ERRATA SHEET

February 21, 1995

Dear Journalist:

On February 3rd the Global Climate Coalition and Accu-Weather released a pre-publication draft of a report titled "Changing Weather? Facts and Fallacies about Climate Change." In preparing to finalize the report for publication we found an error in the reference to the study by Dr. David Keith at Harvard University. The text of the study has been revised to remove reference to Dr. Keith's work (publication of which is pending at the journal Nature) He has requested that until his entire study is published, it not be cited.

We have included two new pages, one that replaces page 37, and another that replaces the second page of references. Page 38 should be removed altogether. None of the conclusions in the Accu-Weather study were based on Dr. Keith's work, so the report's conclusions regarding extreme weather events remain unaffected.
