Subject: EO 11246 and transgender Americans who work for federal contractors

Dear Donna,

I hope this email finds you well. I have spoken in last week with Parag from your OFCCP office, and Gautam Raghavan from the White House, as well as several officials from the Civil Rights Division at the Department of Justice, about the need for the Department of Labor to interpret Executive Order 11246 consistent with the EEOC's decision in the historic Macy case holding that discrimination based on gender identity or expression violates Title VII's requirement that employers not discriminate based on sex.

I have left some voicemails for you and look forward to speaking at your convenience, but I wanted to send this email in anticipation of my seeing Labor Secretary Hilda Solis at tonight's MALDEF dinner. I am not yet certain whether I am seated at her table, but in either event, I look forward to talking with the Secretary about the need for the Labor Department to take action to protect transgender Americans who work for federal contractors.

I have copied my colleague Brad Sears at the Williams Institute of UCLA Law School who co-authored the report noting that "the OFCCP has an explicit policy of interpreting the nondiscrimination requirements of EO 11246 in a manner consistent with Title VII principles, and has followed EEOC regulations and guidance in enforcing EO 11246." You can find their excellent report at this link:

<http://williamsinstitute.law.ucla.edu/wp-content/uploads/Hunter-Mallory-Sears-EEOC-EO11246-May-2012.pdf>

The LGBT organization that I founded, Freedom to Work, agrees with the analysis of the Williams Institute, and we urge the Labor Department to make an official determination as soon as possible that transgender Americans are protected by the existing EO 11246 signed by President Johnson.

It also seems prudent that the Labor Department would inform OFCCP investigators in field offices throughout the country about this policy change, update OFCCP training manuals and other policy documents, and once Secretary Solis and Director Shiu have made a final decision on this issue, Freedom to Work would like to help the Labor Department with the public education efforts as well.

I look forward to speaking with you at your convenience, and perhaps we could arrange for a conference call or meeting with the Williams Institute and other interested stakeholders to discuss next steps on EO 11246.

Please let us know what we can do to help your critically important efforts to implement Secretary Solis' vision of good jobs for everyone.

Hi Donna --

I spoke with Parag earlier today and he tells me you've been out on vacation but are back today. I hope you had a great one.

I am writing to ask for a meeting with you and other OFCCP staff about transgender coverage under E.O. 11246.

Brad Sears, the Executive Director of the Williams Institute at UCLA Law will be in town this Friday, July 20, so I want to propose that day. We will make any time that works for you and your team work for us. In addition to Brad, Dana Beyer, who is a national transgender leader who runs Gender Rights Maryland has also expressed interest in meeting with your staff on that topic, as have staff for the National Council of La Raza Advocacy Fund and several other groups. I would be happy to extend invitations to other LGBT groups and other interested groups and then be the person to coordinate getting you the needed information for security.

Please let me know if any time on Friday works, and if not then, if there are other times next week that might be better for you.

Best regards, Tico
