(b) (7)(E)
Future Planning Document

The Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS) United States Border Patrol (USBP) conducts daily border security operations in Federal public lands that fall under the oversight of the Department of Interior (DOI). These lands include, but are not limited to, National Parks, National Monuments, Wildlife Refuges, and National Recreational Areas that are located across the southern border. The sectors with border zones in these public lands routinely conduct joint operations with the respective DOI Law Enforcement Officers (LEOs) to prevent, detect, and resolve cross border traffic. These actions not only serve to protect the American people from terrorists and transnational criminal organizations, but also protect these Federal lands and the natural and cultural resources from damages caused by cross border traffic.

In response to the President’s order to eliminate illegal border crossings, assist the USBP increase levels of OPCON on federally managed lands along the southern border, and reduce cross border crime the DOI will be sending additional officers to increase their law enforcement presence in these Federal lands during high surge times. (b) (7)(E)

(b) (7) The areas that will receive these additional officers, at the request of USBP, will be the
