Also, I will be at a conference Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday this week. But I will be in Thursday AM at FBIHQ for a short time.

The community may ask on Friday for insight into what this may be called...so maybe we can decide this week on the slogan. Getting their buy-in may be key to a slogan they can embrace.

Lastly, if you have the screen shots you are presenting, please forward when you can.

Otherwise, best to reach me via UNET on any questions you may have.

Appreciate all of your team's efforts !!!!

All,

This is to spark conversation on how we will further brand/explain the program per our discussion with AD Kortan. Please review and come up with additional suggestions, changes, edits, comments, likes or dislikes by Tuesday July 28th. We're open to any and all feedback at this point. Please send all ideas and responses directly to [redacted]

My A/SC [Redacted] mentioned maybe next week you could come over to see the Portal and our Memorandum of Understanding which is another tool we are seeking to employ.

Would that work for you? The Portal takes about an hour to go through it screen by screen. If you don't want to examine every screen, then it will go faster. Briefing you on the MOU would take about half an hour.

Let me know what you think.

TRANSITORY RECORD

The major event this week is Operation Cross Country 9. OPA is once again supporting VCAC's "Operation Cross Country" initiative, which is taking place October 8-10 in 55 of 56 field offices and, for the first time, Operation Cross Country IX will feature an international component, with operations taking place across Canada, as well. We're preparing local press release templates, as well as a story on FBI.gov, that will be posted next week. We're also working with the Ontario Provincial Police in coordinating a press conference to be held in Toronto, Canada on October 22 to discuss the international aspect of Operation Cross Country. Since the Innocence Lost initiative was launched in 2003, the FBI has taken part in the rescue of more than 4800 minors, and the operations have resulted in more than 2000 convictions, at least 15 defendants who received life sentences.

AD Kortan is accompanying the Director to NY today and tomorrow. The Director will speak at the "Voices of September 11th" gala this evening. Tomorrow, he will meet with key players at CNN. He will also visit his high school for its 50th anniversary. Also this week, we have the monthly Lync call with media reps, EAD Amy Hess will be interviewed by the Washington Post, Cyber Security Awareness Month continues, we're briefing the Deputy Director on the new CVE portal, and the latest Investigator will be published.

Have a great week.

Hi [redacted] and [redacted]

PAG is re-formatted....and please forgive me, but I added some clarification questions, plus see what you think about some of the word changes, which is proposed for the way press response language sometimes flows.

Re Talking Points top section: We need these 'quick hit' bullet points, if you could review. If a Media Rep or SAC is preparing for a quick interview, what are the top three points that are the most important to use for the interview, that you want the public to know? i.e. 1) this website exists 2) here are highlights of what you'll learn 3) it's easy to use. b6 b7C

Are we missing any Q & As?

Hi [redacted]

I heard (either through you or a little bird) you're putting together the Press Release for the CVE Portal once it's launched in November. We were hoping you could incorporate the following sentence (or something similar) for us.

"Special thanks to the students and faculty of [redacted] in Woodbridge, VA for their critical feedback provided during the development of the CVE Web Portal."

The students and faculty provided assistance to us during multiple occasions and we think it would help add some credibility to the portal as people become aware of it and consider using it.

Thank you,

Subject: OPA FY15 Accomplishments --- UNCLASSIFIED

SentinelCaseId: NON-RECORD

Classification: UNCLASSIFIED

Over the next week, many of you will have your annual performance discussion with your unit chief. As we look back on the past year's accomplishments, I wanted to take a few minutes to provide some context by sharing highlights of OPA's overall accomplishments for FY15. You'll see that some achievements are the work of a single unit, but many more reflect collaboration across units. In the coming weeks, we'll have many discussions, within units and across OPA, about our goals and priorities for FY16. First, let's take a well-deserved victory lap.

Media Relations – NPO and IPPAU led the FBI's media relations program during a busy year. OPA wrote and issued more than 50 press releases and statements and ably responded to issues including: Charleston shooting/Dylann Roof gun purchase, Chattanooga shooting, Office of Personnel Management (OPM) cyber intrusion, the Sony Pictures Entertainment cyber intrusion, JP Morgan Chase cyber intrusion, Hillary Clinton email server, FBI aviation program, and cell site simulators.

- To ensure consistent messaging across the FBI, OPA issued 15 Public Affairs Guidance documents for media coordinators in the field, providing talking points and FAQs on topics such as color of law, Going Dark, agent-involved shootings, major cyber intrusions, cell site simulators, countering violent extremism (CVE) and active shooters.
- NPO produced the daily Horizon, and introduced the daily FBI in the News and Forecast products.
- NPO provided on-site support to field offices handling high profile events, such as Knoxville to assist with the Chattanooga shootings, and Pennsylvania to assist with the search for Top Ten fugitive Eric Frein.

OPA provided extensive counsel and support to the FBI Director and other senior executives. OPA successfully managed press interactions, including the Director's quarterly, on-the-record meetings with the national news media, an appearance on 60 Minutes which was nominated for an Emmy award, the "Georgetown speech" on race and law enforcement, a major Going Dark speech at Brookings, and the Director's appearance at the Aspen Security Forum.

- EWU crafted more than 95 full-text speeches and more than 70 sets of outlines and talking points.
- OPA also created more than two dozen executive video messages – a collaborative effort of [Redacted] ECU, EWU and FIOU.

OPA provided extensive support for the Director's and Deputy Director's priority initiatives, as well as other branch and division level priorities.

- Going Dark – OPA worked closely with DOJ and the White House on consistent messaging to press, lawmakers, and the private sector. EWU researched and crafted the Director's remarks on Going Dark/encryption for the Brookings Institution and crafted a stock speech and talking points for use by the field. NPO facilitated press interviews with the Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, New York Times and trade publications to inform the discussion. FIOU published three news blogs on related topics on FBI.GOV.

- Cyber – In response to major cyber intrusions, NPO coordinated messaging with victim entities, the White House, State Department and others to ensure consistent and responsive messaging. To improve coordination going forward, NPO organized and hosted a gathering of 50 interagency public affairs communicators to brief them on cyber threats and discuss coordination on messaging.

To educate the public, OPA organized a Bureau-wide media campaign on cyber crimes, involving IPPAU, NPO, FIOU and the media reps. Over 25 field offices conducted on-camera interviews highlighting their local cyber crimes efforts, and these aired on the night that CBS debuted their new CSI: Cyber drama series. OPA arranged a briefing for reporters with senior executives, participated in a joint press event with the Secret Service on cyber threats, and published 14 feature stories on cyber topics on FBI.GOV. OPA also publicized on FBI.GOV the FBI's efforts to hire cyber agents, and used social media platforms to amplify the message.

- Race and Law Enforcement – In support of the Director's effort to address tensions between minority communities and law enforcement, EWU drafted the Director's "Hard Truths" speech to Georgetown University and NPO managed press surrounding the event. Despite the sensitive topic, the speech was very well received. In June of 2015, CRU facilitated an initiative to encourage all field offices to engage diverse communities and facilitate discussions with local law enforcement. CRU trained the community outreach specialists, and with help from EWU provided scripts, FAQs, videos and other materials to field offices to assist them. To date 54 field offices have held events, either directly or in coordination with other agencies.
- Diversity – ECU handled marketing related to the addition of "Diversity" to the FBI's Core values, including poster design, script and production of Director Comey's video announcing addition, and all-employee messages. ECU promoted eight diversity-related events including Hispanic Heritage Month and LGBT Pride Month. CRU also supported diversity through the Community Outreach Program.
- Enhancing Private Sector Outreach – Working with the Office of Private Sector, FIOU designed, built and launched a completely new web portal for the Domestic Security Alliance Counsel (on an astonishing five-week timeline). FIOU also provided on-site support to train DSAC staff on use of the new portal.
- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) – FIOU conceived, programmed, designed, and wrote an interactive website for teens called "Don't Be a Puppet: Pull Back the Curtain on Violent Extremism." The program, which uses the latest analysis from the CVE Office and Behavioral Analysis Unit, is designed to educate and teach critical thinking about violent extremism in all its forms. FIOU, CRU, and NPO facilitated focus groups with community leaders and teens; and produced marketing and background materials. The website will launch next week.
- Counterintelligence – OPA coordinated a national economic espionage awareness campaign, including the rollout of the "Company Man" training film, a press conference featuring AD Randy Coleman and National Counterintelligence Executive Bill Evanina, and an online rollout on FBI.GOV, where the film was viewed more than 16,000 times. The rollout garnered significant media coverage, including stories in the Wall Street Journal, the Washington Post, CNBC, NBC and CBS, among others.
- Active Shooter – OPA produced talking points and marketing materials for the field to support the Office of Partner Engagement's efforts to rollout the "Coming Storm" to our state and local law enforcement partners to provide information on best practices in the event of an active shooter situation.

Investigative Publicity - As of the end of the 3rd quarter, IPPAU handled 319 requests for assistance with publicity and employed a combination of media, web, social media, radio, and digital billboards as appropriate for each case. Four cases were solved as a result of OPA publicity, including the location of cyber fugitive [redacted] and the identification of a deceased Jane Doe. IPPAU handled publicity for: the addition of [redacted] to the FBI's Most Wanted Terrorist list; the addition of [redacted] to the FBI's Seeking Information Terrorism list; announcement of a $5 million reward for information leading to the safe return of retired Special Agent [redacted] location of [redacted] who was wanted in connection with several murders in Charleston, South Carolina; announcement of a $3 million reward for cyber criminal [redacted] and requesting information regarding John Doe 29, an unknown male suspected of crimes against children. b6 b7C

- Sexstortion – IPPAU, with help from NPO and FIOU, coordinated a nationwide media campaign on sexstortion in conjunction with Glamour Magazine and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children. The campaign was geared towards locating the remaining 350 unidentified victims of Lucas Michael Chansler. All 56 field offices participated in the campaign, which resulted in over 400 articles. To date, the campaign successfully identified five victims of Chansler and 21 victims of other sexstortioners.
- Fugitive television – IPPAU provided liaison, guidance and identification of cases for John Walsh's show "The Hunt." In addition, OPA was instrumental in supporting development of #Captured, a show which will air on A&E Network and will feature FBI fugitives.

Popular Media – As of the 3rd quarter, IPPAU provided assistance in response to 490 requests from producers, writers, authors, and researchers. IPPAU referred more than 300 closed FBI cases to television shows, with 36 profiled as of the end of the third quarter. In order to enhance accurate depictions of the FBI in popular media, OPA hosted information workshops for the West Coast Writers Guild, 100 crime writers attending "Thrillerfest" in New York and 100 screenwriters in Los Angeles. IPPAU is also working closely with major television producers such as Dick Wolf, Gary [redacted] to develop prime time programs featuring the FBI. b6 b7C

Radio and Podcasts - [redacted] produced 55 editions of the FBI, This Week radio show, 20 Wanted By the FBI podcasts, 5 Inside the FBI podcasts, and 18 additional vodcasts and PSAs, many in support of the initiatives mentioned above.

Effective Use of Technology to Enhance Communications

- BUNET – ECU designed and managed the transition of the FBI intranet to the new BUNET, which launched in August with improved navigation, standardization and consistency. In preparation ECU worked with every division to update their content and use the new template effectively. ECU worked to bring divisions who were not part of the original intranet SharePoint community, into the new BUNET, and created new websites for the Director and Deputy Director. ECU trained 350 division content managers in 20 training sessions, and created a community of practice for content managers. ECU worked with legal, records management, and web services experts to create the governance plan and style guide, and ensured access requirements for the disabled were met. The BUNET launch was the culmination of three years of hard work.
- FBI.GOV – To keep the FBI.GOV dynamic, FIOU completed 9,882 updates; researched, wrote and published 94 original print stories, 46 videos stories and 153 blogs. As a result, the website had 85.3 million visits, with 27.7 million outside websites linked back to it, and 4,485 U.S. and international media stories citing FBI.GOV as a source. In addition to the DSAC and CVE projects mentioned above, FIOU built new web capabilities to improve business processes, transparency and security.
- e-FOIA - FIOU built for the Records Management Division, a public facing website to allow the public to request materials through the Freedom of Information Act electronically. The eFOIA system will improve efficiency and transparency, while meeting the public's expectations to conduct business with the Government online. The project involved developing new architecture and cross domain solutions.

- Tips.fbi.gov – FIOU continues to work with the Counterterrorism Division to modernize the Tips on FBI.GOV, and worked with Resource Planning Office's business process team to develop eComplaints, a plan to centralize intake of all tips, including those received through the website.
- Regional Computer Forensic Laboratories (RCFL). – FIOU moved RCFL sites into the more secure FBI.GOV environment, improving security and reducing costs.
- Social Media – FIOU launched a new official presence on Flickr, expanding the FBI's social media presence to this growing photo-sharing site, while ensure appropriate security, record keeping and privacy protections. FIOU and NPO also enhanced the use of Twitter, increasing the number of tweets in support of fugitive publicity and partnerships, and increasing the number of followers this FY by 27% to 1.27 million.

Internal Communications - ECU sent out more than 40 executive messages, published more than 100 articles on the intranet, and published the Investigator magazine and weekly Employee E-Brief. ECU also provided communication advising to elevate the quality of internal communications in fifteen divisions and offices, including the Weapons of Mass Destruction Directorate, Criminal Investigative Division, Cyber Division, Finance and Facilities Divisions, the Intelligence Branch, and the Washington Field Office.

- OPM Breach - In response to the OPM cyber breach, ECU created a website on day one of the announcement to keep FBI employees abreast of information and communications from DOJ, OPM, and FBI leadership. ECU coordinated with DOJ, OPM, Cyber Division, and Society of Former Agents, and was highly proactive in pushing out timely and valuable information to FBI employees.
- HQ Consolidation - ECU handled communications on the Headquarters Consolidation Project, including a website with FAQs and other information, as well as working with key news organizations covering the issue.
- ideaSTORM - ECU applied lessons from "FBI Save" to review ideation tools that could be used by the Bureau, advised on implementation, and ultimately developed the ideaSTORM branding and marketing.

Tours and Exhibits – ESECU hosted approximately 8,000 visitors to the FBI Education Center (these are just OPA visitors, not total visitors), and coordinated 260 shooting range demonstrations. In addition, OPA worked closely with the Newseum to double the size of their current FBI exhibit. The current exhibit has had 4 million visitors and the new expanded exhibit, which debuts next month, is expected to have even wider appeal.

Events – OPA organized several highly successful events. ESECU organized FBI Family Day, with an estimated 4,200 visitors. In addition to organizing the overall event, [redacted] and NPO developed a popular interactive booth with a miniature television studio where more than 200 people, mainly children of employees, played TV reporter. CRU organized a flawless Director's Community Leadership Award Ceremony. ESECU also coordinated 33 Citizens Academy visits to FBI Headquarters, and 56 Director/Deputy Director courtesy visits.

History – FBI Historian John Fox wrote 41 research papers and handled nearly 500 research requests in FY15. To mark the 20th anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing, ESECU produced an exhibit at FBIHQ and organized an event featuring a retired agent who worked on the case. FIOU conducted and produced numerous video interviews of bombing survivors and FBI investigators for a multi-media feature on FBI.GOV.

Building a Foundation for Future Success

- Organization, Process and Policy – AD Kortan reorganized OPA to create a more balanced span of control between the sections and allow for strategic changes and growth in the Community Outreach Program. Within OPA, the National Press Office was reorganized and new standard operating procedures developed to better empower specialists to handle issues quickly. A new program policy guide for media relations was completed (thanks [redacted])

- Training – CRU provided in-service training in two regional sessions for all field office community outreach coordinators. In addition, OPA provided media training for several SACs, including on-camera training.
- Resources – OPA competed and awarded a contract for seven contractors to backfill some of the positions lost in the sequestration cuts and to staff the growing public tour. The contractors will be working in FIOU, IPPAU, ECU, ESECU and the front office. The contractors started to arrive this week.
- New Personnel – We brought onboard exceptional new employees: [redacted] (FIOU), [redacted] (NPO); [redacted] (NPO), [redacted] (CRU), [redacted] (Front Office).

Thank you [redacted] nice job updating everything!

From this draft, just a few follow up questions and thoughts.

Also....who else needs to review? Is it feasible that we could send out the PAG Wednesday or Thursday? Am thinking that might give us time, before the site is up, to add any Q & As the Media Reps and COSs might have that we're not thinking of....

Thank you again for the conversation! You're doing such a nice job with everything here.

As mentioned, to beef up the PAG a little, I included some new ideas, pending your and [redacted] thoughts.

Also, if you have a timeline for what/when various elements are being pushed online and from HQ to the field, that would be great.

PAG is re-formatted....and please forgive me, but I added some clarification questions, plus see what you think about some of the word changes, which is proposed for the way press response language sometimes flows.

Re Talking Points top section: We need these 'quick hit' bullet points, if you could review. If a Media Rep or SAC is preparing for a quick interview, what are the top three points that are the most important to use for the interview, that you want the public to know? i.e. 1) this website exists 2) here are highlights of what you'll learn 3) it's easy to use.

Are we missing any Q & As?

Hi [redacted]

I heard (either through you or a little bird) you're putting together the Press Release for the CVE Portal once it's launched in November. We were hoping you could incorporate the following sentence (or something similar) for us.

"Special thanks to the students and faculty of [redacted] in Woodbridge, VA for their critical feedback provided during the development of the CVE Web Portal."

The students and faculty provided assistance to us during multiple occasions and we think it would help add some credibility to the portal as people become aware of it and consider using it.

Thank you,

Good Morning [Redacted]

The Office of Partner Engagement (OPE) Countering Violent Extremism Office (CVEO) with input from the Office of Public Affairs (OPA) drafted the attached which paper for Director Comey's review. The intent of the document is to summarize the actions taken by OPE and the OPA during the development and review of the Don't Be a Puppet: Pull Back the Curtain on Violent Extremism website. At the request of AD Sleeper, this document was drafted and provided to you and AD Sleeper for review. I believe it is AD Sleeper's intent to coordinate with you to jointly provided this document to Director Comey this week with the ultimate goal of scheduling a demonstration of the website for him.

I apologize for this final update. The funding amounts identified on the first page were not the most up to date. I'm sending out this final updated version to ensure Director Comey has an accurate understanding of the funding our agency put forward to develop this website.

Good Morning [Redacted]

The Office of Partner Engagement (OPE) Countering Violent Extremism Office (CVEO) with input from the Office of Public Affairs (OPA) drafted the attached which paper for Director Comey's review. The intent of the document is to summarize the actions taken by OPE and the OPA during the development and review of the Don't Be a Puppet: Pull Back the Curtain on Violent Extremism website. At the request of AD Sleeper, this document was drafted and provided to you and AD Sleeper for review. I believe it is AD Sleeper's intent to coordinate with you to jointly provided this document to Director Comey this week with the ultimate goal of scheduling a demonstration of the website for him.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

[Redacted] here is my update to pass along to the COSs.

Hi All. I have an update on the "Don't Be a Puppet: Pull Back the Curtain on Violent Extremism" website I discussed in our recent Lync call. We had a great meeting with the Director today and he is very supportive of the website. We are delayed a couple of weeks in order to conduct some inter-agency briefings, but anticipate we will launch the site around the week of 11/16.

We did get some unfortunate press in the New York Times and Washington Post as a result of criticisms by several groups: the Muslim Public Affairs Council, the Arab-American Anti-Discrimination Committee, Sikh Coalition, and KARAMAH Muslim Women Lawyers for Justice. Please know that their characterizations of the website were very inaccurate and the reporters themselves had not seen the website. The response of these groups is not representative of the feedback we have received overall. We did focus groups with nearly 50 groups and 200 individuals and their response was almost universally positive.

We'll get some FAQs out to the field prior to the website's launch and are very confident that the site speaks for itself. We should avoid encouraging additional press coverage until folks can actually see the site.

AD Sleeper has extended the opportunity to [redacted] for DOJ to have another go over of the web portal in advance of a planned IA review. We also briefed the Director today and got the green light to move forward when ready. In sum he had no concerns. We advised we are going to preview it with the IA first. We are sending out an IA invite to preview the portal on this Tuesday from noon to 1. Lastly [redacted] has for review the web portal fact sheet we discussed this morning at the IPC. I have asked him to work it through with you by COB Monday. We intend to share it with the IA in order to demonstrate the thoroughness of the review process.

Hi [redacted]

PAG is re-formatted....and please forgive me, but I added some clarification questions, plus see what you think about some of the word changes, which is proposed for the way press response language sometimes flows.

Re Talking Points top section: We need these 'quick hit' bullet points, if you could review. If a Media Rep or SAC is preparing for a quick interview, what are the top three points that are the most important to use for the interview, that you want the public to know? i.e. 1) this website exists 2) here are highlights of what you'll learn 3) it's easy to use.

Are we missing any Q & As?

I heard (either through you or a little bird) you're putting together the Press Release for the CVE Portal once it's launched in November. We were hoping you could incorporate the following sentence (or something similar) for us.

"Special thanks to the students and faculty of [redacted] in Woodbridge, VA for their critical feedback provided during the development of the CVE Web Portal."

The students and faculty provided assistance to us during multiple occasions and we think it would help add some credibility to the portal as people become aware of it and consider using it.

Hi [redacted]

Thank you again for the conversation! You're doing such a nice job with everything here.

b6
b7c

As mentioned, to beef up the PAG a little, I included some new ideas, pending your and [redacted] thoughts.

Also, if you have a timeline for what/when various elements are being pushed online and from HQ to the field, that would be great.

Hi [redacted]

Thanks for sending over the draft. [redacted] and I will go through it at our conference in Richmond on Tuesday and get back to you ASAP with a response. I'll try to get you my input by COB today so you at least have something.

Thanks.

Hi [redacted] and [redacted]

PAG is re-formatted....and please forgive me, but I added some clarification questions, plus see what you think about some of the word changes, which is proposed for the way press response language sometimes flows.

Re Talking Points top section: We need these 'quick hit' bullet points, if you could review. If a Media Rep or SAC is preparing for a quick interview, what are the top three points that are the most important to use for the interview, that you want the public to know? i.e. 1) this website exists 2) here are highlights of what you'll learn 3) it's easy to use.

Are we missing any Q & As?

Hi [Redacted]

I heard (either through you or a little bird) you're putting together the Press Release for the CVE Portal once it's launched in November. We were hoping you could incorporate the following sentence (or something similar) for us. b6 b7C

"Special thanks to the students and faculty of [Redacted] in Woodbridge, VA for their critical feedback provided during the development of the CVE Web Portal."

The students and faculty provided assistance to us during multiple occasions and we think it would help add some credibility to the portal as people become aware of it and consider using it.

Thank you.

Subject: Portal Definition of CVE

[redacted]

As discussed with each of you, the current CVE portal defines violent extremism as follows: "encouraging, condoning, justifying, or supporting the commission of a violent or criminal act to achieve political, ideological, religious, social, or economic goals." This was taken directly from the FBI's lexicon guide, but regrettably that guide contains an error. The phrase "or criminal" from the above definition permits this definition to sweep so broadly as to include a person committing voter fraud in furtherance of his political ideology. Surely, that would not constitute "violent extremism." As such, I believe this needs to be revised. At the same time, it's my understanding there is a new Tiger Team definition. I'm looping both of you up here to encourage a discussion among you as to which is the better term to use. Also copying [redacted] as well.

Also, with respect to the portal, note there is a typo in the title for that first slide where it says, "What is Violent Extremeism." It should be spelled "extremism." It appears to be accurate in all other places.

Thank you so much for your help this morning. The ADIC, Diego Rodriguez, and SAC Greg Ehrie (who happened to be down at HQ involved in some of the initial stages of developing this project) addressed our Muslim Leaders' Council, after which I walked them through the "Don't be a Puppet" program.

They're eager to go out and dispel the rumors and promote it within their own communities. They also hope that perhaps a version for even younger individuals might be developed. One member, and African Muslim, informed us that there's a "Peace in Schools" bill in New York State right now that includes a similar, but not as well done program re: CVE. He's hoping that the local politicians at some point could see the FBI's presentation and also suggested that we bring in groups of teachers and community leaders to introduce the program to them prior to its release to the public.

It was the general consensus that they would like to see the FBI in front of the issue that popped up in the news about it. That they don't want to see it held up because of self-proclaimed activists who are providing incorrect information to the media. One of our members who is very active in his community, went so far as to say that if we changed the one slide, he would reach out to his many media contacts and start talking up the program immediately.

I hope you find this feedback useful. Thank you again for your help.

Thank you so much for your help this morning. The ADIC, Diego Rodriguez, and SAC Greg Ehrie (who happened to be down at HQ involved in some of the initial stages of developing this project) addressed our Muslim Leaders' Council, after which I walked them through the "Don't be a Puppet" program.

To say that it was well-received would be an understatement. They all felt that it was exactly the kind of thing they wanted to see in the public and private (including Islamic) schools. The only suggestion that they had, was that on the

They're eager to go out and dispel the rumors and promote it within their own communities. They also hope that perhaps a version for even younger individuals might be developed. One member, an African Muslim, informed us that there's a "Peace in Schools" bill in New York State right now that includes a similar, but not as well done program re: CVE. He's hoping that the local politicians at some point could see the FBI's presentation and also suggested that we bring in groups of teachers and community leaders to introduce the program to them prior to its release to the public.

It was the general consensus that they would like to see the FBI in front of the issue that popped up in the news about it. That they don't want to see it held up because of self-proclaimed activists who are providing incorrect information to the media. One of our members who is very active in his community, went so far as to say that if we changed the one slide, he would reach out to his many media contacts and start talking up the program immediately.

I hope you find this feedback useful. Thank you again for your help.

Thank you so much for this great feedback. Following up on my voicemail, we have a few questions.

First, would it be possible to get a list of those invited to the meeting today? The CVE office is keeping a tally of how many people, representing what groups, have provided feedback on the site. This will help us persuade some at DOJ who are hesitant to support the program.

Second, the CVE office would like to know if they can send some or all of your email below to DOJ. Would your ADIC be ok with this?

Third, what was the change the group would like to see? You mentioned one slide was problematic.

Thanks again,

The new definition is of "CVE" the older definition is of "violent extremism". We just put the change request (for the new definition) and it was fixed overnight. Do you need an updated slide deck?

All,

We updated the website last night with a new definition of CVE. I just updated the slides from yesterday to reflect this change. To access the power point, please click the link in the attached e-mail.

[redacted] in response to your question about laptop/thumb-drive, etc., we discussed two options yesterday:

- 1) laptop with internet access ~ demo live website
- 2) laptop without internet access ~ run updated slide show

b6
b7c

Since the laptop your team has does not have internet access, I thought we had decided to use the slide deck. I did provide the username, password and URL just in case you were able to get the WIFI capabilities turned on. Unfortunately, OPA does not have spare laptops or air cards to issue.

Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance,

Thank you so much for this great feedback. Following up on my voicemail, we have a few questions.

First, would it be possible to get a list of those invited to the meeting today? The CVE office is keeping a tally of how many people, representing what groups, have provided feedback on the site. This will help us persuade some at DOJ who are hesitant to support the program.

Second, the CVE office would like to know if they can send some or all of your email below to DOJ. Would your ADIC be ok with this?

Third, what was the change the group would like to see? You mentioned one slide was problematic.

Thanks again,

TRANSITORY RECORD

Thank you so much for your help this morning. The ADIC, Diego Rodriguez, and SAC Greg Ehrie (who happened to be down at HQ involved in some of the initial stages of developing this project) addressed our Muslim Leaders' Council, after which I walked them through the "Don't be a Puppet" program.

To say that it was well-received would be an understatement. They all felt that it was exactly the kind of thing they wanted to see in the public and private (including Islamic) schools. The only suggestion that they had, was that on the

They're eager to go out and dispel the rumors and promote it within their own communities. They also hope that perhaps a version for even younger individuals might be developed. One member, and African Muslim, informed us that there's a "Peace in Schools" bill in New York State right now that includes a similar, but not as well done program re: CVE. He's hoping that the local politicians at some point could see the FBI's presentation and also suggested that we bring in groups of teachers and community leaders to introduce the program to them prior to its release to the public.

It was the general consensus that they would like to see the FBI in front of the issue that popped up in the news about it. That they don't want to see it held up because of self-proclaimed activists who are providing incorrect information to the media. One of our members who is very active in his community, went so far as to say that if we changed the one slide, he would reach out to his many media contacts and start talking up the program immediately.

I hope you find this feedback useful. Thank you again for your help.

ACTION OFFICE: OPE

The above division, designated as the action office, is assigned the attached for preparation of a response over the signature of Assistant Attorney General, Peter J. Kadzik, for the Office of Legislative Affairs (OLA)/DOJ) and approval by OLA/DOJ by the due date indicated below. The original will be forwarded to your division's point of contact. An information only copy is also being sent to OCA, Deputy Director, Associate Deputy Director, Chief of Staff, Deputy Chief of Staff, Special Counsel to the Director, EAD/NSB, EAD/IB, EAD/CCRS, EAD/HRB, OGC, TD, OPA, IOD, CID, TSC, DI, RPO, INSD, OIC, and CIRG.

IMPORTANT NOTE: If you represent an FBI Field Division and are receiving this e-mail, you are being provided a copy of correspondence which has come to the attention of the Director, or other FBI executive. You are not being tasked with any action in this regard by the FBI's Office of the Executive Secretariat. You are being provided a courtesy copy only.

Please be advised that DOJ has requested that FBI ExecSec provide contact information of the FBI person who authors the response to the attached Trim document. Therefore, the Division assigned to this Trim document must submit the name and contact information of the FBI staffer who authors the response. This information should be submitted when the final package is sent to FBI ExecSec for processing. FBI ExecSec will provide this information to DOJ when the package is forwarded to DOJ for signature. Please be advised that upon receipt of the package, DOJ personnel may reach out to the FBI contact if questions arise regarding the content of the response.

If this matter needs to be reassigned to another entity, the FBI ExecSec should be advised immediately (within 2 days of e-mail receipt). The ExecSec will need to know to whom the request should be reassigned, together with a point of contact (if known), and the original correspondence will need to be returned to ExecSec, Room 6147.

CHANGE EFFECTIVE 7/23/2012: At the request of OLA, all response documents must be created in Microsoft Word and must be prepared on OLA's letterhead supplied to the FBI by DOJ. See link below for this template.

ACTION OFFICE INSTRUCTIONS:

A. Preparation of Response:

1. Prepare the following:

-One response-undated on AAG/OLA letterhead, for the signature of the AAG/OLA, prepared on OLA's letterhead template

https://intranet.fbinet.fbi/DO/exec_sec/templates/OLALtterhead.000.docx

To use this template, you must save it as a new document in your personal directory.

-A DOJ envelope or mailing label,
-A blocked yellow undated file copy, attaching the DOJ ExecSec control sheet and original incoming correspondence to the yellow file copy, and a copy of the incoming to each designated "courtesy copy" (cc), as appropriate. The yellow copy mail room block must be checked and initialed, and the TRIM number noted on the yellow (can be handwritten).

2. At a minimum, the copy count must include the following copy designations:

Trim XX/DO/XXXX

1 - OLA, DOJ, Room 1338 - Encs.

1 - (Your confirmation white copy, if desired)

B. Routing of the Final Response Package:

1. Route your final response package to the FBI ExecSec, Room 6147, who will ensure that the package is delivered to the Office of Congressional Affairs (OCA), Room 7240, for review/approval and to the OLA/DOJ for signature. The FBI ExecSec will ensure that the final response is delivered to the DOJ Executive Secretariat. The FBI requires that all Congressional responses be cleared through the OCA and DOJ policy requires that all Congressional responses be cleared through the OLA/DOJ.

2. You are required to forward an electronic copy of the response document via e-mail to the FBI ExecSec. DOJ has requested that this electronic response document be forwarded with the FBI's response documents.

One Hundred Fourteenth Congress
U.S. House of Representatives
Committee on Homeland Security
Washington, DC 20515

November 5, 2015

The Honorable Loretta E. Lynch
Attorney General of the United States
U.S. Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530-0001

Dear Attorney General Lynch:

Earlier this year, the White House held a three-day summit on Countering Violent Extremism. According to the White House, the summit was an opportunity to discuss concrete steps the United States and its partners can take to develop community-oriented approaches to counter hateful extremist ideologies that radicalize, recruit, or incite violence. The White House made the decision to not invite the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) because the Administration's approach to counter violent extremists is a "bottom-up approach" that is "premised on the notion that local officials and communities can be an effective bulwark against violent extremism."¹

Moreover, in March 2015, the 9/11 Review Commission, in its report to the Director of the FBI, found the FBI's CVE Office's "fundamental law enforcement and intelligence responsibilities do not make it an appropriate vehicle for the social and prevention role in the CVE mission."² The Commission recommended that the primary social and prevention responsibility of the FBI's CVE mission be transferred to the Department of Homeland Security or other agencies that are more directly involved with community interaction.³

² The FBI: Protecting the Homeland in the 21st Century, Bruce Hoffman, Edwin Meese, III, and Timothy Roemer, March 25, 2015.

It is troubling to see the FBI is turning a deaf ear to both the White House and the 9/11 Review Commission and not only remains in the CVE space but is pursuing programs to expand its reach into America's classrooms. This week, I learned that the FBI "is developing a Website designed to provide awareness about the dangers of violent extremist predators on the Internet, with input from students, educators and community leaders."⁴ Reportedly, this website, called "Don't Be A Puppet" is meant to be used by teachers and students to help the FBI prevent the violent extremism of youth.⁵ According to the Washington Post, teachers and students in multiple Northern Virginia school districts were invited to preview the website. The Post also reported that the FBI would reach out to schools to see if they were interested in using the site within classrooms.⁶ Reports indicate that the FBI is aiming for the site to be used in civics, social studies, and government classes.⁷

According to the U.S. Department of Education, a common refrain from educators is that they want to work with parents and students from diverse backgrounds and cultures, and to develop a shared responsibility for children's outcomes between home and school. As a former educator, I understand a teacher may be the only person that some students can trust. Also, while a teacher may be best-positioned to notice changes in a student's behavior, it is hard to see how having that teacher participate in a Federal law enforcement program would not chill relationships with students or, for that matter, undermine a supportive learning environment. Put simply, turning teachers into intelligence gathers and investigators has questionable value as a strategy for countering terrorism or violent extremism and may actually interfere with students involved in a range of risky behavior or in crisis turning away from that one person, a teacher, who might be able to make a difference.

Though I understand that plans for the website have been temporarily suspended, it is critical that you, as the leader of the Department of Justice, give personal attention to not only this program but also to the entirety FBI's CVE activities. Knowing your commitment to the Administration's countering violent extremism efforts, it is critical that you do oversight of the FBI's CVE activities, particularly with respect to the "Don't Be A Puppet" website. The FBI is responsible to you for its operations. As such, in an effort to increase transparency and gain a clearer understanding of the legal, civil liberties, privacy, and operational implications of the FBI's CVE activities, please review the FBI's CVE activities and provide the following information by November 18, 2015:

1. A timeline, from conception to implementation of the "Don't Be A Puppet" website.
2. Copies of any Privacy Impact Assessments prepared by DOJ's Chief Privacy and Civil Liberties Officer on any of the FBI's CVE programs.

3. Information on the national educational organizations, education leaders, childhood development specialists, and psychologists, if any, who were consulted with respect to the development of the website.
4. The names and titles of the officials from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, if any, who were consulted with respect to the development of the website.
5. Information on any contractors involved in the development of the website, together with information on the scope of work that each contractor performed.
6. Information on any scientific validation studies conducted prior to November 1, 2015 on the anticipated efficacy of the website.

Additionally, please provide answers to the following questions:

1. Was the U.S. Department of Education involved in the creation of this website? If so, please provide the names and titles of individuals who gave the FBI advice and counsel on the implementation of this website. Also, please specify the nature of the involvement of such individuals.
2. Did DOJ's Chief Privacy and Civil Liberties Officer conduct a Privacy Impact Assessment on the use of the website "Don't Be A Puppet" or any other website aiming to dissuade youth from participating in violent extremist activity? If so, please provide a copy.
3. According to reports, the FBI conducted focus groups to preview the website. Please provide information on the dates, locations, and durations of each preview as well as corresponding information on the individuals or groups that participated in each preview. Also, please answer the following questions:
 - A) How did the FBI determine which groups and individuals to invite to the previews?
 - B) What groups and individuals declined to attend the previews?
How did the FBI collect feedback from participants and what, if any, feedback was recorded?
4. Does the FBI use the Violent Extremist Risk Assessment instruments (VERA or VERA-2)? Under what circumstances does the FBI employ the VERA or VERA-2 factors? Has the FBI done any research (or contracted for research with outside entities) to evaluate the effectiveness of these instruments in the circumstances in which the FBI uses them? Were these tools used to inform or create any portions of the website?
5. It has been reported that the FBI contacted schools to see if they were interested in using the program and was aiming for it to be used in civics, social studies and government classes.

- a. If so, please provide the names and locations of each school that the FBI targeted for participation.
 - b. Also, please provide information on the schools that have agreed to participate and the number of teachers at each school that would participate.
 - c. Approximately how many students at participating schools are expected to use the site when it is introduced?
 - d. For participating schools, does the FBI envision teacher participation to be discretionary or would teachers at these schools be obligated to attend training and participate in the program?
 - e. Please provide the materials which were provided to schools who have confirmed participation or interest in the website.
 - f. It was also reported that the FBI has already showed the site to some teachers and students in Northern Virginia to get feedback. Please identify each school, including its location, where the website was viewed and any feedback that was recorded by the FBI.
6. Did the Domestic Terrorism Executive Committee have the opportunity to preview the website? If so, please provide the dates the DTEC previewed the website.
 7. Did the Assistant Attorney General for National Security preview this website? If so, please provide the dates the Assistant Attorney General previewed the website.
 8. Did the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights at the U.S. Department of Education have the opportunity to preview the website? If so, please provide the dates the Assistant Secretary previewed the website.
 9. It has been reported that at a community meeting in October, groups were provided limited detail of the FBI's plan for "Shared Responsibility Committees". One task of the committee would be to identify youth that are prone to violent extremism.
 - A. Please provide the Chief Officer for Privacy and Civil Liberties Impact Assessment on the "Shared Responsibility Committees."
 - B. Has the Assistant Attorney General for National Security been involved in the creation or implementation of "Shared Responsibility Committees?"
 - C. Please provide the names of the child psychologists and behavior therapists that provided input to the FBI for the "Shared Responsibility Committee."

Thank you for your attention to this matter. If you have any questions about this request, please contact Hope Goins, Chief Counsel for Oversight at (202) 226-2616.

Thank you so much for your help this morning. The ADIC, Diego Rodriguez, and SAC Greg Ehrie (who happened to be down at HQ involved in some of the initial stages of developing this project) addressed our Muslim Leaders' Council, after which I walked them through the "Don't be a Puppet" program.

To say that it was well-received would be an understatement. They all felt that it was exactly the kind of thing they wanted to see in the public and private (including Islamic) schools. The only suggestion that they had, was that on the

[Redacted]

They're eager to go out and dispel the rumors and promote it within their own communities. They also hope that perhaps a version for even younger individuals might be developed. One member, and African Muslim, informed us that there's a "Peace in Schools" bill in New York State right now that includes a similar, but not as well done program re: CVE. He's hoping that the local politicians at some point could see the FBI's presentation and also suggested that we bring in groups of teachers and community leaders to introduce the program to them prior to its release to the public.

It was the general consensus that they would like to see the FBI in front of the issue that popped up in the news about it. That they don't want to see it held up because of self-proclaimed activists who are providing incorrect information to the media. One of our members who is very active in his community, went so far as to say that if we changed the one slide, he would reach out to his many media contacts and start talking up the program immediately.

I hope you find this feedback useful. Thank you again for your help.

Subject: Update re congressional briefings on new website

This week, we've had an aggressive schedule of outreach meetings re our website "Don't Be a Puppet: Pull Back the Curtain on Violent Extremism." These meetings have included Muslim leaders and inter-agency partners.

In talking with [redacted] from the CVE Section and with AD Kortan, we now feel comfortable providing a briefing/demo of the site to respond to congressional inquiries. We can discuss the best strategy for doing this.

Just a couple scheduling considerations - Most of the teams working on this will be doing other briefings the later part of next week, so any congressional briefings should be early next week or the following week (or later). Second, when scheduling demos of the website, more time is preferable to less. There is a lot of content to go through and once people start asking questions it can be challenging to cover everything. Too short of a discussion can lead to misunderstandings, but we've been consistently able to turn skeptics into supporters in our longer discussions.

Just give me shout when you a have a few minutes to discuss the way forward.
