Team, late last night we found out the President of the United States and the First Lady have tested positive for COVID-19.

After nine months of downplaying the virus and blaming others for its spread, Donald Trump has contracted the virus he called a hoax.

I wouldn't wish this virus on anyone. I hope for a speedy recovery for the president and First Lady. But I also hope this is a wake up call that America needs a plan to get us out of this pandemic and recession, not more divisive and dangerous rhetoric.

Because we can't afford four more years of this. We need to do everything we can to elect Joe Biden and Kamala Harris, as well as a Congress who will fight to help our country recover from this crisis.

With just 32 days left until the election, our people first candidates are counting on our support. Together, we can elect leaders who will fight for housing opportunity, job opportunity, and quality health care that doesn't leave people to fend for themselves.

Pitch in what you can to support our get out the vote efforts these last few weeks.

The American people don't want more division, partisan rhetoric, and incompetent leadership. They want leaders who will trust in science, trust in public health, and trust in the American people to do the right thing.

We have an opportunity to chart a better course for our nation. I hope you'll join me in electing leaders who will help us get there.

Thank you,

Julián
