17. Now, I have a few questions about the Republican Party's nomination process. As you may know, in order to win the Republican Party's nomination for president, a candidate must win the support of a majority of the delegates to the Party's national convention, which will be held in July. If no candidate wins a majority of delegates through the primary and caucus process, as reflected in the first round of voting at the convention, delegates will have additional rounds of voting until a single candidate wins majority support.

If no candidate has won a majority of the delegates after the first round of voting, do you think the delegates should vote for: [READ LIST] (RANDOM ORDER)

METHODOLOGY

A total of 1,001 adults were interviewed by telephone nationwide by live interviewers calling both landline and cell phones. Among the entire sample, 30% described themselves as Democrats, 24% described themselves as Republicans, and 46% described themselves as independents or members of another party.

All respondents were asked questions concerning basic demographics, and the entire sample was weighted to reflect national Census figures for gender, race, age, education, region of country, and telephone usage.

Crosstabs on the following pages only include results for subgroups with enough unweighted cases to produce a sampling error of +/- 8.5 percentage points or less. Some subgroups represent too small a share of the national population to produce crosstabs with an acceptable sampling error. Interviews were conducted among these subgroups, but results for groups with a sampling error larger than +/-8.5 percentage points are not displayed and instead are denoted with "NA".

Who would you MOST like to see win the Republican nomination for president?

Question 15C

Next I'm going to read the names of some of those candidates and ask how you would feel if each of them won the Republican presidential nomination. As I read each name, please tell me whether you would feel enthusiastic, satisfied but not enthusiastic, dissatisfied but not upset, or upset if that person were the Republican nominee?

C. John Kasich

Base = Registered Republicans

Q16A. If Donald Trump wins the Republican nomination for president, would you like to see another

Republican run for president as a third party candidate or not?
Q16B. Is that more because you think it would lead to a Democratic win in November, or more because you would be comfortable with Trump as the Republican nominee?

CNN/ORC International Poll -- March 17 to 20, 2016 Question 17 $\,$

Now, I have a few questions about the Republican Party's nomination process. As you may know, in order to win the Republican Party's nomination for president, a candidate must win the support of a majority of the delegates to the Party's national convention, which will be held in July. If no candidate wins a majority of delegates through the primary and caucus process, as reflected in the first round of voting at the convention, delegates will have additional rounds of voting until a single candidate wins majority support. If no candidate has won a majority of the delegates after the first round of voting, do you think the delegates should vote for:
