German Undersea War Boat On Mysterious Mission

Leaves Letter For Count von Bernstorff and Departs

By WINFIELD M. THOMPSON
NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 7.—A German submarine, not the diving merchantman long expected on this coast, but a war vessel, of the type that sunk the Lusitania, made this port this afternoon, sent ashore a letter for Count von Bernstorff, and after remaining at anchor two hours and 17 minutes, put to sea.

The vessel was the U-53, one of the largest and latest of German undersea fighters.

TUFTS BEATS HARVARD

Football Victory Over Crimson, 7-3, After Wait of 41 Years

By MELVILLE E. WEBB, JR.
Last October, when the Harvard football team was beaten by Cornell and thus spoiled its long record of gridiron victories against all comers, the Crimson coaches figured that the boys had had an off day, and that because of Penrock's absence from the rushline and Mahan's inability to hold on to the ball the Ithacans were able to put one over. Later results against Princeton and Yale strengthened this theory.

Yesterday, however, offered even no silent alibi for Harvard, for if ever one eleven was roundly outplayed by another and shown to be deserving of the losing end of the score it was Harvard in its long-looked-for game with Tufts.

MAGAZINE SECTION
Under the title "The Hyphen in Politics," James Morgan discusses in the Sunday Globe Magazine Section a topic that is very pertinent just at this time. It is full of ideas and well worth reading. Another very timely article is contributed in the form of an interview with Congressman Rainey of Illinois on the subject of bread prices. Sax Rohmer has another thriller in his series of stories under the general title "Fu-Manchu and Company." Hans and Fritz are back from the Cannibal Islands, but are finding plenty of excitement at home and the Globe's other fun-makers are right on the job this week.

the championship of the world between the leading clubs of the American and National Leagues.
The Champion Boston team played a remarkable all-round game, outpointing its Brooklyn rivals at every stage of the way. In the ninth was stage of the game, for Brooklyn rallied at the last ditch and the finish was one of the most sensational ever witnessed in a game for the championship.

"Scotty" Saves Day
With the bases full and Daubert, a grand good batsman, up, where a base hit would put his team in the lead, he hit a fast grounder well to the right of Scott, who made a superb running pickup and by a hard, perfect throw got the ball to Hoblitzel a shade before Daubert, and the game was over. All things considered, the play by Scott was the sensational event of the contest.

The Red Sox clearly outplayed the
