commit 8 felonious acts causing injury to innocent victims will be appropriately and 9 thoroughly investigated ... brought before the courts of California ... and tried by 10 the courts in a timely manner.” Cal. Const. Art. I § 28(a)(4). The Victims’ Bill of 11 Rights continues to state, “In order to preserve and protect a victim’s rights to justice 12 and due process, a victim shall be entitled to the following rights:..” Cal. Const. Art.
13 I § 28(b), “To be reasonably protected from the defendant and persons acting on 14 behalf of the defendant”, Cal. Const. Art. I § 28(b)(2) and the right to have all 15 relevant evidence admitted in any criminal proceeding. Cal. Const. Art. I § 28 16 (f)(2).

17 The due process protections of the California Constitution clearly attach to 18 not only the fourteen people murdered, and the twenty two injured in the assault, 19 but also those physically uninjured, but mentally injured survivors who witnessed 20 the mass murder.

21 Apple is infringing on the due process rights of these real, and not 22 speculative, victims. It is preventing protection from the defendant and those who 23 assist the defendant. Through the design of its iOS8 operating system and its refusal 24 to assist in accessing the information contained on the seized phone, Apple is 25 preventing the acquisition of information leading to the identity or elimination of 26 outstanding coconspirators. This denies the surviving victims of the knowledge that 27 there are either no additional coconspirators, or that those that are outstanding will 28 be pursued. Apple’s actions in denying assistance in acquiring access to the phone

1 infringes on the victims' right to be reasonably protected. Denying access to this 2 information deprives victims of all relevant evidence in any criminal proceeding 3 that could be the product of the information contained on the phone, and it certainly 4 is denying the victims of the right guaranteed to them to have the case investigated 5 and prosecuted in a timely manner.

6 California Constitution Article I § 28(c), provides that the prosecuting 7 attorney may enforce the victim's right to be protected from the defendant and those 8 that may be acting on behalf of the defendant in any court having jurisdiction over 9 the case. The District Attorney asserts that this court has jurisdiction over this 10 matter, due to its In Rem jurisdiction over the seized iPhone and that the order to 11 compel Apple's assistance that the United States has procured is an appropriate 12 means to enforce the victims' due process protections found in the California 13 Constitution. The District Attorney is asking on behalf of our state victims that the 14 order be construed in such a manner. Apple, alone, has the means to mitigate the 15 continuing violation of the victims' California Constitutional rights.

16 The District Attorney asserts that the enforcement of the victims' due process 17 rights and the termination of Apple's interference with those rights presents a 18 compelling state interest that outweighs any corporate interest that Apple asserts.

19 20 IV

21 APPLE IS USURPING THE AUTHORITY OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

22 The California Government Code provides that the District Attorney is the 23 public prosecutor and confers the executive authority and discretion to charge 24 individuals with the commission of public offenses. "The public prosecutor shall 25 attend the courts, and within his or her discretion shall initiate and conduct on behalf 26 of the people all prosecutions for public offenses." Cal. Gov. Code § 26500 (Lexis 27 2016). Cal. Penal Code § 1324 provides the exclusive means by which transactional 28 immunity may be conferred on an individual. It is conditioned upon the request of 1 the prosecutor. Cal. Penal Code § 1324 (Lexis 2016). “[T]he decision to seek 2 immunity is an integral part of the charging process, and it is the prosecuting

3 attorneys who are to decide what, if any, crime is to be charged.” In re Weber, 11 4 Cal.3d 703, 720, 523 P.2d 229, 240 (1974) [emphasis in original]. It is not even 5 within the court’s power to confer a grant of immunity. Id. It is the District 6 Attorney who in exercises the power to charge or not charge individuals with the 7 commission of crimes or to grant immunity because it is the District Attorney who 8 is accountable to the community and the electorate for his decisions. No other 9 person has this responsibility or accountability.

10 Apple, through its ingenuity and skill, has created an exquisite product in its 11 iPhone and iOS8 and iOS9. It is used by many law-abiding individuals that commit 12 no crimes and for which it contains no evidence of criminal conduct. It is, however, 13 by design, marketing, intent, or happenstance a repository of information that 14 resides only on the device that constitutes, in this case, evidence of criminal activity.
15 It is nothing more than a closed container. However, due to its technology, it is also 16 a modern version of the renaissance puzzle box, created by Apple, only openable 17 with those who know the secret to unlock it. In this case that secret is held by Apple.
18 Because Apple is the only “person” who can unlock or enable it to be unlocked, 19 Apple’s failure to do so denies access to evidence of criminal activity and the 20 identity of the perpetrators.

21 In refusing to assist in the opening of this repository of evidence, Apple is 22 making the de facto decision of who can be charged with a crime and is giving a de 23 facto grant of immunity to those iPhone users that use the phone as an 24 instrumentality of a crime, a cyber weapon, or store, intentionally or not, evidence 25 of a crime on the device. Questions of whether Apple’s conduct falls within 26 traditional definitions of harboring one who commits a crime<sup>5</sup> aside, Apple is 27 infringing on the authority of the District Attorney to make charging and immunity

28 <sup>5</sup> Cal. Penal Code § 32 (Lexis 2016).

1 decisions. Apple is free to exercise its First Amendment rights to express what 2 activities, including none at all, should be considered crimes, or who should be 3 charged with a crime, including nobody, but Apple has no de jure or de facto 4 authority to make those decisions by its actions.

5 No person<sup>6</sup> but the San Bernardino County District Attorney and his deputies 6 are authorized to decide when criminal charges are brought or not brought, or to 7 whom to provide a grant immunity from prosecution in San Bernardino County.
8 Apple has no such de jure or de facto authority in San Bernardino County.

9 The District Attorney has a compelling reason to prevent Apple from acting 10 without authority in crime-charging and immunity decisions, particularly those that 11 preclude prosecutions in San Bernardino County. Requiring Apple to assist in 12 unlocking the iPhone before the court eliminates their unauthorized de facto ability 13 to confer immunity.

Apple asserts that its operating system and its refusal to assist in unlocking the phone is, in Apple's view, necessary to protect the privacy interests of its customers. Apple advances its concept of privacy as absolute privacy in the context that it proffers the opinion that the contents of any Apple iPhone or Apple mobile device is immune from any type of government intrusion due to its security features.
While Apple can represent what it chooses in its marketing of its devices and operating systems, Apple is neither the legislature nor judiciary empowered to define privacy as absolute. Apple is not a public policy maker. Apple is a for-profit corporation. No one has appointed or elected Apple to be the Orwellian arbiter or definer of privacy for society or even for all of Apple's customers.

1 Apple's concept of absolute privacy and immunity from government search 2 is not supported by the Constitution of the United States or the cases that interpret 3 it. Furthermore, Apple has no privacy rights in the device before the Court, nor is it 4 legally permitted to assert any privacy rights regarding the search of the San 5 Bernardino County-owned phone.

6 The foundation of privacy from government intrusion lies in the Fourth 7 Amendment to the United States Constitution. That Amendment does not provide 8 absolute privacy or protection from government intrusion into our persons, places 9 or effects. It provides only protection against unreasonable searches and seizures, 10 and against warrants not based upon probable cause. The Fourth Amendment, as 11 the Court in Katz v. United States stated, cannot be translated into a general 12 constitutional "right to privacy." Katz v. United States, 389 U.S. 347, 350 (1967).
13 The privacy right that is protected is a reasonable expectation of privacy. The test 14 for a reasonable expectation of privacy is, "[F]irst that a person have exhibited an 15 actual (subjective) expectation of privacy and, second, that the expectation be one 16 that society is prepared to recognize as 'reasonable.'" Id. at 361 (Harlan, J., 17 concurring).

18 Apple's mere pronouncement that their technology should make the iPhone 19 immune from all government intrusion does not make it legally so. Apple's 20 representations are in direct contradiction to the holding of United States Supreme 21 Court. In addressing the specific searches of cellphones, the United States Supreme 22 Court could have said that the data on cellphones is provided absolute privacy and 23 cannot be searched by the government as Apple posits. The Court did not so. The 24 Court said, "Our holding, of course, is not that the information on a cell phone is 25 immune from search; it is instead that a warrant is generally required before such a 26 search." Riley v. California, __ U.S. __, 134 S. Ct. 2473, 2493 (2014). In light of 27 the Court's pronouncement, it is clear that what Apple claims to have promised its 28 customers could not legally be delivered. The Supreme Court has categorized

1 Apple's contention that phones should be immune from government searches, even 2 by warrant, as one that society is not prepared to recognize as reasonable. There 3 could be no reasonable expectation of privacy when law enforcement acquires a 4 warrant as is the case here. Apple cannot legitimately base its opposition on their 5 desire to advance an unreasonable expectation of privacy specifically rejected by 6 the Supreme Court.

7 Apple has no privacy interest in the seized iPhone or the data contained 8 therein. Privacy is a personal right that cannot be asserted by third parties. "Fourth 9 Amendment rights are personal rights which, like some other constitutional rights, 10 may not be asserted vicariously." Rakas v. Illinois, 439 U.S. 128, 133 (1978). The 11 seized iPhone is a San Bernardino County owned iPhone, which the county has 12 consented to be searched. The possessor of the phone on December 2, 2015, is dead 13 and has no longer has a personal right to privacy that can be asserted.

14 Privacy is important to all of us, even prosecutors. However, the concept of 15 absolute privacy bolstered by the technology deployed by Apple is not a legally-16 cognizable precept and is not sufficient to overcome the compelling government 17 interests in acquiring the evidence contained on the seized iPhone.

18

20 APPLE RAISES ISSUES THAT ARE NOT BEFORE THE COURT

21 Apple asserts that unlocking the seized iPhone will open the siege gates and 22 make its users' personal information vulnerable to hackers, identity thieves, hostile 23 foreign agents and unwarranted government surveillance. It has also expressed 24 concerns about how foreign governments may treat their citizens and the demands 25 that might be made on Apple. None of these issues are before the Court. This case 26 does not involve speculation as to what foreign governments may demand of Apple, 27 or how Apple may respond to those demands in the future. There is no issue of 28 identity theft here, and Apple has not advanced an explanation of how unlocking

1 this phone would lead to identity theft elsewhere, nor have they advanced any 2 evidence of identity thefts caused by their unlocking phones prior to the deployment
3 of IOS 8. Similarly, Apple warns of unwarranted government surveillance. No
4 surveillance is present here. Apple has not advanced any evidence or explanation 5 of how this surveillance will be unleashed by unlocking this phone. Apple cites the 6 hacking of the Office of Personnel Management as illustrative of the dangers of 7 hacking into databases, yet these databases were not contained on a specific iPhone 8 as the evidence here is nor has there been an indication that the databases were 9 hacked by an unlocked iPhone. These speculative concerns do not outweigh the 10 compelling interest in the need to acquire real evidence of real crimes from the 11 seized iPhone.

12 Apple's expressed concerns that criminals may attempt to intrude into 13 iPhones and acquire information contained on the phone has some merit, however, 14 it is not the complete picture. The fact is that criminals are already using iPhones, 15 every day, everywhere, and that those phones contain evidence of their criminal 16 activity of violent crimes, human trafficking, sexting, revenge pornography, child 17 sexual exploitation, and identity theft committed against innocent victims, and that 18 the evidence resides only on the iPhone. This is real evidence of crimes. It is not 19 grocery lists or restaurant reviews that are at issue. The victims of these crimes are 20 harmed every day by the safe haven that Apple's encryption policies have created 21 as a result of criminals using their products. It is likely that some of these victims 22 are also Apple customers, and they are not well served by Apple's policies. It is 23 likely that their interests reflect general public policy interests in seeing those who 24 have harmed them are lawfully brought to justice. These public policy interests 25 outweigh Apple's expressed concerns.

IT IS APPROPRIATE AND REASONABLE FOR APPLE TO REMEDY AN ISSUE OF ITS OWN CREATION

There is nothing unreasonable for Apple, on its own, or through Court intervention, to be required to be accountable for its actions and to remediate those actions, as is required of any person or corporation that violates the rights of individuals, aids in the withholding of evidence, or exercises power that they have no right to exercise. Companies that introduce dangerous products, and it can be argued that the iPhone with its current encryption is dangerous to victims, are required to fix them. Companies that create environmental damage are required to clean it up. Courts issue orders and injunctions across the land ordering such compliance.

Apple's creation of their iOS 8 and iOS 9, the product of their brilliant engineering created all these issues where it did not exist in previous operating systems. There is nothing unreasonable in having this same brilliance applied to remediating the problem they created. How Apple chooses to accomplish this is a matter of their own choosing. Neither the FBI nor San Bernardino County District Attorney is asking to know how they do it, or directly possess the tools to do so. How Apple resolves the problem, or protects the solution is not our concern. We only seek for this Court to compel that Apple do so.

CONCLUSION

The San Bernardino County District Attorney, representing the People of the State of California, respectfully submits to this Court, that it has presented a showing of compelling state interests in acquiring any evidence of criminal activity in our jurisdiction; protecting the due process rights of the victims of the December 2, 2015 attack in San Bernardino; and in curtailing Apple's exercise of powers reserved solely to the District Attorney, that outweigh any interest that

1 Apple has advanced. We also submit that Apple's concept of privacy is not 2 supported by the law. We further submit that it is reasonable for Apple to be ordered 3 to remediate the issues it has created by assisting in the unlocking of the seized 4 iPhone belonging to the County of San Bernardino so that its contents can be 5 lawfully acquired through the execution of the issued search warrant before the 6 Court.
