

KIDS SUMMER BOOK

BINGO

How to play: Please keep a record of the books you read, using each book just once. When you have a horizontal, vertical or diagonal line, or if you manage to fill the whole card, scan it or snap a photo, tell us which books you read (author and title) to complete your bingo and write a few sentences about your favorite books of the bunch, and email it to us at jtu@seattletimes.com by Wednesday, July 8. Please include your name and age. We may include your name, age, photo and comments in a future story. And you'll have a chance at winning a gift certificate to an independent local bookstore.

A story about a different time in history

Read it in a fort

A story about something that could never happen

An animal is the main character

Recommended by a friend

A fable or fairy tale

About social justice

A graphic novel or comic

About a detective

About something in a different country

About sports or an athlete

About a culture different from your own

A funny book

Read it outside

About two things that seem very silly together

A true story

Compiled by Kris Higginson | The Seattle Times

Illustrations from iStockphoto