Dear Dr. Crow:

Ms. Victoria Gaines (Student) has filed a complaint with the Family Policy Compliance Office (Office) alleging that Arizona State University (University) violated rights afforded students by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). This Office, under authority of § 99.60 of the FERPA regulations, investigates complaints in accordance with the procedures outlined in § 99.65. See <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/node/548/>. The section states, in summary:

- The notification to the institution under this section shall include the substance of the alleged violation and shall ask the agency or institution to submit a written response to the complaint.

This letter serves to notify you of the allegation and to provide you the opportunity to submit a written response. We apologize for the delay in bringing this matter to your attention.

On July 10, 2018, this Office received a complaint from the Student alleging that the University violated § 99.30 of the FERPA regulations when it improperly disclosed information from her education records. Specifically, the Student alleges that in December, 2017, Ms. Micha Espinosa, associate professor, shared personally identifiable information from her education records including attendance records, medical records, job status, teaching schedule, and information about experience with trauma, with Ms. Catherine Fitzmaurice, founder of the Fitzmaurice Voice Institute, without consent. The Student states that Ms. Fitzmaurice has a close personal and professional relationship with Ms. Espinosa, but no formal relationship with the University.
