Thank you, Scott! I understand--the thought did cross my mind that that may have been the case!

Can you clue me in on who I have approached to meet with that maybe isn't necessary? That would make my life easier. I approached McCullough for support of the bill as my representative. I haven't approached them as sponsors but knowing they will eventually vote on the bill, I wanted to garner their support for a "yes" on the bill.

I also approached Dahm for support of the bill as my senator. Turns out though that the legislative website directed me to the wrong senator. After we figured that out he still wanted to be involved in the legislation, if possible. I understand he may not be a good choice for that. We have the same issues in Oregon, trust me!

When do you have time to meet up and talk? I think it would be very helpful for me. Would like to meet with both you and Griffin, if possible. Would you be available when I meet with DA Trent Baggette on Tuesday the 26th at 1:00pm in Oklahoma City?

I am very open to direction on this legislation. In Oregon I have a mentor in Steve Doell of Crime Victims United. He has been such a source of instruction and help. As a survivor of rape, my life goal had never been to get involved in the legislature! So please know, any help and instruction is very welcome.

I was on a family vacation last week.

Myself and Senator griffin are still planning on running the bill at this time, and we have been emailing the Joyful Heart people about the bill.

I know you are trying to talk to a lot of people, and I comend your passion for the issue, however there are some groups and individuals who we do not need to have involved in this issue if you want it to pass smoothly.

I would encourage some caution and due diligence in getting additional sponsors for the bill. The Oklahoma political world is completely different from Oregon, and we have a lot of dynamics internally both in the house and senate with the new leadership take over.

I know Senator Griffin and I can get a bill passed.

Representative Biggs,

I wanted to touch base with you now that I am here in Tulsa. I've left a couple of voicemails on your cell phone, but haven't heard back. It has me a little concerned. I just wanted to make sure you haven't changed your mind on the legislation.

I am headed to Oklahoma City tomorrow and will return on Wednesday. I meet with Representative McCullough and his replacement, Lawson, to discuss the legislation. Talking with Senator Dahm's office he is interested in carrying the bill on the senate side.

Please confirm that we are still on the same page and moving forward. Sorry to seem a little concerned in not hearing back from my voicemails and email.

Look forward to hearing back and working together on this important legislation.

Best,

Danielle Tudor
