

Kansas City Press Release

The feedback from event we've held this year in Littlefield, AZ and multiple events in 2016 has been great. Participants enjoy the live music, entertainment, great food and, of course, they love our beautiful lighting ceremony where participants light sky lanterns and watch them rise and float in the night sky for several minutes before landing in our designated landing zones.

Unfortunately, high winds and rain can make the flight path of sky lanterns unpredictable, forcing us to reschedule for nights with better weather. The forecast leading up to our event on April 15th showed high winds and rain so we rescheduled the event for a date in early June. Ticketholders will receive an email with specific information for the that date in the coming weeks.

Any ticketholder with questions or concerns can contact our customer service department through our website, thelightsfest.com and we will resolve them as quickly as possible.

We apologize for any inconvenience this has caused but the safety of our participants is paramount. We look forward to sharing a magical night with Kansas City in June!
