FYI, POTUS has been tweeting out a few things this morning that might make their way into questions you receive later today. Specific tweets imply that NSA and FBI are interfering in US politics and that we are leaking information to the media. His tweets from this morning are at the end of this note.

This has been picked up in a number of media. I have included a CBS news report below as well for your SA.

We have received one query on the tweets and we are not going to respond to it or any other query.

Trump slams intel community for report on Russia connections

President Trump launched a Twitter offensive against the U.S. intelligence community, following a report <<http://www.cbsnews.com/news/trump-campaign-team-repeated-contact-with-russian-intelligence-michael-flynn/>> released Tuesday night that some campaign officials had repeated contact with Russian intelligence officers before the 2016 presidential election.

Early Wednesday morning, the president pilloried the New York Times report, which cited intelligence sources, as "non-sense" and a "cover-up" for Hillary Clinton's failed presidential campaign:

The fake news media is going crazy with their conspiracy theories and blind hatred. @MSNBC <<https://twitter.com/MSNBC>> & @CNN <<https://twitter.com/CNN>> are unwatchable. @foxandfriends <<https://twitter.com/foxandfriends>> is great!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 15, 2017 <<https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/831830548565852160>>

This Russian connection non-sense is merely an attempt to cover-up the many mistakes made in Hillary Clinton's losing campaign.

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 15, 2017 <<https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/831837514226921472>>

Mr. Trump also accused members of the intelligence community of "illegally" handing over information to the news media, parenthetically questioning "(NSA and FBI?)." He charged that the information was "classified" and seemed to call into question the "intelligence" of the agencies involved with the leaks.

The real scandal here is that classified information is illegally given out by "intelligence" like candy. Very un-American!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 15, 2017 <https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/831853862281699331>

The tweets follow a scandal-filled few days for the Trump administration.

On Monday night, the president's national security adviser Michael Flynn resigned <http://www.cbsnews.com/news/michael-flynn-resigns-as-national-security-adviser/> from the position, after Flynn came under fire for talking with the Russian ambassador about sanctions. Flynn said he provided Vice President Mike Pence with "incomplete information" over his phone calls. Mr. Trump named retired Lt. General Joseph Kellogg as his replacement shortly after.

Mr. Trump also weighed in on Crimea Wednesday, saying the territory was "TAKEN" by Russia from Ukraine during former President Obama's time in office. He asked whether his White House predecessor was "too soft" on Moscow, even after his own administration has already lifted some sanctions on the foreign power <http://www.cbsnews.com/news/trump-administration-relaxes-u-s-sanctions-on-russia-imposed-under-obama/> .

Crimea was TAKEN by Russia during the Obama Administration. Was Obama too soft on Russia?

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 15, 2017 <https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/831846101179314177>

But the president's current views on Crimea are a far cry from what he said during his presidential campaign.

In an interview with ABC News in July of last year <http://www.cbsnews.com/news/donald-trump-russia-vladimir-putin-crimea-nato/> , then-candidate Trump said this of the disputed region: "You know, the people of Crimea, from what I've heard, would rather be with Russia than where they were. And you have to look at that, also."
