The network is on it. This was overlooked and they are remedying it now.

Good day again,

This woman, [REDACTED] continues to call me almost every day now. She now found episode #133 still available on her cable "on-demand" package where the missing child scene is still up. Can someone on your end please contact her asap? I honestly do not know what else I can do to assist her [REDACTED]

Thank you in advance,
Ryan

Hello Captain Ryan - I apologize. This clip has now been removed from social media.

Best,
Cam.

Good morning Kara,

[REDACTED] (the mother of the special needs child) just called me. She informed me that the "Officer Jill tracks down a missing girl" clip is still posted on the Live PD on A&E Facebook page and Twitter feed. I confirmed this- posted on Nov 2nd for Twitter and Nov 3rd for FB. Can you please try to have someone remove these? She's still upset....I gave the daughter my last Live PD t-shirt and that seemed to work then.

Thanks,
Ryan

Good morning Kara,

I received a complaint from the foster parent in the "Missing Girl" packet recorded on August 9th. Essentially, [REDACTED] is upset because she is the guardian of the [REDACTED] run-away special needs girl who was shown last weekend. The conditions of her foster ship are that the parents cannot know where their daughter is being placed. Understandably, there are some privacy issues here. Additionally, [REDACTED] is being harassed on social media from people across the country claiming that she is a poor parent by letting her special needs child run out of the house unsupervised. Can we please make sure that any recording of this call is removed from any future re-runs, spin-off shows, and from online viewing please?

Thank you.
Ryan
