 - (1) Safe, effective, evidence-based strategies are available to support children who display challenging behaviors in school settings.
 - (2) The effective implementation of school-wide positive behavior supports is linked to greater academic achievement, significantly fewer disciplinary problems, increased instruction time, and staff perception of a safer teaching environment.
 - (3) The use of restraint or seclusion should be seen as an extraordinary event and should never be used as a:
 - (A) routine strategy implemented to address instructional problems or inappropriate behavior (e.g., disrespect, noncompliance, insubordination, out of seat);
 - (B) means of coercion or retaliation; or
 - (C) convenience.
 - (4) School personnel have the right to work in a safe environment and should be provided training and support to prevent injury and trauma to themselves and others.
 - (5) Staff training focused on the dangers of restraint and seclusion as well as training in evidence-based positive behavior supports, deescalation techniques, and restraint and seclusion prevention can reduce the incidence of injury, trauma, and death.
 - (6) School resource officers, as well as other law enforcement officers who provide services to schools, are important partners in the implementation of school safety.
 - (7) Schools should never request or encourage a school resource officer, or any other law enforcement officer who provides services to schools, to initiate the restraint or seclusion of a student.
 - (8) The collection of complete and accurate data related to the use of restraint or seclusion of a student is important to the state of Indiana in order to determine the areas where training and education may be needed.
